Government Urged To Buy Cranberries

Sen. Neuberger Moves To Head Off Producer Losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore) suggested Thursday that the government buy up untainted portions of the cranberry crop to prevent serious money losses to producers.

Neuberger's proposal announced through his Capitol office, varied somewhat from those which have been made by others for some kind of reimbursement to cranberry producers not at fault in the current situation.

Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming, who announced Monday that portions of the crop grown in Oregon and Washington have been found to be contaminated by a weed killer, was asked by reporters Thursday about industry assertions that the government should pay damages amounting to perhaps 100 million dollars.

Senator Having Bill Drafted

"As to any responsibility to indemnify the growers," Flemming said, "I have not looked into it and I do not want to get into that."

Neuberger said he is having legislation drafted to authorize federal purchase of untainted portions of the crop. He said no one can quarrel with the desirability of taking proper health precautions, but added that this will have the effect of penalizing the majority of growers "who handled the weed killer in the approved manner and whose fruit is not contaminated."

The weed killer, known as aminothiazole, is approved for use in cranberry bogs after the crop is harvested. If used while the fruit is on the bushes, it gets into the berries through the plant and cannot be removed by washing. It is approved for use with other crops corn among them, under similar conditions.

$15 Million Estimated Cost

In research tests, aminothiazole has been found to produce cancer in rats.

Neuberger estimated it would cost about 15 million dollars to buy up the cranberry crop at growers' prices.

Flemming, who has advised housewives not to buy cranberries, either fresh or canned, until the situation is cleared up, said Thursday there are no new develoments. Testing is under way to determine whether any more tainted berries have been distributed.

Herter Denounces Chinese Reds' Use Of Force In Dispute

Moves To Head Off India Repercussions After Neutral Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter denounced Red China Thursday as "wholly in the wrong" for using force in its border dispute with India.

While criticizing the Peiping regime on that score, he adopted a surprisingly neutral position toward the bitter quarrel which has inflamed Indian-Red Chinese relations.

Herter's initial comments at a news conference could have soured the reception President Eisenhower is likely to receive when he visits New Delhi Dec. 9 on his South Asia tour.

In reply to questions, Herter first said he could not take sides because he had no first-hand information on where India's northwest frontier with Red China should be. No Americans have ever been in that area, he said.

Further Explanation

Herter later rushed an additional written statement to newsmen. He sought to explain that he had been talking only about the legal claims made by each side. Then he put the United States squarely on India's side with these words:

"There is the further and more important point that whatever may be the merits of a dispute, force must not be used to settle it.

"The Chinese Communist regime has clearly used force and, in this respect, is wholly in the wrong."

Nine Indian policemen were killed in a clash with Red Chinese troops in the disputed area three weeks ago. Ten more Indians are missing. The clash has aroused demands in India for stern action to defend the border against Red China's claims.

Third News Conference

Herter made these other main points at a news conference, his third since taking office seven months ago:

1. He hopes for an East-West summit conference sometime between March 1 and mid - April.

2. He favors a temporary extension after Jan. 1 of the U.S. voluntary ban on atomic testing while negotiations toward an enforceable agreement with the Soviet Union continue in Geneva.

3. Violently anti-U.S. statements and incidents in Cuba and Panama have disturbed him, but he does not view them as a general anti-U.S. trend in Latin America, even though they must be watched carefully.

Nixon Hints He, 'Rocky' To Vie For Nomination

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon indicated Thursday night he thinks Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York will oppose him for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960.

At a news conference Nixon said he thought there would be two "serious contenders" for the GOP nomination, although he did not rule out the possibility of a dark horse.

The Vice President mentioned no names, but he added he felt anyone "who could be considered a serious candidate would be in the news at this point."

He pointed out, however, the case of Wendell Wilkie in 1940 as an example of a dark horse who did not enter the field until a short time before the convention. He said such a situation was even more likely in the age of television.

Nixon said the Democratic presidential sweepstakes are viewed by most observers as a "wide open wrestling match."

Nixon declined to announce his own Republican candidacy, adding, "I appreciate the fact that the people of New Hampshire (who announced the forming of a Nixon for President organization) and (Rep.) John Byrnes (R-Wis.) have indicated their support as they have."

Nixon came to Wisconsin on a supposedly "non-political" visit to honor his old House colleague, Rep. Melvin Laird (R-Wis.) at a testimonial dinner.

But the vice president was in a frankly political mood. He indicated as much before he left Washington, where he told newsmen that all presidential hopefuls will have to "fish or cut bait" before very long.

At Wisconsin Rapids, Nixon looked very much the active campaigner. He waved, smiled, patted babies, and joked with school children who had got out of class early so they could have a look at him.

Ike Finds Ideal Weather In Ga.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower flew to the Southland Thursday and started a golfing-working vacation as a tune-up for a strenuous good - will mission abroad next month.

Exclaiming in delight at ideal Indian summer weather — clear and sunny with the mercury at 71—Eisenhower was on the first tee at the Augusta National Golf Club an hour after he arrived from Washington.

The President expects to be here a week or 10 days, storing up rest and relaxation in advance of taking off Dec. 3 on a 20,000-mile swing to 11 nations on three continents.

But there is work ahead, too, on the legislative program and budget that must be ready for Congress in January. These have reached the stage at which decisions must be made.

If the President still has the cold which plagued him for weeks, there was no outward indication of it upon his arrival here.

N.H. Primary Rockefeller Target Date

New York Governor Launches Western Fact-Finding Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Thursday pinpointed the New Hampshire primary as his likely target date for deciding whether he'll campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

The New York governor hitched his possible candidacy to his legislative program and how he goes over with Republican leaders.

Rockefeller told a press conference that entry into the first-in-the-nation New Hampshire primary next March would be his first specific decision.

"The framework for dealing with the problems of New York will have been established by the time I have to make the decision," he said.

Fog, prominent Nixon buttons and a walkout by radio and television newsmen greeted Rockefeller's kick-off at a five-day, fact-finding expedition in the West.

Fog Diverts Plane

The fog diverted his plane from Los Angeles to Burbank but after landing he returned to International Airport here for a welcoming ceremony.

The Nixon buttons were on California Republican leaders who greeted him. They said they pinned them on after noting that the governor's fans wore Rockefeller buttons. California GOP leaders staunchly support Vice President Richard M. Nixon, deemed a likely seeker of the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

Rockefeller made quick note of the fact he was in Nixon's home state, but said Nixon knew what he was talking about when he said the New Yorker would find a warm welcome here.

"He will certainly be equally welcome on his next visit to New York next month—as he always is when he visits the Empire State," he said.

Radio-TV Men Walk Out

That statement appeared in a speech prepared for delivery before a Western States Republican Conference dinner.

"For it is the responsibility of Republicans anywhere to be deeply concerned with the vitality of the Republican party everywhere," he added.

The walkout of radio-TV newsmen from Rockefeller's first formal press conference here came in protest to his insistence on separate news conferences with newspaper and radio-TV reporters.

The radio-TV contingent said they agreed in advance to walk out if Rockefeller wouldn't go along on their proposal for a joint conference.

Rockefeller said it has been his practice since entering public office to split his news conferences.

Booby-Trap Bomb Blast Injuries Fatal To Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — A Staten Island housewife died Thursday, her body rent by a mysterious hand grenade explosion in her booby - trapped garage. Police were unable to fathom the motive behind the slaying, which followed the pattern of wartime sabotage by retreating troops.

Fragments of the grenade, bearing a serial number, were found on the scene of Tuesday night's blast that fatally injured Concetta Giarletta.

"We're checking the number with all military installations in the area," one detective said.

Neighbors agreed the small, dark - haired 41-year-old woman was a kindly person without a known enemy in the world. Police could only theorize she was the random victim of a madman, or the chance target of an explosion meant for someone else.

The grenade was rigged to explode when the garage door was opened.

But there was no apparent way in which the killer could have been sure that Mrs. Giarletta would open her garage door and thus trigger the explosion. Her husband had picked her up at her mother's Tuesday night and driven her home.

The husband, Frank, 50, an oil truck driver, told police he usually left the garage door open. When he found it shut this time, he stayed in the car while his wife went to open it. Giarletta escaped injury in the blast.

Mrs. Giarletta was mangled so badly that both legs had to be amputated.

Nazis Sought 12 Years Arrested

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Two men accused of Nazi crimes were arrested Thursday after dodging the law 12 years.

Dr. Werner Heyde, a neurologist charged with doing away with many mentally ill persons under Adolf Hitler's program, gave himself up. He had been living quietly under an assumed name the last 12 years, practicing at Flensburg.

Arrested by coincidence, the same day was Robert Mohr, accused of responsibility for the death of Jewish judge in Darmstadt, where he was Gestapo chief. Mohr had been working as a traveling salesman in the Rhineland.

Both men were wanted on murder charges.

Dr. Heyde formerly headed the neurological clinic at Wuerzburg University. The government says he was in charge of the Nazis' program of euthanasia, the deliberate killing of persons suffering from mental or physical maladies.

A week ago police received a tip that a respectable Dr. Sawade, advisor to the Flensburg Social Security Institute and a court expert, was Heyde. When they got to his home, Heyde was gone. A countrywide hunt was launched. Accompanied by his lawyer, Heyde turned himself in Thursday.

New Picketing, Boycott Curbs Go Into Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most controversial features of the new labor law, including stricter bans on picketing and boycotts, go into effect Friday.

These are amendments to the 12-year-old Taft-Hartley law. In general, they amplify and extend into new areas the law's restrictions on certain labor union activities.

The anticorruption features of the new law—those that spell out union member rights and union operating standards—already are in effect. They became operative when President Eisenhower signed the bill on Sept. 14.

On Dec. 14 still other sections go into force—those requiring unions to file with the Labor Department copies of their constitutions, bylaws and blueprints of operation.

Detailed financial reports of each of the nation's estimated 70,000 unions must be filed within 90 days of the close of each organization's fiscal year. These will start trickling in early in 1960.

Beginning Friday the NLRB's regional offices in major cities will begin accepting cases under the new law. These are the main changes:

1. SECONDARY BOYCOTT

The old law barred a union in dispute with one employer from inducing workers of a second employer to quit work to bring pressure on the primary employer.

The new law bans pressure on the second employer, or on his workers. It extends the ban also to railroads, municipalities and government agencies.

Employer and unions alike are forbidden to enter into "hot cargo" clause contracts, a device by which some unions, such as the Teamsters, sought to circumvent the T-H law provisions.

2. PICKETING

This limits to 30 days picketing with the object of unionizing workers. Prohibited is picketing where an employer has already lawfully recognized another union.

Another proviso bars picketing aimed at extorting money from an employer.

3. NLRB JURISDICTION

Perhaps most important to small business concerns is this proviso letting state courts or agencies handle future labor cases that fall outside the NLRB's jurisdictional standards.

Previously, there had been a no-man's land — an area of cases

Airman Missing After Jets Collide

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (UPI) Two jet planes collided over Tinker Air Force Base Thursday. Two airmen parachuted to safety but a third was not accounted for.

One of the planes was a T-33 jet trainer circling in a flight pattern. It collided with an F-104 jet fighter taking off from the sprawling air base. Both planes exploded into brilliant fireballs and plunged to the ground.

DA Quits; Admits Misappropriating $11,495.75 As JP

WEST BEND, Wis. (AP)—Deane R. Bascom resigned Thursday as Washington County district attorney after admitting he misappropriated $11,495.75 while serving as a justice of the peace from 1955 through 1958.

The 38 - year - old prosecutor, turned over to the county treasurer a check for the amount he said he owed as computed in an audit of his justice accounts.

Bascom, a polio victim who walks with canes and is the father of five children, did not disclose what use he made of the money, all taken before he became district attorney the first of this year.

De Gaulle Will Visit London Early In April

PARIS (UPI) — France and Britain announced Thursday that President Charles de Gaulle would make an official visit to London early next April.

The timing of the visit, set for April 5-8, meant that an East-West summit conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev hardly would be possible before May.

The French leader also is slated to pay a state visit to Washington some time soon but a date has not yet been announced.

The De Gaulle visit to London will come right on the heels of a two-week visit to France by Khrushchev, scheduled to begin March 15.

In announcing the visit, Britain and France set the seal on a bid to restore cordial relations between their countries.

The announcement was issued simultaneously in Paris by the presidential Elysee Palace and in London by Buckingham Palace. It coincided with the second day of talks in Paris between British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Want To Look Younger Longer? Stay Out Of Sun

DETROIT (AP)—If you want to look younger longer, stay out of the sun.

That's the conclusion reported here by a skin specialist at the 12th annual meeting of the Gerontological Society. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

Dr. J. Graham Smith Jr., dermatologist at the University of Miami (Fla.) School of Medicine, said recent research shows that exposure to the sun, rather than the aging process itself, seems to bring on the skin conditions commonly associated with growing old.

Smith, who did his work jointly with Dr. A. I. Lansing, professor of anatomy at the University of Pittsburgh, drew his conclusion after studying the skin of a group of older people who have lived in the Miami area for at least 20 years.

By studying skin samples and photographs, Smith and Lansing found that skin exposed regularly to the sun showed all the signs commonly connected with growing old—wrinkles; loose, thick and sagging skin; crow's - feet around the eyes.

But, they reported, skin taken from areas of the body not regularly exposed to the sun did not show these signs.

Smith attributed the difference to a change in the composition of the skin brought about by exposure to the sun.

He said skin usually exposed to the sun develops elastosis—which cuts down the elasticity of the skin—and hastens wrinkles, etc.

Helena, Mont., Buried Under 25-Inch Snow

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Billowing mountains of snow buried all but isolated patches of Montana Thursday, stranding hunters, choking traffic and closing schools.

The storm extended eastward to the Lake Michigan area creating hazardous driving conditions through the area. Traffic deaths mounted.

Snow piled to a record 25 inches in 24 hours in this capital city of 18,000, while winds built barn-high drifts on the open plains. Western South Dakota was blanketed with five inches.

The weather bureau said up to 8 inches will accumulate Thursday night and Friday from eastern Nebraska to northwest Ohio and southern Lower Michigan.

Six persons died in Illinois traffic accidents due to snowy roads. One person was killed in an Iowa highway accident. Montana's worst blizzard of the season was blamed Thursday for the seventh weather-related death in a week.

At least two hunters were unaccounted for in the drifted western Montana mountains.

The snow let up gradually through the day, but forecasters predicted a frigid blast of windy subzero air in its walk. Temperatures as low as 15 below were expected Friday morning.

All major roads, even those crossing the Continental Divide, were open.

Airline service halted. Trains and buses kept running, but were late.

Protest Bonn Plan To Build Radio Station

Charge "Unlawful" Action Might Hurt Chance For Accord

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union thrust the dormant Berlin issue to the fore again Thursday by charging that the West German government plans to build a new radio station in West Berlin for propaganda.

The Kremlin released a stiff note of protest to the United States Britain and France asking them to take measures to prevent such "unlawful" action.

It charged the plan was a premeditated attempt to interfere with the success of the forthcoming negotiations on the Berlin question. It said this came when the Camp David talks of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower had created more favorable conditions for reaching an agreement on Berlin.

Could "Fan Up Cold War"

Setting up the West German radio station. Deutschland Funk, in West Berlin would violate the present status of the divided city and is aimed at "fanning up the cold war" and increasing "subversive activity and hostile propaganda" against East German, the Soviet note said.

West German officials in Bonn said the Soviet protest was against a legislative proposal by the government to set up national radio and television networks in competition with state-operated hookups.

Plan's Approval Questionable

It calls for the radio headquarters to be built in West Berlin, television headquarters in Frankfurt, and a third headquarters for broadcasts beamed overseas at Cologne.

The West Berlin headquarters would direct broadcasts to all Germany and neighboring countries, but the measure does not say where the transmitters would be located.

In Bonn, it was considered questionable whether the measure would ever pass, since opposition Socialists and state governments strongly oppose entry of the federal government into radio and television.

Ike Won't Give Probers Report On Viet Nam Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower refused Thursday to give Senate investigators a government report on the Viet Nam foreign aid program on grounds such action would be "incompatible with the public interest."

He told a Senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating charges of waste in the program that he would give it any "facts" in the report. But he withheld the document itself because it was prepared solely for the executive branch.

The President wrote subcommittee Chairman Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) that throughout history U.S. Presidents have withheld such reports when they found that "disclosure of what was sought would be incompatible with the national interest."

Eisenhower, citing the doctrine of separation of powers, said the report contained "candid personal opinions, suggestions and recommendations" which were intended solely to help the foreign aid agency reach decisions.

The Mansfield subcommittee is investigating charges by Albert M. Colegrove, a correspondent for the Scripps-Howard newspapers, that millions of dollars in U.S. foreign aid funds were squandered in Viet Nam.

MARSHFIELD, Wis. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) carried his pre-presidential campaign tour into the heart of Wisconsin's dairyland Thursday with more criticism of the administration farm program and a call for some original Democratic thinking on the subject.

The contender for his party's 1960 presidential nomination came into Marshfield for a box-lunch supper Thursday night with Democrats of Wisconsin's 7th District, long one of the state's staunchest Republican areas.

Booby-Trap Bomb Blast Injuries Fatal To Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — A Staten Island housewife died Thursday, her body rent by a mysterious hand grenade explosion in her booby - trapped garage. Police were unable to fathom the motive behind the slaying, which followed the pattern of wartime sabotage by retreating troops.

Fragments of the grenade, bearing a serial number, were found on the scene of Tuesday night's blast that fatally injured Concetta Giarletta.

"We're checking the number with all military installations in the area," one detective said.

Neighbors agreed the small, dark - haired 41-year-old woman was a kindly person without a known enemy in the world. Police could only theorize she was the random victim of a madman, or the chance target of an explosion meant for someone else.

The grenade was rigged to explode when the garage door was opened.

But there was no apparent way in which the killer could have been sure that Mrs. Giarletta would open her garage door and thus trigger the explosion. Her husband had picked her up at her mother's Tuesday night and driven her home.

The husband, Frank, 50, an oil truck driver, told police he usually left the garage door open. When he found it shut this time, he stayed in the car while his wife went to open it. Giarletta escaped injury in the blast.

Mrs. Giarletta was mangled so badly that both legs had to be amputated.

Nazis Sought 12 Years Arrested

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Two men accused of Nazi crimes were arrested Thursday after dodging the law 12 years.

Dr. Werner Heyde, a neurologist charged with doing away with many mentally ill persons under Adolf Hitler's program, gave himself up. He had been living quietly under an assumed name the last 12 years, practicing at Flensburg.

Arrested by coincidence, the same day was Robert Mohr, accused of responsibility for the death of Jewish judge in Darmstadt, where he was Gestapo chief. Mohr had been working as a traveling salesman in the Rhineland.

Both men were wanted on murder charges.

Dr. Heyde formerly headed the neurological clinic at Wuerzburg University. The government says he was in charge of the Nazis' program of euthanasia, the deliberate killing of persons suffering from mental or physical maladies.

A week ago police received a tip that a respectable Dr. Sawade, advisor to the Flensburg Social Security Institute and a court expert, was Heyde. When they got to his home, Heyde was gone. A countrywide hunt was launched. Accompanied by his lawyer, Heyde turned himself in Thursday.

New Picketing, Boycott Curbs Go Into Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most controversial features of the new labor law, including stricter bans on picketing and boycotts, go into effect Friday.

These are amendments to the 12-year-old Taft-Hartley law. In general, they amplify and extend into new areas the law's restrictions on certain labor union activities.

The anticorruption features of the new law—those that spell out union member rights and union operating standards—already are in effect. They became operative when President Eisenhower signed the bill on Sept. 14.

On Dec. 14 still other sections go into force—those requiring unions to file with the Labor Department copies of their constitutions, bylaws and blueprints of operation.

Detailed financial reports of each of the nation's estimated 70,000 unions must be filed within 90 days of the close of each organization's fiscal year. These will start trickling in early in 1960.

Beginning Friday the NLRB's regional offices in major cities will begin accepting cases under the new law. These are the main changes:

1. SECONDARY BOYCOTT

The old law barred a union in dispute with one employer from inducing workers of a second employer to quit work to bring pressure on the primary employer.

The new law bans pressure on the second employer, or on his workers. It extends the ban also to railroads, municipalities and government agencies.

Employer and unions alike are forbidden to enter into "hot cargo" clause contracts, a device by which some unions, such as the Teamsters, sought to circumvent the T-H law provisions.

2. PICKETING

This limits to 30 days picketing with the object of unionizing workers. Prohibited is picketing where an employer has already lawfully recognized another union.

Another proviso bars picketing aimed at extorting money from an employer.

3. NLRB JURISDICTION

Perhaps most important to small business concerns is this proviso letting state courts or agencies handle future labor cases that fall outside the NLRB's jurisdictional standards.

Previously, there had been a no-man's land — an area of cases

Airman Missing After Jets Collide

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (UPI) Two jet planes collided over Tinker Air Force Base Thursday. Two airmen parachuted to safety but a third was not accounted for.

One of the planes was a T-33 jet trainer circling in a flight pattern. It collided with an F-104 jet fighter taking off from the sprawling air base. Both planes exploded into brilliant fireballs and plunged to the ground.

DA Quits; Admits Misappropriating $11,495.75 As JP

WEST BEND, Wis. (AP)—Deane R. Bascom resigned Thursday as Washington County district attorney after admitting he misappropriated $11,495.75 while serving as a justice of the peace from 1955 through 1958.

The 38 - year - old prosecutor, turned over to the county treasurer a check for the amount he said he owed as computed in an audit of his justice accounts.

Bascom, a polio victim who walks with canes and is the father of five children, did not disclose what use he made of the money, all taken before he became district attorney the first of this year.

De Gaulle Will Visit London Early In April

PARIS (UPI) — France and Britain announced Thursday that President Charles de Gaulle would make an official visit to London early next April.

The timing of the visit, set for April 5-8, meant that an East-West summit conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev hardly would be possible before May.

The French leader also is slated to pay a state visit to Washington some time soon but a date has not yet been announced.

The De Gaulle visit to London will come right on the heels of a two-week visit to France by Khrushchev, scheduled to begin March 15.

In announcing the visit, Britain and France set the seal on a bid to restore cordial relations between their countries.

The announcement was issued simultaneously in Paris by the presidential Elysee Palace and in London by Buckingham Palace. It coincided with the second day of talks in Paris between British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Want To Look Younger Longer? Stay Out Of Sun

DETROIT (AP)—If you want to look younger longer, stay out of the sun.

That's the conclusion reported here by a skin specialist at the 12th annual meeting of the Gerontological Society. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

Dr. J. Graham Smith Jr., dermatologist at the University of Miami (Fla.) School of Medicine, said recent research shows that exposure to the sun, rather than the aging process itself, seems to bring on the skin conditions commonly associated with growing old.

Smith, who did his work jointly with Dr. A. I. Lansing, professor of anatomy at the University of Pittsburgh, drew his conclusion after studying the skin of a group of older people who have lived in the Miami area for at least 20 years.

By studying skin samples and photographs, Smith and Lansing found that skin exposed regularly to the sun showed all the signs commonly connected with growing old—wrinkles; loose, thick and sagging skin; crow's - feet around the eyes.

But, they reported, skin taken from areas of the body not regularly exposed to the sun did not show these signs.

Smith attributed the difference to a change in the composition of the skin brought about by exposure to the sun.

He said skin usually exposed to the sun develops elastosis—which cuts down the elasticity of the skin—and hastens wrinkles, etc.

Helena, Mont., Buried Under 25-Inch Snow

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Billowing mountains of snow buried all but isolated patches of Montana Thursday, stranding hunters, choking traffic and closing schools.

The storm extended eastward to the Lake Michigan area creating hazardous driving conditions through the area. Traffic deaths mounted.

Snow piled to a record 25 inches in 24 hours in this capital city of 18,000, while winds built barn-high drifts on the open plains. Western South Dakota was blanketed with five inches.

The weather bureau said up to 8 inches will accumulate Thursday night and Friday from eastern Nebraska to northwest Ohio and southern Lower Michigan.

Six persons died in Illinois traffic accidents due to snowy roads. One person was killed in an Iowa highway accident. Montana's worst blizzard of the season was blamed Thursday for the seventh weather-related death in a week.

At least two hunters were unaccounted for in the drifted western Montana mountains.

The snow let up gradually through the day, but forecasters predicted a frigid blast of windy subzero air in its walk. Temperatures as low as 15 below were expected Friday morning.

All major roads, even those crossing the Continental Divide, were open.

Airline service halted. Trains and buses kept running, but were late.

Protest Bonn Plan To Build Radio Station

Charge "Unlawful" Action Might Hurt Chance For Accord

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union thrust the dormant Berlin issue to the fore again Thursday by charging that the West German government plans to build a new radio station in West Berlin for propaganda.

The Kremlin released a stiff note of protest to the United States Britain and France asking them to take measures to prevent such "unlawful" action.

It charged the plan was a premeditated attempt to interfere with the success of the forthcoming negotiations on the Berlin question. It said this came when the Camp David talks of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower had created more favorable conditions for reaching an agreement on Berlin.

Could "Fan Up Cold War"

Setting up the West German radio station, Deutschland Funk, in West Berlin would violate the present status of the divided city and is aimed at "fanning up the cold war" and increasing "subversive activity and hostile propaganda" against East German, the Soviet note said.

West German officials in Bonn said the Soviet protest was against a legislative proposal by the government to set up national radio and television networks in competition with state-operated hookups.

Plan's Approval Questionable

It calls for the radio headquarters to be built in West Berlin, television headquarters in Frankfurt, and a third headquarters for broadcasts beamed overseas at Cologne.

The West Berlin headquarters would direct broadcasts to all Germany and neighboring countries, but the measure does not say where the transmitters would be located.

In Bonn, it was considered questionable whether the measure would ever pass, since opposition Socialists and state governments strongly oppose entry of the federal government into radio and television.

Ike Won't Give Probers Report On Viet Nam Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower refused Thursday to give Senate investigators a government report on the Viet Nam foreign aid program on grounds such action would be "incompatible with the public interest."

He told a Senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating charges of waste in the program that he would give it any "facts" in the report. But he withheld the document itself because it was prepared solely for the executive branch.

The President wrote subcommittee Chairman Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) that throughout history U.S. Presidents have withheld such reports when they found that "disclosure of what was sought would be incompatible with the national interest."

Eisenhower, citing the doctrine of separation of powers, said the report contained "candid personal opinions, suggestions and recommendations" which were intended solely to help the foreign aid agency reach decisions.

The Mansfield subcommittee is investigating charges by Albert M. Colegrove, a correspondent for the Scripps-Howard newspapers, that millions of dollars in U.S. foreign aid funds were squandered in Viet Nam.

Kennedy Turns Fire On Farm Program

MARSHFIELD, Wis. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) carried his pre-presidential campaign tour into the heart of Wisconsin's dairyland Thursday with more criticism of the administration farm program and a call for some original Democratic thinking on the subject.

The contender for his party's 1960 presidential nomination came into Marshfield for a box-lunch supper Thursday night with Democrats of Wisconsin's 7th District, long one of the state's staunchest Republican areas.

Irish Envoy's Son Claims Immunity But Will Testify In Pedestrian's Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 21-year-old son of the Irish ambassador is due to appear at a coroner's inquest Friday in the traffic death of a woman pedestrian.

The envoy's son, David Patrick Hearne, claimed diplomatic immunity and was released after his car struck and fatally injured Josie Hamlin, 54, a domestic, Wednesday night.

Coroner A. Magruder McDonald said Thursday he had been notified that Hearne would appear at the inquest, although under diplomatic immunity he is not required to do so.

The youth's father, Ambassador John Joseph Hearne, informed the State Department his son will testify at the hearing. Officials at the department said the ambassador advised them that he did not wish to say anything further until after the inquest.

It was the second time within a month that young Hearne had invoked diplomatic immunity. On Oct. 10, he was released in custody of his father after being involved in a restaurant brawl.

State Department officials possessing little information about what they called young Hearne's "unfortunate record," said the U.S. government would do nothing before the inquest. Any possible future steps, they said, would depend on the outcome.

Wednesday night's accident occurred shortly after 6 p.m. Police quoted Hearne as saying a pedestrian crossed in front of his car, and while trying to avoid hitting this pedestrian his car struck another.

Mrs. Hamilin was struck by the car's right fender and hurled 41 feet. She was dead on arrival at Providence Hospital.

Castro Actions Scare Off New U.S. Investors

HAVANA (AP)—The handwriting on Cuba's business walls is getting more legible. It seems to read "Yankee go home."

In spite of his frequent appeals to American businessmen to invest in his underdeveloped country, Prime Minister Fidel Castro has fomented an atmosphere of anti-Americanism that not only scares off new capital but has old investors worried.

Government agents showed up suddenly in the offices of foreign oil exploration companies last month and sealed their files.

Many executives were alarmed by the unprecedented move. The ink on the authorizing law was hardly dry.

A tough new minerals law has already gone into effect. It imposed a 5 per cent tax on all minerals extracted from Cuban land and another 25 per cent on all minerals exported. It also contained various fixed fees on mineral lands themselves.

Coincident with these developments, the agrarian reform program underwent a speedup. The increasingly powerful National Institute of Agrarian Reform (INRA) took over thousands of acres of sugar and cattle lands, many of them American-owned, in the interior last month. Most sugar-land holders had thought they wouldn't be touched until at least next year.

Baltimore Woman Plunges To Death

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 63-year-old woman plunged to her death Thursday from a window of her ninth-floor apartment in North Baltimore.

Police identified her as Mrs. Eleanor C. La Montagne, widow of Morgan E. La Montagne, former New York businessman. They said she had been despondent and under medical care since the death of her husband more than a year ago.

She died shortly after being admitted to Union Memorial Hospital.

"Diamondback" Deplores Snub Of Negro Student

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland student newspaper has criticized a College Park restaurant for refusing to serve a Negro.

An editorial in the Diamondback said the Little Ledo refused to serve a Negro student Sunday night. He had entered the restaurant, the editorial said, with five white students.

Phil Trupp, Diamondback feature editor and one of those in the restaurant at the time, Thursday identified the Negro as Frank Hunt. Hunt is a political science major and associate editor of Old Line, a student magazine. Hunt was managing editor of the Diamondback last year.

Trupp said that when Hunt was refused service the group walked out.

Steel Company Offers Workers Financial Help

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Co. Thursday announced two plans for providing prompt financial aid to steelworkers who have been on strike.

The nationwide walkout ended under federal injunction last weekend for an 80-day cooling off period under the Taft-Hartley Law.

A spokesman at the Bethlehem plant here said that employes who had not used all their vacation time when the strike started July 15 would not normally be eligible for vacation pay until December. But the company is making immediate payment to those who do not promptly apply to take their vacations later in the year.

The company's regular wage-advance system is being liberalized. Upon application by a returning employe, a wage advance of up to $100 of credited earnings will be paid by the company at once.

That means a worker would not have to wait until his first pay check for money.

Some 95 per cent of Bethlehem's 26,400 hourly rate employes have been called back since last Saturday and most are on normal work schedules.

Two Frederick Co. Banks Plan Merger

FREDERICK (AP)—Officials of two Frederick County banks Thursday announced plans for a merger.

The joint announcement was made by Benjamin L. Shuff, president of the Farmers & Mechanics-Citizens National Bank of Frederick, and L. Eugene Purdum, executive vice president of the First National Bank of Mt. Airy.

The proposed merger has been approved by directors of both banks, but is subject to approval by the stockholders and the comptroller of the currency. Tentative approval already has been given by the federa' official.

If the move is approved, the combined banks would have estimated total deposits of $38,900,000, total resources of $43,500,000, and capital funds of $4,400,000.

Headache Blamed In Triple Murder

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Authorities Thursday blamed a migraine headache for touching off a triple sledgehammer murder and suicide.

Coroner Christopher Hill Jr. said Charles Richard Gardner, 38-year-old artist and writer, was "mentally disturbed and suffering severe headaches" when he killed his wife, their two daughters and himself.

Bette Gardner, 38, and her daughters, Randy Lee, 12, and Diane, 8, were found Wednesday in their beds, each killed by a single blow from a two-pound sledgehammer. The hammer was in a waste basket near the body of Gardner, who had a bullet hole in his right temple.

Mother Urges Son Surrender In Slaying Case

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—"Please come home—I'll do everything in my power for you."

This was his mother's plea Thursday as police sought 21-year-old Tord Ove Zeppenfield for questioning about the bludgeon murder of red-haired Lillian Lenorak.

"I'm your best friend. You're the only one I have. We've always stuck together," cried Vega Zeppenfield, onetime Olympic swimming star, as she issued an appeal for her missing son to surrender.

The body of Mrs. Lenorak, 42-year-old Hollywood film cutter, was found Sunday morning on a desert road near this resort. Young Zeppenfield was last seen late Sunday night, when he was stopped briefly by police in nearby Indio. He said he was hitchhiking to Yuma.

Indio Police Chief Pat Cunningham quoted the youth as saying he had traded actor John Payne two horses for a colt and was on his way to pick up the colt. Zeppenfield was dressed in denim jacket and jeans and was wearing cowboy boots. He was not wearing a shirt.

Officers later found a blood-stained shirt in his room at the $100,000 motel here which his mother operates.

The motel is less than a block away from the spot where scientist Frank G. Back says Mrs. Lenorak left his car Saturday night. Dr. Back, 57, developer of the Zoomar lens used in movie and TV close-ups, said the woman was angry because he wouldn't give her the key to his Palm Springs home. Police say they do not believe Back was involved in the slaying.

Votes Strike Renewal

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Steelworkers' Wage Policy Committee voted unanimously Thursday to resume the steel strike if "a fair and honorable settlement" is not reached during the 80-day injunction period.

At a news conference after the two-hour meeting President David McDonald said he knew of "no foundation" for Secretary of Labor James Mitchell's optimistic statement on a recent television program that an agreement would be reached.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—"Please come home—I'll do everything in my power for you."

This was his mother's plea Thursday as police sought 21-year-old Tord Ove Zeppenfield for questioning about the bludgeon murder of red-haired Lillian Lenorak.

"I'm your best friend. You're the only one I have. We've always stuck together," cried Vega Zeppenfield, onetime Olympic swimming star, as she issued an appeal for her missing son to surrender.

The body of Mrs. Lenorak, 42-year-old Hollywood film cutter, was found Sunday morning on a desert road near this resort. Young Zeppenfield was last seen late Sunday night, when he was stopped briefly by police in nearby Indio. He said he was hitchhiking to Yuma.

Indio Police Chief Pat Cunningham quoted the youth as saying he had traded actor John Payne two horses for a colt and was on his way to pick up the colt. Zeppenfield was dressed in denim jacket and jeans and was wearing cowboy boots. He was not wearing a shirt.

Officers later found a blood-stained shirt in his room at the $100,000 motel here which his mother operates.

The motel is less than a block away from the spot where scientist Frank G. Back says Mrs. Lenorak left his car Saturday night. Dr. Back, 57, developer of the Zoomar lens used in movie and TV close-ups, said the woman was angry because he wouldn't give her the key to his Palm Springs home. Police say they do not believe Back was involved in the slaying.

Votes Strike Renewal

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Steelworkers' Wage Policy Committee voted unanimously Thursday to resume the steel strike if "a fair and honorable settlement" is not reached during the 80-day injunction period.

At a news conference after the two-hour meeting President David McDonald said he knew of "no foundation" for Secretary of Labor James Mitchell's optimistic statement on a recent television program that an agreement would be reached.

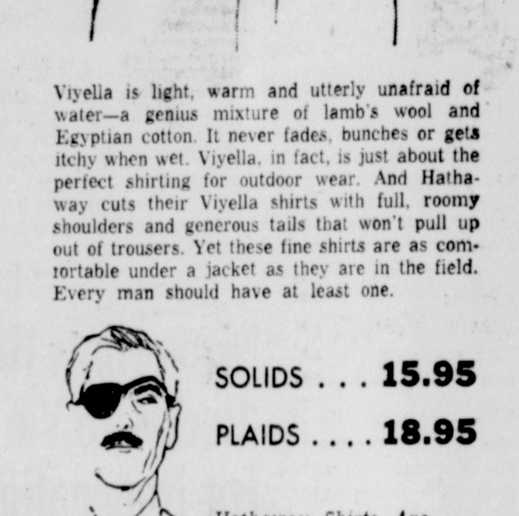
THE MANHATTAN

English Viyella® by Hathaway



Viyella is light, warm and utterly unafraid of water—a genius mixture of lamb's wool and Egyptian cotton. It never fades, bunches or gets itchy when wet. Viyella, in fact, is just about the perfect shirting for outdoor wear. And Hathaway cuts their Viyella shirts with full, roomy shoulders and generous tails that won't pull up out of trousers. Yet these fine shirts are as comfortable under a jacket as they are in the field. Every man should have at least one.

Barton Man Awarded $8,000

A Barton man, Charles Kyle, today was granted a lump sum payment of $8,000 by the Maryland Workmans' Compensation Commission at a session held at the Court House here.

Kyle, represented by Simon F. Reilly, petitioned the commission for the lump sum payment. He had been granted benefits in December of 1958 for total disability as the result of injuries to his face and eyes in a mine explosion at a pit owned by the Castle Run Coal Company.

Kyle suffered "tattoo" marks from coal dust and particles which disfigured his face and injured his eyes. He underwent surgery for the iris of one eye and suffers from photophobia when in bright light, which distorts his vision. One eye has 98.8 per cent disability while the other has 51.1 per cent.

Commissioner Paul M. Fletcher heard the petition yesterday. A number of other claims will be heard today at the Court House.

NEW YORK (AP)—Youth had its day on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday. Five teenage business executives were honored for their companies' success.

Exchange President Keith Funston presented plaques to the youths and hailed the Junior Achievement movement for making it possible for youngsters to get solid experience in business and finance.

Under the Junior Achievement program in the United States and Canada, companies are organized each fall by high school students, who sell stock, make and sell products and actually operate small businesses. Each company is counseled by an adult business enterprise.

Here are the winners and what their companies did:

Jeffrey L. Clark, 18, president of Spun-Al-Co., Fort Wayne, Ind., first among 3,842 JA companies. His firm sold 356 shares of stock at 50 cents each to 93 investors and paid a 10 per cent return on sale of $3,172 worth of aluminum serving trays in seven months.

Stanley Reed Jr., 19, president of Nine - Tenners, Middletown, Ohio, which produced a radio program and paid a 10 per cent return on $4,410 gross from advertisers.

Barbara Carter, 18, treasurer of Metal Engineering Co., Houston, Tex., which manufactured and marketed 529 portable patio lamps, grossing $2,087 and paying 10 per cent.

Elaine Mack, 18, president of J. A. Custom Manufacturing Co., Wilmington, Del., which produced and sold $2,088 worth of toiletries and paid a 50 per cent dividend.

Heather Angell, 18, president of Kitch-N-Kraft, Vancouver, B. C. Her company sold $801 worth of cheese boards and slicers and paid 10 per cent.

Some optimism cropped up among market analysts Wednesday:

"The stock market is in a technically strong position and a rally of some proportions could develop," said Hemphill, Noyes & Co. "Trading will be influenced by selling for capital gains and losses between now and the end of the year."

But Bache & Co. comments. "The lack of support in pivotal issues is another sign of the nervous atmosphere which currently exists. Further irregularity for the market as a whole is likely to be the result of this pattern."

Last Survivor Of Casey Jones Wreck Dies

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The last known survivor of Casey Jones' famous train wreck, 82-year-old William Crittenden, died here Wednesday.

As a 22-year-old express messenger, Crittenden rode an express car behind Jones' big engine when it barreled into the rear of a freight train, April 30, 1900, in Vaiden, Miss.

For years afterward, he recalled the ballad - immortalized crash many times.

Crittenden, a native of Centralia, Ill., said he was deadheading — riding free — when locomotives were switched in Memphis. He saw Casey Jones and his Negro fireman, Sim Webb, hook on their engine. They were relieving another locomotive crew and Jones would have to make up an hour and 30 minutes.

It was a challenge to Jones and his "Cannonball Express."

As Crittenden slept in the express car, the locomotive cut through the night like an arrow with Casey shrieking their presence with his famous whippoorwill whistle.

Critteden awoke as they neared Vaiden. Jones had made up all but a few minutes. There were only a few more miles to Canton, the end of Jones' run.

Suddenly, the steam whistle blasted and the brakes caught and the train started skidding. Then came the crash.

Baggage flew in the express car, and Crittenden felt a stab in his back. Then, there was silence.

Outside, Crittenden heard the news. Jones was killed, but Webb his fireman, jumped to safety.

The freight was supposed to be on a side track to let Jones pass. However, a train from the other direction complicated things.

Bedford County Youth Stricken With Polio

A Bedford County, Pa., youth, 15-year-old Rayford Berkey, is the 10th victim of poliomyelitis in that county and is a patient in Conemaugh Valley Memorial Hospital, Johnstown.

Young Berkey, son of Mrs. Alverta Berkey of Osterburg, RD., was diagnosed as having "presumptive anterior" polio. Dr. John Hebner said there is no evidence of paralysis and the boy's recovery should be rapid.

Young Berkey's attack closely followed that of Raymond Ranker, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ranker of Buffalo Mills, who was admitted to the isolation ward of the Johnstown hospital October 28. The Ranker boy was taken to the hospital when paralysis of the right arm developed. Dr. John Topper, the boy's physician, diagnosed the case as "presumptive polio" and ordered the boy be placed in the Johnstown institution, especially equipped to handle such cases.

Virginia Nave Elected By State Hairdressers

One member of the Allegany Unit of the Maryland State Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association was elected to office in the state group and another won three awards at the state convention, Saturday in Baltimore. Mrs. Virginia Nave, RD 3 Bedford, Pa., was named first vice president; and Mrs. Mamie Scott, won third place in the "Golden Curl"; first in hair cutting and second in hair fashion.

Spencer Kelly, Baltimore, was elected president. Other officers are Ray Shipley, Prince Frederick, Owen Ecker, Frederick, 2 and 3 vice presidents; Mrs. Margaret Lilly, Salisbury; Mrs. Thelma Maeder, Chevy Chase, recording and corresponding secretaries; Mrs. Mort Montgomery, Baltimore, financial secretary; Steve Voris, Baltimore, treasurer; Mrs. Cecilia Fisher, Easton, sergeant at arms; Ralph DePetrio, Hagerstown, historian, and Mrs. Edna Johnson, Silver Spring, parliamentarian.

Installation will be January 17 in Baltimore.

Luella Bailey was guest artist for the educational and trade show. She also conducted classes. Two Washington hairdressers won first and second awards in the golden curl contest. Mrs. Betty Lombardo, Baltimore, won first in the hair fashion and Ernest Batka, Baltimore, third.

Attending from Cumberland were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scott, Mr. and Mrs. James Deffenbaugh, Miss Ethel Henry, Miss Elsie Henry, Mrs. Catherine Welton, Mrs. Leona Lewis, Mrs. Velleta Kinsley and daughter, Sherry; Miss Edith Crabtree, Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Ralph Smith, Mrs. Patricia Petry, Mrs. Hattie Taylor, Mrs. Nave and Mrs. Erdie Evans.

The Allegany Unit will elect officers at the November 16 meeting at the YMCA at 8 p.m. Reports of the state show also will be given.

Mrs. Grace Cross, 216 Park Street, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Donations Made

A gift of $50 for the support of the boy adopted by the WMS of First Baptist Church was voted at the meeting recently at the church. Plans also were formulated to make a blanket for the boy.

Miss Mary Moxley announced the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions to be November 30-December 4, when the Lottie Moon Christmas offering will be taken. A foreign mission study course will be held November 19 from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m., when the Alice Moore and Christnie Garnett circles will meet. November 20 will be a church-wide fellowship supper, at 6. The WMS supper for December 3 was cancelled. The business meeting will be at 7.

Mrs. Archie Prevatte and Mrs. Robert Young offered prayer. Reports on mission books purchased for the church library, food given families, and toys for the hospital children's ward, were given by Mrs. Wilbur Pullin, Mrs. S. N. Athey and Mrs. Walter Alexander.

Mrs. Brannon Crowned "Queen Of The WSCS"

The Harvest November 29 Festival plans were completed and a talent contest held at the meeting of the WSCS of Melvin Church, Wednesday evening at the church. Mrs. Ronald Brannon won the contest and was crowned "Queen of the WSCS" by Mrs. Blanche Speir, retiring queen. A total of $62.68 was made on the contest.

A committee was appointed to check the church roll. It consists of Mrs. Emma Minke, Mrs. Gladys May and Mrs. Jane Fier. It was decided to purchase two apple butter kettles and and plans were made for an apron party to be held in conjunction with the next meeting. Announcement was made of the prayer group meeting November 18 at 7:30.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Fier and Mrs. Millie Alderton. Mrs. Carl Koerner reported on the UNICEF party and that $71 was sent to the state council. Mrs. Gladys May told of the Week of Prayer service when $13.50 was collected. Mrs. Speir reported on the Community Day service and Mrs. Vincent Delegrange, the new furniture for the parsonage. Mrs. Delagrange reported on the applebutter made and sold last month. Mrs. Robert Streett told of the letter sent to Ellen Atkinson, missionary, and Mrs. Fier spoke of Ken Jones, missionary in Belgian Congo and Bob Gnegy in Bolivia.

Devotions were on the "Social Creeds and Moving Populations," with Mrs. Mary Zais giving the meditation. Mrs. Koerner read the Scripture and Mrs. Speir offered prayer. Talks were by Mrs. Alderton, Mrs. Fier, Mrs. A. M. Gall and Mrs. Raymond May. The group sang, "O God Our Help in Ages Past." A social followed with refreshments in keeping with the Thanksgiving season. Mrs. Earl Smith and Mrs. Speir were hostesses.

PP Parley Plans Yule Party

A Christmas party was planned and jingle names selected at the meeting of the Past Presidents Parley of the American Legion Auxiliary held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Emma Reed, Marion Street. Mrs. Margaret Graim presided.

Preceding the business session a dinner was served, with the Thanksgiving motif carried out in the decorations. Games featured the entertainment. Mrs. Katherine Smith won the monthly award and Mrs. Ovelia Walker, the hostess prize.

The next meeting and Christmas party will be held December 12 at the home of Mrs. Maude Banzoff, Decatur Street.

Others present were Mrs. Hazel Harney, Mrs. Pearl Ailem, Mrs. Effie Vogel, Mrs. Marie Kelly, Mrs. Martha McNary, Mrs. Pauline Smith, Mrs. Betty Farrell and Mrs. Banzoff.

Secretaries Will Honor "Bosses"

The Algonquin Chapter of the National Secretaries Association will entertain with its annual Boss Night dinner tonight, at the Cumberland Country Club, beginning at 6:30. Mrs. Reba Whitehair will preside. Mrs. Elizabeth Senton, Washington, division president, will attend and extend greetings.

Mrs. Mildred Hollander Shott, associate professor of secretarial studies and executive officer of the department of secretarial studies at George Washington University, is to be the speaker.

Selection of the "Boss of the Year" will be the highlight of the affair, which is held annually by all chapters "to afford secretaries throughout the country an opportunity to express their appreciation and gratitude to their respective employers," Mrs. Whitehair said. Hi-fi music will be played throughout the evening and prizes are to be awarded. Over 100 reservations have been made.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Miss Angela Long, Miss Martha Rogan, co-chairmen of the dinner; Miss Ellen Newnam, chairman of the social committee with Miss Margaret Lester, Miss Vivian Slider, Miss Regina Santesantio and Miss Geraldine Collins, committee members.

Swanson Memorial Bible Class will meet at 7:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. Paul Williams, 17 Mullan Street.

Women's Reserve Plans First Benefit Nov. 21

The importance of each Boy Scout participating in all the activities of the Women's Reserve, was stressed by Robert Metz, scoutmaster, at a meeting of the newly-organized Women's Reserve of Boy Scout Troop 9, which was held at the home of Mrs. Marie Simpson, Cresaptown. The speaker also pointed out the need of parent cooperation in the scouting program.

Mrs. Leola Metz conducted the meeting. It was decided to hold a rummage and bake sale November 21, at noon in the old drug store building at Cresaptown. Proceeds from the sale are for Troop 9. Mrs. Velma Miller was appointed publicity chairman.

Mothers, relatives or friends of the Boy Scouts are invited to attend the next meeting December 2, which will be at the home of Mrs. Mary Vandenberg.

Others attending were Mrs. Mary Chaney, Mrs. Edith Kifer, Mrs. Katherine Weber, Mrs. Vandenberg, Mrs. Thelma Humbertson, Mrs. Loretta Robinson, Mrs. Vivian Matheny, Mrs. Edna Toey, Mrs. Miller and Sidney Simpson.

Contributes For Basket

Contributions for a Thanksgiving basket were made by members of Lambda Chapter, BSP, at the meeting Tuesday evening in the club rooms, North Mechanic Street. Mrs. Donna Lambert presided. Announcement was made of the Cruise Ball, May 14 at the Cumberland Country Club with music by Richard Lewis Orchestra; a jingle party December 8 at the home of Mrs. Florence Snelson, Midland, and the antique sale, December 3, 4, 5 in SS. Peter and Paul hall.

Sorority literature was presented to the pledges and Mrs. Wilma Jean Heinrich explained the cultural program for the year. Mrs. E. E. Loar spoke on flower arrangements.

A rummage sale will be held from 11 until 5 today by Hadassah in B'er Chayim vestry room, Union Street.

Tawes Praises Baltimore Redevelopment Program

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes said Thursday that Baltimore City deserves the support and cooperation of all citizens of the state in its urban redevelopment program.

Speaking at the dedication of the 10 million dollar State Office Building, the governor said he was pleased the state could achieve two important objectives in the construction of the center.

"In the first place," Tawes said, "It has succeeded in consolidating into one area — and for the most part into one building — the several departments and agencies of the state which . . . have been scattered in wild disorder through the city . . ."

"Secondly, in the pursuit of our main purpose we were able to render a valuable service to the City of Baltimore in its program of urban rehabilitation," the governor said.

Situated next door to the new office building is the headquarters of the State Roads Commission. Under construction nearby is a building for the Department of Employment Security.

"The primary purpose of this building project of course is to provide the citizens of Maryland a more efficient and more effective state government," Tawes said.

"In no other way," he noted, "can we justify the cost involved to the taxpayers of the state."

The governor called it a good investment and said it will pay for itself in a very few years. The state, he noted, will save half a million dollars a year in rental fees. It also will operate more efficiently in one location and provide better and more convenient service to the public, he added.

"Aside from these factors," Tawes said, "I am pleased that the State of Maryland was able to assist this great city in its laudable effort to rejuvenate its downtown business area."

The governor said the city "is, and has been, the cultural and economic heart of Maryland."

"The problems of the state and the city are inextricably interwoven," he said. "The health and prosperity of one are determined by the health and prosperity of the other."

Surgeon Dies At 75

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Amos F. Hutchins of Annapolis, a surgeon who specialized in gynecology and urology, died of pneumonia here Wednesday night.

The 75-year-old physician had been ill for some time. He retired from active practice in 1956.

Wife-Slayer Given 7-Year Sentence

FREDERICK (AP) — Robert Leroy Kenney, 32, was sentenced Thursday to seven years in the House of Correction for the fatal stabbing of his wife at their home on Gashouse Pike the night of last Feb. 14.

Chief Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer passed sentence when Kenney pleaded guilty to manslaughter after withdrawing a plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

Kenney attempted suicide after the slaying of his wife, Mrs. Rachel Emmaline Kenney, 48, by shooting himself in the face. He lost the sight of one eye.

Md. Rep. Brewster To Seek Reelection

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Rep. Brewster, Democrat, representing Maryland's Second District for his first term, has already announced his intentions of running for reelection next year.

His announcement may have been made to clarify his position concerning mounting reports that George P. Mahoney may seek the office next year.

D.C. Monorail Transit System Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high speed monorail system was advocated Thursday by the head of D.C. Transit System as a way of solving Greater Washington's transportation problems.

O. Roy Chalk, president and board chairman of .C. Transit, told a congressional committee that his company "is prepared, with appropriate government assistance, to go forward with the installation of the system."

Sharply criticizing the proposed mass transportation plan for the Washington area as lacking in imagination, Chalk said there is too much emphasis on government ownership and the assumption that the automobile is the ultimate and most desirable means of transportation.

Chalk testified that the estimated 2½ billion dollar cost of the plan, plus indicated deficits of 16 million dollars a year, call for a search for alternatives.

He suggested to a Senate-House committee on Washington metropolitan problems these alternatives:

1. Comprehensive traffic control legislation designed to bar all but public transportation traffic from the central part of the city during the rush hours of 7 to 10 a.m. and 4 to 7 p.m.

2. Transit lanes consisting of entire streets, half streets, or single lanes throughout the city.

3. Elimination of downtown street parking and the expansion of three fringe parking facilities.

Missile Maze -- How Bureaucratic Pyramid Grew

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — If red tape were rocket power, the moon might be an American colony today.

At the moment there are some 61 distinct organizations and committees concerned with the space and missile effort.

Some critics contend that this sprawling hodgepodge of agencies is one of the big reasons why the United States is lagging behind the Soviet Union.

Since 1950 the United States has spent about 25 billion dollars on missile and space projects, and by mid-1960 the total will reach 32 billion. But some space scientists, while admitting strain from multibureaucratic control, say they're handicapped by a tight squeeze of funds. Even with red tape eliminated, these sources say, it would be hard to catch up with the Soviets without an infusion of money.

In broadest outline, the missile effort's chain of command runs from President Eisenhower to the Department of Defense and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Defense is responsible for purely military space and satellite projects. NASA is charged with developing missiles and satellites for civilian-scientific use.

But a closer look discloses a more complicated picture.

It starts at the very bottom of the working level and meanders up through laboratories and administrative commands to Congress and the White House—over a course strewn with committees, departments, agencies and councils. In addition, there are numerous liaison groups, coordinating, advising and criticizing.

All right, then, who's in charge?

NASA, the civilian agency, has access to Defense Department facilities on a cooperative basis. Since the line between a civilian type satellite and a military one is hair-thin, the division of work is purely arbitrary. It's a civilian project if NASA foots the bill, and vice versa.

So the military have done most of NASA's work to date since they have been the only organization with the hardware and support facilities.

This may change. President Eisenhower announced Oct. 21 that the Army's Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., will be taken over by NASA, subject to congressional approval.

How did the bureaucratic pyramid grow?

During World War II the United States, shaken by the German development of V2 guided missiles, embarked on an extensive program to catch up.

After the war ended, the United States took inventory, found it had 40 missile and rocket programs and promptly scrapped 20.

Missile matters rocked along with the three services doing whatever came to mind, if they had the money, until Oct. 24, 1950.

On that date the late Gen. George C. Marshall, then secretary of defense, put the programs under the newly created office of the Director of Guided Missiles.

Marshall's centralized control order remained in effect until Sept. 18, 1953, when a new secretary of defense, Charles E. Wilson, authorized the various military service secretaries to proceed with whatever programs they felt would fit the needs of their particular service.

Everybody apparently went about their business in the conviction that the United States led in missiles and space technology. But on Oct. 4, 1957, the Soviets put the first artificial satellite into orbit, Sputnik I.

This blow to American pride and prestige set the bureaucratic ball to rolling. Some agencies had their names changed and their functions broadened. New ones came into being.

Since Sputnik I there have been millions of words of testimony on the progress, or lack of it, in the missile and space programs.

One of the sharpest looks at the programs to date has come from the House Military Operations subcommittee.

In a report dated Sept. 2, 1959, after noting that in the space and missile field there had been duplication and even triplification of effort, the committee recommended that the Army and Air Force, leaders in the missile and space field, should be reunited.

Since this report, the Air Force has been given sole jurisdiction over military space operations, while NASA is taking over the Army's major space and missile facility for civilian use.

Now if you are still wondering what this missile and space maze really looks like, here goes. This rundown excludes the interested congressional committees, though they appear in the total count.

President Eisenhower is boss of the whole works. He receives advice from the Bureau of the budget, the Federal Council for Science and Technology, the National Aeronautics and Space Council, the President's Science Advisory Board and the National Security Council.

His direct chain of command runs to the Department of Defense and NASA.

Under the Department of Defense there are the office of Defense Research and Engineering, the Advance Research Projects Agency, the Institute for Defense Analysis the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the secretaries of the three services.

Beneath this hierarchy rest the Army, Navy and Air Force. Each has a director of research and development surrounded by a technical staff.

Then there is NASA, which now has acquired the Army Ballistic Missile Agency. It also controls the Jet Propulsion Laboratory near Los Angeles and six other research centers.

Between NASA and the Department of Defense is a high-level civilian-military liaison committee.

Each of the three services also has an assortment of weapons evaluation boards which assess the military missiles for usefulness.

That isn't all of them, but maybe it will give you a rough idea.

There is one other point: most of these agencies can say no to suggestions and ideas, few can say "go ahead."

Study Group To Resume

The Parent-Child Study Group of Columbia Street School will resume its meetings Monday with a session scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

Rocket Engine Tester Ready

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—The Navy recently disclosed completion of a new test stand that can handle rocket engines of one million pounds thrust.

The test stand was built "primarily to test solid propellant rocket engines, current and future, of the Navy's submarine-launched fleet ballistic missile Polaris," a Navy announcement said.

The Polaris is presently designed as an intermediate range ballistic missile with an ultimate range of 1,500 nautical miles. To cover this distance it would need an engine with 250,000 to 300,000 pounds thrust.

The new stand will accommodate engines much larger than any envisioned for the Navy in the recent Department of Defense order giving the Air Force jurisdiction over big rocket engines capable of boosting vehicles into space.

The Navy announcement said the stand "was designed with an eye to future, and presently unknown, propulsion systems."

The test bay of the new facility, the Navy said, is 35 feet long, 30 feet wide and can accommodate a rocket engine larger than six feet in diameter, 30 feet in length and weighing up to 100,000 pounds.

The $650,000 installation is ready for firings now and will go into a full scale Polaris test program soon, a spokesman said. "It is designed to handle rockets with an average thrust of one million pounds and a peak thrust of 10 million pounds," the announcement said.

The test facility, which the Navy said is the only one of its kind ever built, may be used by other military services when and if this can be done without interfering with the Polaris program. It is located at the China Lake Naval Ordnance Test Station 150 miles north of Los Angeles.

Missile Maze -- How Bureaucratic Pyramid Grew

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — If red tape were rocket power, the moon might be an American colony today.

At the moment there are some 61 distinct organizations and committees concerned with the space and missile effort.

Some critics contend that this sprawling hodgepodge of agencies is one of the big reasons why the United States is lagging behind the Soviet Union.

Since 1950 the United States has spent about 25 billion dollars on missile and space projects, and by mid-1960 the total will reach 32 billion. But some space scientists, while admitting strain from multibureaucratic control, say they're handicapped by a tight squeeze of funds. Even with red tape eliminated, these sources say, it would be hard to catch up with the Soviets without an infusion of money.

In broadest outline, the missile effort's chain of command runs from President Eisenhower to the Department of Defense and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Defense is responsible for purely military space and satellite projects. NASA is charged with developing missiles and satellites for civilian-scientific use.

But a closer look discloses a more complicated picture.

It starts at the very bottom of the working level and meanders up through laboratories and administrative commands to Congress and the White House—over a course strewn with committees, departments, agencies and counrils. In addition, there are numerous liaison groups, coordinating, advising and criticizing.

All right, then, who's in charge?

NASA, the civilian agency, has access to Defense Department facilities on a cooperative basis. Since the line between a civilian type satellite and a military one is hair-thin, the division of work is purely arbitrary. It's a civilian project if NASA foots the bill, and vice versa.

So the military have done most of NASA's work to date since they have been the only organization with the hardware and support facilities.

This may change. President Eisenhower announced Oct. 21 that the Army's Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., will be taken over by NASA, subject to congressional approval.

How did the bureaucratic pyramid grow?

During World War II the United States, shaken by the German development of V2 guided missiles, embarked on an extensive program to catch up.

After the war ended, the United States took inventory, found it had 40 missile and rocket programs and promptly scrapped 20.

Missile matters rocked along with the three services doing whatever came to mind, if they had the money, until Oct. 24, 1950.

On that date the late Gen. George C. Marshall, then secretary of defense, put the programs under the newly created office of the Director of Guided Missiles.

Marshall's centralized control order remained in effect until Sept. 18, 1953, when a new secretary of defense, Charles E. Wilson, authorized the various military service secretaries to proceed with whatever programs they felt would fit the needs of their particular service.

Everybody apparently went about their business in the conviction that the United States led in missiles and space technology. But on Oct. 4, 1957, the Soviets put the first artificial satellite into orbit, Sputnik I.

This blow to American pride and prestige set the bureaucratic ball to rolling. Some agencies had their names changed and their functions broadened. New ones came into being.

Since Sputnik I there have been millions of words of testimony on the progress, or lack of it, in the missile and space programs.

One of the sharpest looks at the programs to date has come from the House Military Operations subcommittee.

In a report dated Sept. 2, 1959, after noting that in the space and missile field there had been duplication and even triplification of effort, the committee recommended that the Army and Air Force, leaders in the missile and space field, should be reunited.

Since this report; the Air Force has been given sole jurisdiction over military space operations, while NASA is taking over the Army's major space and missile facility for civilian use.

Now if you are still wondering what this missile and space maze really looks like, here goes. This rundown excludes the interested congressional committees, though they appear in the total count.

President Eisenhower is boss of the whole works. He receives advice from the Bureau of the budget, the Federal Council for Science and Technology, the National Aeronautics and Space Council, the President's Science Advisory Board and the National Security Council.

His direct chain of command runs to the Department of Defense and NASA.

Under the Department of Defense there are the office of Defense Research and Engineering, the Advance Research Projects Agency, the Institute for Defense Analysis the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the secretaries of the three services.

Beneath this hierarchy rest the Army, Navy and Air Force. Each has a director of research and development surrounded by a technical staff.

Then there is NASA, which now has acquired the Army Ballistic Missile Agency. It also controls the Jet Propulsion Laboratory near Los Angeles and six other research centers.

Between NASA and the Department of Defense is a high-level civilian-military liaison committee.

Each of the three services also has an assortment of weapons evaluation boards which assess the military missiles for usefulness.

That isn't all of them, but maybe it will give you a rough idea.

There is one other point: most of these agencies can say no to suggestions and ideas, few can say "go ahead."

Study Group To Resume

The Parent-Child Study Group of Columbia Street School will resume its meetings Monday with a session scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

Rocket Engine Tester Ready

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—The Navy recently disclosed completion of a new test stand that can handle rocket engines of one million pounds thrust.

The test stand was built "primarily to test solid propellant rocket engines, current and future, of the Navy's submarine-launched fleet ballistic missile Polaris," a Navy announcement said.

The Polaris is presently designed as an intermediate range ballistic missile with an ultimate range of 1,500 nautical miles. To cover this distance it would need an engine with 250,000 to 300,000 pounds thrust.

The new stand will accommodate engines much larger than any envisioned for the Navy in the recent Department of Defense order giving the Air Force jurisdiction over big rocket engines capable of boosting vehicles into space.

The Navy announcement said the stand "was designed with an eye to future, and presently unknown, propulsion systems."

The test bay of the new facility, the Navy said, is 35 feet long, 30 feet wide and can accommodate a rocket engine larger than six feet in diameter, 30 feet in length and weighing up to 100,000 pounds.

The $650,000 installation is ready for firings now and will go into a full scale Polaris test program soon, a spokesman said. "It is designed to handle rockets with an average thrust of one million pounds and a peak thrust of 10 million pounds," the announcement said.

The test facility, which the Navy said is the only one of its kind ever built, may be used by other military services when and if this can be done without interfering with the Polaris program. It is located at the China Lake Naval Ordnance Test Station 150 miles north of Los Angeles.

CONVICTED IN BLACKMAIL PLOT—Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Swinson hear themselves found guilty in Yanceyville, N. C., in a blackmail plot against Rev. G. A. Hamby. Swinson, 51, a Baptist minister, was sentenced to four years for blackmail, conspiracy and larceny, while Mrs. Swinson, 38, drew 18 months for aiding and abetting him. Hamby testified that his colleague's wife enticed him to bed and then her husband attacked him after a flash bulb went off. He said he gave the accused a $650 check for a down payment on a new auto.

County School Bus Drivers Start Own Safety Plan

A long range, concentrated safety program has been undertaken by the Allegany County School Bus Contractors Association in conjunction with the Allegany County Board of Education, a spokesman for the organization said yesterday.

Emphasis on school bus safety has been brought about nationally by the tragic accident at the Mountain Lake Park crossing on September 10 when seven Deer Park area children were killed when their vehicle was struck by a B&O passenger train.

Miller Bowen, local attorney and spokesman for the county organization, pointed out that the safety survey is being conducted among the drivers and operators.

Each driver, he said, will make notations of safety suggestions for his route. These recommendations will cover location of stops, grade crossings, etc.

When all are completed, the questionnaires will be screened by a group of officers and directors of the bus operators association. Recommendations will be discussed with the Board of Education.

The four men selected are from various type routes, such as city, rural or combination of the two.

All of them have at least 20 years experience and represent the small and large operators as far as number of vehicles owned are concerned.

They are, with the number of buses operated, William Collins, ten; John Cassen, six; Lester Chapman, four; and Leo Logsdon, one.

In addition, the bus operators will have a safety program for drivers conducted here on November 30 and December 1 by a national insurance company.

Following that will be a public meeting which will have a panel composed of representatives of the Board of Education, Maryland State Police, Department of Motor Vehicles which participates in the inspection of the buses, the safety officer of the Allegany County Council of Parents and Teachers and any interested PTA or parent group.

In adultion, training films for passengers in school buses will be obtained and Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, has authorized their showing in all schools.

Bowen pointed out that Allegany County has one of the best safety records in the state as far as its school bus system is concerned.

However, he added, safety is a continual program which involves education of the public, pupils and drivers.

Park Geysers 'Mixed-Up' Following Earthquake

By GEORGE COFFEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Yellowstone National Park—home of the geysers — has been a crazy, mixed-up place ever since that earthquake last August. Even old "Clepsydra" has been acting up.

The quake, one of the most violent in U. S. history, rattled the countryside so badly that the park's underground plumbing system was thoroughly disrupted.

Grand Geyser, which formerly spewed hot water and steam 200 feet every eight to ten hours, has been reduced to the size of a water fountain spurt.

Sapphire Pool, once a listless geyser which bubbled up a scant six or seven feet, has been blowing dramatically 150 feet into the air.

Clepsydra Geyser, named after the Greek word for "water clock," once was a listless performer, but has been in almost constant eruption since the big temblor. It went as high as 100 feet immediately after the quake and has since maintained a 40-50 feet spout.

All told, about 100 hot springs erupted for the first time after the quake. Some have continued to play periodically.

Reports of the unusual geyser activity came from National Geographic Society and National Park Service observers who have been in Yellowstone recently.

Norman Herkenham, a Park Service naturalist who spent a month inspecting the area, said the ups-and-downs of geysers was only one example of the quake-induced changes.

Herkenham said the temperature of pools in Yellowstone has 20 to 30 degrees Fahrenheit. Some have been brought up to about 200 degrees, well over the boiling point for water in that high altitude, he said.

The Park Service official said the quake also pushed countless little mud cones up out of the earth, all of them potential geysers. One group of new protrusions "completely ruined" a paved parking area near "Fountain Paint Pot" in the Lower Geyser Basin, Herkenham said.

Three out of four persons in the United States play cards, according to a recent survey.

Some Stores In Section Halt Sale Of Cranberries

The reaction to the report by the federal government that West Coast supplies of cranberries had been sprayed with a risky weed killer was varied in Cumberland.

The Allegany County Health Department reported only one inquiry concerning the cranberry situation and the advisability of eating the food.

One restaurant in downtown Cumberland reported it is holding up serving cranberries until the situation is clarified. The cranberries are served only with turkey dinners, the restaurant added. Another eating place continues to serve cranberries with chicken and turkey dinners and the patrons consume the cranberries in most cases, it was stated.

Markets of the large food chains have withdrawn the cranberries from sale until notified to resume their sale by company officials.

Wholesale food companies said cranberries sold in this section come from Massachusetts and New Jersey and these areas are not included in the government's listing of the weed spray sections.

Many years ago cranberries were sold mostly during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday periods, but in recent years their sale has been on a year-around basis. Better packaging, canning and freezing of the cranberries has caused this year-around business.

Persons who are cancer conscious are not buying or using cranberries. There has been a report that the weed spray used on the West Coast cranberries is a chemical which has produced cancer in rats.

Cafeterias in public schools will not serve cranberries with the traditional Thanksgiving turkey dinner due to the report by the federal government.

Wiley Ford Church To Hold Revival

The Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren will hold a series of revival services starting Sunday at 7:30 p. m. and continuing through November 22.

Rev. Louis D. Bloom, pastor, will be the evangelist. His topics will include "I Haven't Time", "A Wonderful Mission", "Denying Him", "Zachaeaus", "Cost of Discipleship", "The Cost of Following Satan", "The Devil's Tricks" and "Loyalty".

A number of visiting groups will provide music. The final day of the program will include the "Love Feast and Holy Communion".

Rev. Bloom assumed the Wiley Ford pastorate September 1 and prior to that had served in Merriam, Ind., Nanty Glo, Pa., and Reistertown, Md.

Earliest settlers in Delaware were by Dutch and Swedes.

Men Outnumbered In West Germany By 3,500,000

By JOHN A. CALLCOTT
United Press International

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — For the men of West Germany, it's a buyer's market.

With women outnumbering men by nearly 3,500,000, the males have it much their own way in Europe's most "lonely - hearted" nation.

Although marriage bureau business is booming and newspaper "lonely hearts" columns are crowded, the nation's women surplus is causing deep concern.

More women than men commit suicide; more marriages are broken up because of the husband's rather than the wife's infidelity, and "telephone priests" have four times as many women callers as men.

Although not all of the extra 3,439,400 women can be considered unmarriageable (1,200,000 are widows over 70, the figures are frightening enough.

As against 3,375,000 unmarried men between the ages of 20 and 60 for example there are 4,500,000 unmarried women in the same age group—leaving 1,125,000 hopeless "old maids."

The main reason for the oversupply of females is the war. According to official government figures, 3,050,000 German soldiers died in World War II.

One result of the whole situation is an increase in immorality.

Recently, the Allensbach Public Opinion Institute conducted a poll in which a representative group of men and women was asked the following question:

"Do you consider intimate relations between unmarried persons are necessary and permissible"

Of the males asked, 76 per cent answered "yes," and 66 per cent of the women agreed.

When asked if they "sympathized" with persons conducting such relationships, 98 per cent of those polled said they did.

This moral question worries German church leaders. In an effort to aid those women who are depressed because they believe they have little chance of finding a husband, Germany's Evangelical Church has established special "telephone priests" in major cities.

In one city, Hamburg, priests receive more than 300 calls a month from women who are in need of advice and comfort.

But the number of calls from men is small, church officials said.

Many married women also are worried about the abundance of available females. They fear their own marriages can too easily be undermined by them.

But officials have found some, though not much, comfort in the latest population figures.

Between last April and June, the country's male population increased by .34 per cent, while the female population rose only .25 per cent.

The charmer isn't insistent about showing all she knows

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It Isn't Bright To Be Right All The Time!

The Miss Know-It-All's of this world have a hard time of it. They're so difficult to like.

It helps little that many of them have the best of intentions, and truly enough knowledge and judgment to be as helpful as they want to be. Nobody enjoys being corrected, or told what to do. Nobody has a warm feeling for lofty Miss Know-It-All except to be hot under the collar. It's lonely up there on that high and mighty perch.

I've just had a talk with a young woman who says she was once a Miss Know-it-All, but was lucky. A day came when she was so on the outside looking in that she made a world-rocking discovery.

The same bright mind that gave her all the answers warned her that nobody wanted them, at least not from someone who behaved as if she never made a mistake and wouldn't let anyone else make one either. Her attitude pulled up short, and she learned when to sparkle and when to dim her lights. I can tell you that she's a charmer now, no matter how far from it she says she used to be. And here are pointers I noted as she told of her experience:

Learn to listen. Other people aren't as far wrong as you think they are—you just never found out because everybody tired of trying to talk to you.

Try somebody else's idea. There may be something to it, and people will stop saying that nobody can tell you anything.

Face inadequacies you're bound to have, no matter how well you hide them. Could be you're obnoxious about some things because you're unsure of yourself in others. Work on other faults while trying to live down a smarty reputation.

Never pretend to be a lesser person than you are to try to be popular. Just give your confidence quiet everyday manners and postpone the showing of what you know and can do until the time and company are right.

TOMORROW: Walks to Benefit Eyes.

You are welcome, free of charge, to the reminder card, TEN SECRETS OF CHARM. It lists ten points to remember as milestones along the road to greater charm. Write to Secrets of Charm in c/o of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Try somebody else's idea. There may be something to it, and people will stop saying that nobody can tell you anything.

Face inadequacies you're bound to have, no matter how well you hide them. Could be you're obnoxious about some things because you're unsure of yourself in others. Work on other faults while trying to live down a smarty reputation.

Never pretend to be a lesser person than you are to try to be popular. Just give your confidence quiet everyday manners and postpone the showing of what you know and can do until the time and company are right.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been spending a great deal of time with a gentleman, 41. He has never been married. I am 30 and lost my husband three years ago in an accident.

Phil lives with a maiden aunt who seems to rule his life. He has told me she's domineering, selfish and "half baked." Yet he brings her along on most of our dates (she has a lovely car) and he asks her advice on everything.

Last night he broke a date (at the last moment) because Auntie didn't feel well and he wanted to keep her company. I was annoyed and said so.

Today we had a talk. He said if he plays his cards right he'll inherit everything (which is considerable), that he's put years into this "project" and if I'm too "shortsighted" to see it, I should forget about him. What do you think? — ALICE

DEAR ALICE: He gave you good advice. Forget about him. A man who would make a career out of buttering up a rich relative in hopes of cashing in on her death, is third-rate. He told you how he really feels about the old girl, and it doesn't square with the attention he lavishes on her, which means he's a phony.

Sometimes these maiden aunts surprise everyone and leave their million bucks to the cat. I don't wish Phil any bad luck, but it would serve him right.

DEAR ANN: I wouldn't dare sign my name to this — or even mail it from my hometown, so I'm driving quite a distance to drop it in an out-of-town mailbox.

We have a darling 16-year-old daughter. For the past year, whenever my husband comes from work the first words out of his mouth are "Where's Patsy?" When he leaves in the morning, he kisses HER goodbye first. I suspect she thoroughly enjoys being Number One. I'm hurt and embarrassed when he puts me second. Shall I speak to him? — DISPLACED PERSON

DEAR DISPLACED PERSON: Your signature tells me more than your letter.

Say nothing. Be content that there is a good relationship between your husband and daughter, and don't create a problem where none exists.

Every young girl's first beau is her Daddy. And there's always two-cents worth of competitiveness, in a variety of areas, between a mother and daughter. Daddy is often the unnamed battlefield on which they fight a subconscious war.

As Patsy becomes more interested in boy friends, she'll be less "Daddy's girl." You must live through this 16-year-old stage as you've lived through the others.

DEAR ANN: My wife drives me nuts. Our 10-year-old son is going to grow up to be a sissy if something isn't done. Maybe you can help me before it's too late.

We live nine blocks from the school. She insists on getting up an hour early so she can drive me to work, take the car and haul this healthy kid to school. How about this? — MAD DAD

DEAR MAD: You have a right to insist she stop this nonsense. When he's 15 he'll probably refuse to walk from the parking lot to the high school. Then what'll she do?

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Then she asked for compensation for two cups of sugar used in the cooking. She also got that.

Church To Hospital

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Ludwig Hintner, 33, a farmhand, made the mistake of falling asleep in church. When he awoke the service was over and the church door locked. He climbed the steeple to call for help. Hintner brushed against the bell, its peal startled him and he fell 90 feet to the ground. He's hospitalized with numerous bone fractures.

Kansas Has Unique Program To Help Mentally Ill In State

By ED CHINNOCK

United Press International

TOPEKA, Kansas (UPI) — Tradition has it that a "state hospital" is overcrowded, understaffed and a dead-end street for the mentally ill, but Kansas has proved otherwise.

This state has created a mental health program that is unique in the nation. Other states are studying it with a view toward adopting at least some of its features.

Ten years ago, an inspector made a study of the state hospital in Topeka. Kansans shuddered his report. He told of 1,800 patients being treated by three doctors, one nurse and 116 unschooled attendants.

There was a "penal atmosphere" in the old, condemned buildings, he said, and you could sense an air of "utter hopelessness" among the patients and staff.

If the inspector were to go back today he would find that:

Kansas mental institutions are now more adequately staffed than any in the country.

Mental patients go home from the Kansas hospital at a greater rate than those in any other state.

The average population in state hospitals has been reduced from 5,231 in 1947 to 3,937 today.

Behind this spectacular improvement in the Kansas mental health program is public awareness of a problem which many citizens turn their back on. Dr. George Jackson, director of state institutions says, "Kansas got a good mental health program when the community woke up and saw that the mentally ill could be cured."

The break came in 1949, when the Kansas legislature voted the greatest appropriation in state history for the mentally disturbed. Widespread publicity about the sad state of mental patients had paved the way.

The state agreed to spend $1,000,000 a year for training psychiatric personnel. Two "plans" have been developed to attract competent therapists to the state.

Psychiatrists can sign up for a five-year plan or a three-year plan. (They are pretty much alike except, of course, for their duration. And the pay is higher under the five-year plan as an added inducement.)

Under the five-year plan, a psychiatrist spends 18 months at the Topeka state hospital, goes to either the Larned or Osawatomie hospital for two years, and then returns to Topeka for another 18 months.

These trainees do much the same work as staff psychiatrists, but they are closely supervised. All of them are students at the Menninger Clinic, the famous private hospital and psychiatric training school at Topeka.

When Kansas set out to revamp its mental health program 10 years ago it adopted the theme, "Brains before bricks." The addition of "brains" has been largely accomplished.

Now the program is moving into its second phase, the "bricks." A massive construction program is being started to replace bleak hospital buildings with modern and more cheerful quarters for the mentally ill.

Dr. Murray Named To Chiropractic Unit

Dr. Jack L. Murray, local chiropractor, was named to the board of directors of Maryland Chiropractic Association at the annual convention held recently in Hagerstown.

Other chiropractors from this area who attended the two-day meeting were Dr. Adam D. Baer and Dr. Richard G. Harnish, both of Frostburg; Dr. Harry E. Deschamps, Hancock; Dr. John J. Dormio, Grantsville; Dr. Lowell M. Williams, Westernport; and Dr. Rita E. Brizzee, Dr. Eilert W. Larson, Dr. Harold S. Malin and Dr. Murray, all of Cumberland.

TOPEKA, Kansas (UPI) — Tradition has it that a "state hospital" is overcrowded, understaffed and a dead-end street for the mentally ill, but Kansas has proved otherwise.

This state has created a mental health program that is unique in the nation. Other states are studying it with a view toward adopting at least some of its features.

Ten years ago, an inspector made a study of the state hospital in Topeka. Kansans shuddered his report. He told of 1,800 patients being treated by three doctors, one nurse and 116 unschooled attendants.

There was a "penal atmosphere" in the old, condemned buildings, he said, and you could sense an air of "utter hopelessness" among the patients and staff.

If the inspector were to go back today he would find that:

Kansas mental institutions are now more adequately staffed than any in the country.

Mental patients go home from the Kansas hospital at a greater rate than those in any other state.

The average population in state hospitals has been reduced from 5,231 in 1947 to 3,937 today.

Behind this spectacular improvement in the Kansas mental health program is public awareness of a problem which many citizens turn their back on. Dr. George Jackson, director of state institutions says, "Kansas got a good mental health program when the community woke up and saw that the mentally ill could be cured."

The break came in 1949, when the Kansas legislature voted the greatest appropriation in state history for the mentally disturbed. Widespread publicity about the sad state of mental patients had paved the way.

The state agreed to spend $1,000,000 a year for training psychiatric personnel. Two "plans" have been developed to attract competent therapists to the state.

Psychiatrists can sign up for a five-year plan or a three-year plan. (They are pretty much alike except, of course, for their duration. And the pay is higher under the five-year plan as an added inducement.)

Under the five-year plan, a psychiatrist spends 18 months at the Topeka state hospital, goes to either the Larned or Osawatomie hospital for two years, and then returns to Topeka for another 18 months.

These trainees do much the same work as staff psychiatrists, but they are closely supervised. All of them are students at the Menninger Clinic, the famous private hospital and psychiatric training school at Topeka.

When Kansas set out to revamp its mental health program 10 years ago it adopted the theme, "Brains before bricks." The addition of "brains" has been largely accomplished.

Now the program is moving into its second phase, the "bricks." A massive construction program is being started to replace bleak hospital buildings with modern and more cheerful quarters for the mentally ill.

Dr. Murray Named To Chiropractic Unit

Dr. Jack L. Murray, local chiropractor, was named to the board of directors of Maryland Chiropractic Association at the annual convention held recently in Hagerstown.

Other chiropractors from this area who attended the two-day meeting were Dr. Adam D. Baer and Dr. Richard G. Harnish, both of Frostburg; Dr. Harry E. Deschamps, Hancock; Dr. John J. Dormio, Grantsville; Dr. Lowell M. Williams, Westernport; and Dr. Rita E. Brinker, Dr. Eilert W. Larson, Dr. Harold S. Malin and Dr. Murray, all of Cumberland.

He is survived by his widow, Maude M. (Housan) Rolfe; two grandchildren, James Turley, of here, and William Turley, York, Pa., and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Monday in St. George Church by Rev. Lawrence C. Butler, rector. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

WILLIAM P. DeBERRY

OAKLAND—William P. DeBerry, 88, died yesterday at his home near here after an illness of several years.

Born in Garrett County, he was a son of the late Clark and Jane (Fredlock) DeBerry. A retired farmer, Mr. DeBerry was a member of the Methodist Church.

Surviving are his widow, Nina (Foster) DeBerry; six children, Miss Anna DeBerry, Mrs. Margaret J. Towne, Richard and Robert DeBerry, all at home; Mrs. Virginia Lohr, Friendsville, and William DeBerry, Oakland; 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Leighton Funeral Home, where services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. by Rev. Charles Godwin, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church. Burial will be in the DeBerry Family Cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

MRS. GEORGE H. KNEPP

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Phoebe Ellen Knepp, 56, wife of George H. Knepp, of 50½ Ormond Street, was pronounced dead on arrival yesterday at Miners Hospital.

Born at Stillwater, Pa., she was a daughter of the late Emmanuel and Sarah (Hess) Coleman.

She was a member of Zion United Church of Christ and the Ladies Guild of the church.

Surviving besides her husband are two daughters, Mrs. Charles Lashley, of here, and Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Westernport; a son, John Knepp, Mt. Savage; three sisters, Mrs. Henry Rizer, Zihlman, Mrs. Martha Davis, Clarysville, and Miss Pauline Coleman, Seattle, Wash.; one brother, Otis Coleman, of here, and seven grandchildren.

The body is at the Durst Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

MRS. I. J. RADABAUGH

MORGANTOWN — Mrs. Edna Radabaugh, 47, wife of Ira James Radabaugh, of here, long active in Republican and nursing circles, died Monday after a lingering illness.

Born March 12, 1912, in Friendsville, Md., she was a daughter of Earl and Bertha (Friend) Bishop.

Mrs. Radabaugh was a member of the County Executive Committee and a practical nurse. She also belonged to The 13 Club and was a member of Sabra Methodist Church.

Survivors, besides her husband and parents, include a son, Donald Radabaugh; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Hess; three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, and Mrs. Paul Cuppett, Brandonville, W. Va., and Mrs. Ray Radabaugh, Masontown, W. Va., one brother, Paul Bishop, Livingston, Tex., and one grandson.

Interment was in Mt. Zion Cemetery, Preston County.

A survey by the Health Insurance Institute found that 70 per cent of all patients admitted to hospitals in the U.S. stay seven days or less, 88 per cent 14 days or less and 96 per cent 30 days or less.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Oscar - winner Susan Hayward has agreed to star in "Back Street" for producer Ross Hunter at U-I. But when the Fannie Hurst novel comes to the screen for the third time (Irene Dunne made the original, Margaret Sullivan the second) you won't recognize it.

"The emotional story of the woman who lives in the background of the life of the married man she loves has been completely changed," Ross tells me. "It has a foreign flavor and will be shot in Rome and Paris." He leaves Dec. 1 on a 10-day trip to Europe to line up locations and arrange for studio space.

One reason for the hurried flight is that Ross wants to be back before Christmas to keep an eye on "Portrait in Black," with Lana Turner. Hunter's new deal with U-I has not yet been signed—but it will be this week. It elevates him to the status of an independent producer with a percentage cut in his films. I'd like a percentage cut on his "Pillow Talk" or "Imitation of Life."

Can't you just see Tom Ewell as the public relations expert in "The Billionaire," who introduces Marilyn Monroe in a bank to the billionaire, played by Gregory Peck! Tom's role as Marilyn's press agent is a featured one and as important as that of Gregory and goes all through the story.

With that dead-pan of Tom's, which always makes me laugh just to look at him, he'll be an asset. He was so funny in "Gazebo" that he had everyone roaring with laughter. The last time Tom was on the 20th Century-Fox lot was for "a nice little bank that should be robbed." He reports to Jerry Wald for his new film this week.

With 17 pounds off her chassis, Shelley Winters is ready for "Let No Man Write My Epitaph" at Columbia. Ran into Shelley having dinner at the Vine Street Brown Derby, and told her some news about her own movie: Ricardo Montalban had just been signed to play the despicable killer and peddler of narcotics — which is certainly a switch for the romantic Ric. It's his first film since a long successful run on Broadway in "Jamaica."

Shelley was dining with Tony Franciosa, Tony's mother, Mrs. Jean Franciosa, and his aunt, Mrs. Sue Le Port. The relatives were wide-eyed over the celebrities Lucille Ball, the Gregory Pecks, Cobina Wright and others dining at the Derby before the opening of Yves Montand in his one-man show across the street.

Getting back to "Epitaph," in addition to Ricardo and Shelley, the cast also includes Burl Ives, Jean Seberg, and young Jimmy Darren, who by the way, was very good on Bob Hope's TV show.

A few days ago Jacques Bergerac told me than when he goes to Australia Dorothy Malone will go with him, but that she will not appear in "Once More With Feeling" with him as she did when they went on tour right after their honeymoon.

Jacques told me he will make a picture in Australia, "The Black Sheep," for J. Arthur Rank. "And I am happy," he added, "because John Sloan, who directed my very first picture, will direct me again."

With four daughters in the family Robert Young said when he was told that his daughter Carol had a baby girl—"I'm so glad, because I wouldn't know what to do with a boy."

Betty (Mrs. Young) was all dressed up in her best finery to go to a USC alumni meeting, when the word came that Carol had gone to the hospital. Evening clothes and all, Betty and Bob dashed to the hospital. Never was a baby as welcome as this first grandchild of "Father Knows Best," which Betty and Bob swear is a beauty. Carol and her husband, Arthur Proffitt, will have to worry about little Katherine Anne being spiled.

British producer Ivan Foxwell's visit to Hollywood has been very profitable. He has arranged with Paramount to distribute his movie "A Touch of Larceny" which stars James Mason, Vera Miles and George Sanders. Furthermore Foxwell has made a deal for another Paramount picture to be filmed in Hollywood. He is the fifth producer to be signed by Paramount within a month.

"The stories we choose must be mutually satisfactory," Foxwell told me when I talked with him. "My wife and I return in February for other paramount conferences and for the premiere of 'Larceny' which opens in London and New York."

Merle Oberon told me that Lady Edith Foxwell, Ivan's wife, is very popular in London, and will be an asset to our town.

What's new for spring, toots? Spring, you say? We haven't even started winter?

Well, Eleanor Berkson, who is here for the California fashion shows, says that silks will be the thing. Eleanor, who in public life is Eleanor Lambert, says that California has advanced by leaps and bounds in the fashion world.

"I put it down to the motion picture stars," she said. "A few years ago there were very few important clothing manufacturers in California. Today there are many, several of whom compete with the fashion marts of the world."

"Non-Alignment" Policy Is Tested

Prime Minister Nehru of India is in danger of bogging down in the mire of his own fallacy. His neutralist position is being challenged by Chinese aggression to the point where he may have to fight to maintain it, which, of course, means that he can no longer maintain it.

In an attempt to salvage logic, Nehru is now emphasizing "non-alignment" instead of neutrality and has suggested that India is quite able to look after itself. One can only hope that he is right. The alternative might be a world holocaust.

Neutrality is a middle position, implying disinterest. Where two combatants are fighting over an issue it is possible though difficult. When it is aggression and defense against aggression it becomes impossible.

It is the position in which NATO countries have declared that they will not be placed again if there is aggression against any one of their partner nations. They are not raising an issue of East against West or communist against non-communist, but preservation of peace through deterrent strength.

It is this bald, simple fact which the Sino-Indian border dispute must be bringing home to the peace-loving Nehru.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

What Is Television?

The excitement over cheating on the quiz programs has raised more of a hub-bub than anyone anticipated. Curiously, the complaints are mixed. Many are disappointed at the cheating; many are hurt that such nice people got caught.

Television and radio are very different from the press. A newspaper is a private property which exists for diverse reasons. Some newspapers are founded and continue to exist only to earn money for their owners. Some are founded to present an ideal, a belief, a prejudice to the public. Some represent the views of a political party. Some cater to the literate; some to those who enjoy pictures more than letterpress. Some are devoted to a particular class like bankers and stockholders or are owned by a labor union.

Because much of the news from Washington reaches the public as governmental hand-outs, a large number of small sheets, some mimeographed, some representing particular points of view are being issued, new ones appearing all the time. Most of them are useless but some are quite informative.

Radio and television are different. They are licensed by the government and their principal asset is this government permit. (This applies to the stations, not the networks. The public receives television from a licensed station.) The license is never granted without the proviso that they must perform a public service as well as earn more for their stockholders. They are therefore not altogether free enterprises by a strictly capitalistic definition. They are licensed enterprises, existing by the grace of a department of government which may withdraw their licenses.

Dr. Frank Stanton of the Columbia Broadcasting System views this subject more realistically than his compeers. Instead of providing alibis and trying to explain away what has happened, he has faced the situation squarely, assumed full responsibility for the faulty practises and suggested some possible corrections. He has not dodged the moral issue.

Two general proposals have been made:

1. That the government police television;
2. That a "czar" be appointed, as there is in baseball. This suggestion comes from Senator Jacob Javits of New York.

Both suggestions miss the poinf, which is that radio and television have failed to recognize that these are licensed industries; that they are not the press, although they do provide a modicum of news and some editorial comment; that because they are licensed, they cannot depend solely upon their own private judgment and that a government agency, the Federal Communications Commission, does exist which is responsible for licensing them and therefore, ipso facto, should watch what occurs.

The real weakness of the television industry is that it relinquished control of much of the material that is used on television. Separate companies came into existence to prepare material for television. At the time that the Communists were being cleared out of the motion picture industry, they took refuge in television and those who were closest to the work in this field, found it practically impossible to deal with anyone in authority. The networks were leasing their time not only to advertising agencies but to production companies and responsibility became so diffused that it could not be found.

Often when this subject was discussed, back in the early years of this decade, there were those who prognosticated that sooner or later there would be trouble because some advertising agency or producing company would pull a fast one which would do to television what the White Sox scandal did to baseball.

Dr. Stanton is to be commended for assuming responsibility but the point must also be made that he and other radio and television executives are responsible whether they assume it or not and they must be held responsible no matter what they say about it.

Cheating on quiz shows is not the only defect of television. A greater one is the paucity of free discussion of public questions. The technique of having a few newspapermen ask questions of someone in the news may be a simple format, but it is not uncensored, unrehearsed, free debate, which is difficult to do and possibly dangerous because of slander and libel, but it can be done if responsible men are willing to undertake it. The best programs on radio were the America's Town Meeting of the Air and the American Forum and they served America well during the critical pre-war and war periods. No such programs appear on television.

CBS Failed To Police TV Commercials Of G. M., Libbey-Owens Ford

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There's an untold, highly significant story behind the recent crackdown on General Motors and Libbey-Owens Ford by the Federal Trade Commission for putting deceptive TV commercials across on the public.

The Trade Commission, after investigating the GM-Libbey-Owens claim that other auto glass had wavy lines and distorted vision, ruled that the commercials were deceptive and gave official notice that they would have to be stopped. The commission found that the photos of Libbey-Owens Ford auto windows had been taken with the glass rolled down.

This has now been officially announced. What wasn't announced, however, was what the Columbia Broadcasting System did—or failed to do—regarding the commercials.

CBS has been the bellwether in demanding a cleanup of the networks. Counsel Thomas K. Fisher and president Frank Stanton have said they knew nothing about chicanery on the quiz programs; yet when the Better Business Bureau called another type of chicanery—the GM-Libbey-Owens Ford commercials—to their attention, there was no cleanup.

CBS appointed investigators to check the commercials. But after reviewing the facts it informed the Better Business Bureau it was satisfied the commercials were genuine and there had been no camera trickery.

Now the Federal Trade Commission has ruled just the opposite.

Exit Pearson's Females

I went into the barn yesterday to say good-bye to my cows. It made me kind of sad. They're going to be sold next Monday and I felt as if I was selling them down the river.

Most people would claim they don't know they're being sold. But cows are more intelligent than city folks realize and certainly they know something's going on. Because they've had their hair cut, their tails frilled and have been innoculated for shipping fever and other things that a cow has to be subjected to when they're about to change owners.

So they gave me sort of a curious, hurt stare as if they weren't quite sure of my loyalty.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who is a record producer, and has several daughters and granddaughters also record producers, didn't seem to care much. She can take anything in her stride. Mrs. Truman looked reasonably calm. But Mamie was quite nervous.

I used to name the cows for important ladies in Washington and members of my family. The twin cows are named "Mrs. P" for my wife and "Francesca" for my sister-in-law, and for years those two cows stuck right together in adjacent stanchions. If another cow got into one of their stanchions by mistake, she had to be pushed out. Those two sisters stood right together.

So you can't tell me that cows don't have sense. They come into the barn as regular as clockwork. Daylight saving never bothers them. They get to know those who milk them so well that once when a storm cut off the electric current and we had to milk by hand, they would let only one man—the dairyman—milk them. When other farm hands tried to help him they kicked over the milk bucket.

Harry Truman is taking the sale in his stride, however. He started out a very docile, beautiful young bull when I named him at the same time Mr. Truman gave a name to me. But as he's grown older he seems to try to live up to his name. We had to give him tranquilizing pills in order to get a new ring in his nose. He's very hard to handle.

Most of the cows were raised on the place, and I have known them since they were calves. And I've known their mothers and grandmothers. So I'll be sorry to see them go. However, with brother Benson dropping the price of milk a dollar a can to the farmer, and with Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters raising the price of milk to the housewife, the dairy farmer is out of luck.

I shall miss the munching sound of the herd going over a new pasture of a summer evening and the wonderful odor of a full barn of a winter night, and even the smell of manure as it comes floating down from the barn on an evening in spring. But next week the barn will be empty and the milk truck will call no more.

Labor Leaders Out Of Touch With Public Opinion

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Judging by their speeches and comments, many of the prominent leaders of union labor have never been more out of touch with the temper of the workers and with public opinion generally than they are today.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, for instance, referring to the injunction in the steel strike, has just said to a convention of labor unions:

"If a law can compel a worker to work against his will, in my book it's a slave labor law."

But isn't it a "slave labor law" when an American citizen wants to work but is forbidden to do so unless he joins a union? This section of the Taft-Hartley Law has been a boon to labor-union growth, and applies in all states except a few which have enacted "right-to-work" laws to emancipate the workers.

What Mr. Meany and other labor leaders really object to is any law that isn't administered in favor of the labor unions. The President of the United States is required under the Taft-Hartley Act to invoke an injunction for 80 days when there is a national emergency due to a strike, but there is nothing in the law that says he must favor either side or settle the strike with a victory for one side over the other.

Yet Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers, who seems to think that the President can favor either side by the use of an injunction, has just issued an attack on the personal integrity of President Eisenhower. In a speech to the same convention at which Mr. Meany spoke, Mr. Mazey said that Mr. Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley injunction as a "political pay-off" and cited campaign contributions by various steel men as the motivation. The implication was that the President was influenced by this in declaring a national emergency. Such an accusation will not be given credence by the public. The White House has denounced it as "demagoguery." The gratuitous attack on the President for doing his duty is the type of blunder the labor leaders make nowadays because they think they have the upper hand not only with the workers but with the public, too.

What the labor leaders are unwilling to concede is that they been using monopoly power to close down an industry. R. Conrad Cooper, who is chief negotiator for the steel companies in the negotiations with the unions, has put his finger on the absolutism of a labor leader today. In a speech last Friday he said:

"No man in the management of any steel company—no matter how large the company, or how high the office he may hold—can shut down the American steel industry and deprive the American people of the products of its mills. Nor can any single individual in government do so—not even the President of the United States.

"No, among all the 170,000,000 people in America there is only one man who can choke off our nation's steel supply at will, and that man is the President of the steelworkers union. That is a power which he alone can exercise; and it is a power which he has exercised in every steel wage negotiation that has occurred in the past five years."

An example of the arbitrariness of the leader of the steelworkers union, David McDonald, came this week when he said in a speech that the union would not grant concessions to steel firms which have not junked all obsolete mills and machinery. He added:

"We will show no mercy to those companies who are laggards and do not engage in research or modernize but would make profits at the expense of the steelworkers . . . They have no right to exist in a modern world such as ours."

This disregards the individual capacity of a company to earn enough money so it can eventually replace obsolete equipment. It threatens the continued existence of companies of which labor unions disapprove.

The crux of the labor-management problem today is industry-wide bargaining. Congress has never come to grips with this issue. Thus, it would do no good to forbid employers to band together into a single committee to handle all their negotiations, because the real power is usually vested in a national union that controls the workers in all plants. Even if the employers, moreover, were forbidden to confer with each other on strike issues or negotiate in concert and make industry agreements, the national union could strike first one plant and then another and gradually shut down an industry with demands that uniform wage rates be paid, irrespective of the size of a company or its capacity to pay.

There can be no objection to the formation of national associations of labor unions to discuss union problems, but where they attempt to exercise power by ordering strikes that local unions may not wish to undertake or by insisting on uniform expiration dates of contracts, the monopoly power is complete.

This is going to be the big issue in the new legislation Congress will be asked to pass at its next session.

A Legal Roadblock

A motorist westbound on Route 40 sails gaily along a dual highway as handsome as any in Maryland — until he reaches Frederick. Beyond there the road shrinks to single width and at Hancock turns positively tortuous. So also on the Eastern Shore, south of Wye Mills, Route 50's dual lanes largely disappear, leaving the rest an unsatisfactory patchwork of two-lane, four-lane confusion to the coast. Though these two thoroughfares — the Frederick - Hagerstown - Cumberland link, and the Bay Bridge-Ocean City road — serve an enormous amount of traffic their weaknesses evidently cannot be remedied for several years.

The obstacle facing the Roads Commission planners is a largely parochial one placed two years ago in the law governing the 12-year program. Hatched by the smaller counties, this provision forbids that any starts be made on projects specified in the second four-year phase of the program until first-phase projects in all counties are brought up to a State-wide average. Here is the rub: 15 of the 23 counties are still below average on first-phase projects. Until they are caught up, probably a year hence, no work can be started on completing the arterial routes mentioned above because these extensions are programmed for the second and even third phases of the overall program. They simply have to wait.

The legal quirk originates in chronic small-county distrust of a centrally directed roads system, specifically in rural preference for local roads over a cross-county, or even a State-wide network. It is a quirk, however, which tends to stifle broad planning and which now is beginning to bring complaints from local interests themselves.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

They were here all afternoon and evening and now it is 9 p. m. and they've gone home to daddy. I speak for all grandparents, I think, when I say that we can actually see babies grow. That's because we do not see them often.

The twin girls—Robin and Pamela—are 15 months old. Jim Bishop Frechette is 10 weeks old. The girls are identical ash blondes and, in red leotards and plaid skirts, they look like miniature beer barrels. They weigh 22 pounds apiece, and they can say a few words like dada, popop, brother, Gayle, and mommy. At that, it is necessary to know the word that's coming to understand it.

They are as much alike as a face in a mirror, but I know how to tell them apart. If I hand a rubber toy to one, and the other one tries to snatch it, the snatcher is Pamela. The one who bursts into tears and then hauls off and belts her sister is Robin. This is used only when I don't know which one already had the vitamin pill.

They love music. When the hi-fi is on, and they are in the playpen, they bob and weave like a pair of cobras in a basket. This, I have been given to understand, is rhythm. They also love to eat. When I see Ginny spoon-feeding them with that glop, I turn away. So does our dog Rocky, and he was never particular.

Rocky is a big black police dog and he suffers the presence of the babies as the Christian martyrs enjoyed a visit with the lions. They rub his back, try to hide little objects in his ears, and make cooing humming sounds as they pat his brown eyeballs. He permits this, but he keeps looking at me with that when-are-they-going-home look.

JB is different. He has auburn hair, a cleft in his chin like his father, a broad, almost slavic face, a deep chest and big feet. He weighs 14 pounds and he has no time for hysterics. Most of JB's time is spent sleeping, or staring at the ceiling making a big O of his mouth. He doesn't cry often, but when he does, JB is hungry. He inbibes a lot of milk and a lot of that warm-colored glop which is so good for the little man of the family.

When his sisters want to show him how much they love him, they press the sides of their heads against his face and murmur "Ahhhh." The "Ahhhh" goes on until they run out of breath.

He resides in a small old-fashioned wooden cradle and, when Virginia Lee isn't watching, they sometimes rock him until his little head spins.

It seems that the last time the twins were here—or perhaps it's the time before—they tried to stand in the playpen and they had to look at me through the bars. Now they stand in it, and lean their elbows on the top rail. Both of them, when paroled, walk through the room in a rocking-horse gaint. Their feet remind me of Charlie Chaplin.

Now and then when Charlie Frechette works late at U. S. Trucking, Ginny and the babies come to Sea Bright, and this was one of those days. Aunt Gayle, who will be 16 this month, takes them to the village and buys presents for the girls.

She is clever at taking care of babies and knows by instinct which type of cry is make-believe and which is serious. She also understands the danger of complete silence when the youngsters are playing. Gayle and I look forward to the visits because, at the twins' age, they are forever learning new things and they are fun to watch.

If Ginny says: "Go love your sister" each of the babies, no matter how busy, will struggle to her feet and go toward the other. They clinch, put one arm around the other back, pat it lightly with fingers, and rub cheeks and say "Ahhhh."

Although they are identical, the girls have different personalities and this shows already. Pamela is serious. She is forever investigating a toy piano, an ashtray, or pointing at something she recognizes and letting out little high-pitched yips. Robin loves fun, loves to be swung high, laughs at anything you do three times in a row, and has a little mother instinct. If she hears JB cry, she drops her play and hurries to mother to tug at her skirt.

Don't let anyone tell you it makes a man feel old to be a grandfather. Tsk, tsk. Such talk.

Modern Diabetic Never Had It So Good

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The modern diabetic never had it so good. His life expectancy is not much different from that of the nondiabetic and the majority work and play without the slightest handicap or suggestion that the disease exists.

This is in sharp contrast to the preinsulin era when diabetics died from coma or other degenerative diseases within 5 to 10 years after the disease developed.

Some keep the condition under control with insulin. Approximately 20 per cent use Orinase or Diabinese pills. The diet is so varied, there is little they cannot eat, provided it is integrated with the rest of the menu.

The diabetic must test the urine at frequent intervals but this no longer is a chore. He dips a special piece of paper into the fluid and the color of the paper offers a rough index of the sugar content. Test tubes and bottles are not needed to make a chemical determination.

Management is not as simple as this for some diabetics, especially the young who are more likely to have a more serious form of the disease. In addition, diabetes is not exactly a handle-it-yourself type of ailment, because the penalty for mismanagement is too high. It is a lifelong disease and the diabetic should learn about the condition from his physician. A few weeks in the hospital is an excellent investment, provided the individual is taught all about the diet and how to care for the condition.

Should the disesae get out of control, certain warning signs appear, such as increasing weakness, weariness, dull headache, insatiable thirst, and vomiting.

There are said to be a million undiagnosed or untreated diabetics in the U. S. A. Neglect will cause some to go into coma; others, to undergo degeneration of the body, leading to premature aging and death. A urinalysis offers the best clew; it is inexpensive and worth having done. Make certain you are not walking about with undiagnosed diabetes.

Dr. Van Dellen will send a list of books on diabetes if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

DAUGHTERS DIFFER

A. B. writes: I have two young daughters. One is small and dainty and the other is large and chunky. What is the reason for such a difference?

REPLY

The combination of genes the youngster inherits plays an important role in the final height and body build. But don't evaluate your girls' physical appearance until they reach maturity. Growth is influenced by diet, health, sleep, and the emotional and glandular makeup. Small children may wind up as the tallest or vice versa.

GIDDY WOMAN

D. W. F. writes: Do you have any printed material on women who, after 30 years of married life, suddenly start chasing around with another man?

No, but the advice to the lovelorn columns often cover this subject.

FAVORITE FOODS

Mrs. P. V. writes: What is there about raw celery that tempts my palate? I can eat about five or six bunches a week.

REPLY

Everyone has cravings for this or that food. Mine is ice cream, but I wish it were celery, for the sake of the waistline.

INVESTIGATE DIARRHEA

T. Z. writes: Could a mental condition cause a person to have loose stools all the time?

REPLY

Not as a rule. Loose stools may occur in a highly nervous, emotionally disturbed individual. But X-rays and stool analyses should be done to rule out more common causes.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT —

A good day starts with hope.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone nquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

"Non-Alignment" Policy Is Tested

Prime Minister Nehru of India is in danger of bogging down in the mire of his own fallacy. His neutralist position is being challenged by Chinese aggression to the point where he may have to fight to maintain it, which, of course, means that he can no longer maintain it.

In an attempt to salvage logic, Nehru is now emphasizing "non-alignment" instead of neutrality and has suggested that India is quite able to look after itself. One can only hope that he is right. The alternative might be a world holocaust.

Neutrality is a middle position, implying disinterest. Where two combatants are fighting over an issue it is possible though difficult. When it is aggression and defense against aggression it becomes impossible.

It is the position in which NATO countries have declared that they will not be placed again if there is aggression against any one of their partner nations. They are not raising an issue of East against West or communist against non-communist, but preservation of peace through deterrent strength.

It is this bald, simple fact which the Sino-Indian border dispute must be bringing home to the peace-loving Nehru.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

What Is Television?

The excitement over cheating on the quiz programs has raised more of a hub-bub than anyone anticipated. Curiously, the complaints are mixed. Many are disappointed at the cheating; many are hurt that such nice people got caught.

Television and radio are very different from the press. A newspaper is a private property which exists for diverse reasons. Some newspapers are founded and continue to exist only to earn money for their owners. Some are founded to present an ideal, a belief, a prejudice to the public. Some represent the views of a political party. Some cater to the literate; some to those who enjoy pictures more than letterpress. Some are devoted to a particular class like bankers and stockholders or are owned by a labor union.

Because much of the news from Washington reaches the public as governmental hand-outs, a large number of small sheets, some mimeographed, some representing particular points of view are being issued, new ones appearing all the time. Most of them are useless but some are quite informative.

Radio and television are different. They are licensed by the government and their principal asset is this government permit. (This applies to the stations, not the networks. The public receives television from a licensed station.) The license is never granted without the proviso that they must perform a public service as well as earn more for their stockholders. They are therefore not altogether free enterprises by a strictly capitalistic definition. They are licensed enterprises, existing by the grace of a department of government which may withdraw their licenses.

Dr. Frank Stanton of the Columbia Broadcasting System views this subject more realistically than his compeers. Instead of providing alibis and trying to explain away what has happened, he has faced the situation squarely, assumed full responsibility for the faulty practises and suggested some possible corrections. He has not dodged the moral issue.

Two general proposals have been made:

1. That the government police television;
2. That a "czar" be appointed, as there is in baseball. This suggestion comes from Senator Jacob Javits of New York.

Both suggestions miss the poinf, which is that radio and television have failed to recognize that these are licensed industries; that they are not the press, although they do provide a modicum of news and some editorial comment; that because they are licensed, they cannot depend solely upon their own private judgment and that a government agency, the Federal Communications Commission, does exist which is responsible for licensing them and therefore, ipso facto, should watch what occurs.

The real weakness of the television industry is that it relinquished control of much of the material that is used on television. Separate companies came into existence to prepare material for television. At the time that the Communists were being cleared out of the motion picture industry, they took refuge in television and those who were closest to the work in this field, found it practically impossible to deal with anyone in authority. The networks were leasing their time not only to advertising agencies but to production companies and responsibility became so diffused that it could not be found.

Often when this subject was discussed, back in the early years of this decade, there were those who prognosticated that sooner or later there would be trouble because some advertising agency or producing company would pull a fast one which would do to television what the White Sox scandal did to baseball.

Dr. Stanton is to be commended for assuming responsibility but the point must also be made that he and other radio and television executives are responsible whether they assume it or not and they must be held responsible no matter what they say about it.

Cheating on quiz shows is not the only defect of television. A greater one is the paucity of free discussion of public questions. The technique of having a few newspapermen ask questions of someone in the news may be a simple format, but it is not uncensored, unrehearsed, free debate, which is difficult to do and possibly dangerous because of slander and libel, but it can be done if responsible men are willing to undertake it. The best programs on radio were the America's Town Meeting of the Air and the American Forum and they served America well during the critical pre-war and war periods. No such programs appear on television.

CBS Failed To Police TV Commercials Of G. M., Libbey-Owens Ford

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There's an untold, highly significant story behind the recent crackdown on General Motors and Libbey-Owens Ford by the Federal Trade Commission for putting deceptive TV commercials across on the public.

The Trade Commission, after investigating the GM-Libbey-Owens claim that other auto glass had wavy lines and distorted vision, ruled that the commercials were deceptive and gave official notice that they would have to be stopped. The commission found that the photos of Libbey-Owens Ford auto windows had been taken with the glass rolled down.

This has now been officially announced. What wasn't announced, however, was what the Columbia Broadcasting System did—or failed to do—regarding the commercials.

CBS has been the bellwether in demanding a cleanup of the networks. Counsel Thomas K. Fisher and president Frank Stanton have said they knew nothing about chicanery on the quiz programs; yet when the Better Business Bureau called another type of chicanery—the GM-Libbey-Owens Ford commercials—to their attention, there was no cleanup.

CBS appointed investigators to check the commercials. But after reviewing the facts it informed the Better Business Bureau it was satisfied the commercials were genuine and there had been no camera trickery.

Now the Federal Trade Commission has ruled just the opposite.

Exit Pearson's Females

I went into the barn yesterday to say good-bye to my cows. It made me kind of sad. They're going to be sold next Monday and I felt as if I was selling them down the river.

Most people would claim they don't know they're being sold. But cows are more intelligent than city folks realize and certainly they know something's going on. Because they've had their hair cut, their tails frilled and have been innoculated for shipping fever and other things that a cow has to be subjected to when they're about to change owners.

So they gave me sort of a curious, hurt stare as if they weren't quite sure of my loyalty.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who is a record producer, and has several daughters and granddaughters also record producers, didn't seem to care much. She can take anything in her stride. Mrs. Truman looked reasonably calm. But Mamie was quite nervous.

Beyond there the road shrinks to single width and at Hancock turns positively tortuous. So also on the Eastern Shore, south of Wye Mills, Route 50's dual lanes largely disappear, leaving the rest an unsatisfactory patchwork of two-lane, four-lane confusion to the coast. Though these two thoroughfares — the Frederick - Hagerstown - Cumberland link, and the Bay Bridge-Ocean City road — serve an enormous amount of traffic their weaknesses evidently cannot be remedied for several years.

The obstacle facing the Roads Commission planners is a largely parochial one placed two years ago in the law governing the 12-year program. Hatched by the smaller counties, this provision forbids that any starts be made on projects specified in the second four-year phase of the program until first-phase projects in all counties are brought up to a State-wide average. Here is the rub: 15 of the 23 counties are still below average on first-phase projects. Until they are caught up, probably a year hence, no work can be started on completing the arterial routes mentioned above because these extensions are programmed for the second and even third phases of the overall program. They simply have to wait.

The legal quirk originates in chronic small-county distrust of a centrally directed roads system, specifically in rural preference for local roads over a cross-county, or even a State-wide network. It is a quirk, however, which tends to stifle broad planning and which now is beginning to bring complaints from local interests themselves.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

They were here all afternoon and evening and now it is 9 p. m. and they've gone home to daddy. I speak for all grandparents, I think, when I say that we can actually see babies grow. That's because we do not see them often.

The twin girls—Robin and Pamela—are 15 months old. Jim Bishop Frechette is 10 weeks old. The girls are identical ash blondes and, in red leotards and plaid skirts, they look like miniature beer barrels. They weigh 22 pounds apiece, and they can say a few words like dada, popop, brother, Gayle, and mommy. At that, it is necessary to know the word that's coming to understand it.

They are as much alike as a face in a mirror, but I know how to tell them apart. If I hand a rubber toy to one, and the other one tries to snatch it, the snatcher is Pamela. The one who bursts into tears and then hauls off and belts her sister is Robin. This is used only when I don't know which one already had the vitamin pill.

They love music. When the hi-fi is on, and they are in the playpen, they bob and weave like a pair of cobras in a basket. This, I have been given to understand, is rhythm. They also love to eat. When I see Ginny spoon-feeding them with that glop, I turn away. So does our dog Rocky, and he was never particular.

Rocky is a big black police dog and he suffers the presence of the babies as the Christian martyrs enjoyed a visit with the lions. They rub his back, try to hide little objects in his ears, and make cooing humming sounds as they pat his brown eyeballs. He permits this, but he keeps looking at me with that when-are-they-going-home look.

JB is different. He has auburn hair, a cleft in his chin like his father, a broad, almost slavic face, a deep chest and big feet. He weighs 14 pounds and he has no time for hysterics. Most of JB's time is spent sleeping, or staring at the ceiling making a big O of his mouth. He doesn't cry often, but when he does, JB is hungry. He inbibes a lot of milk and a lot of that warm-colored glop which is so good for the little man of the family.

When his sisters want to show him how much they love him, they press the sides of their heads against his face and murmur "Ahhhh." The "Ahhhh" goes on until they run out of breath.

He resides in a small old-fashioned wooden cradle and, when Virginia Lee isn't watching, they sometimes rock him until his little head spins.

It seems that the last time the twins were here—or perhaps it's the time before—they tried to stand in the playpen and they had to look at me through the bars. Now they stand in it, and lean their elbows on the top rail. Both of them, when paroled, walk through the room in a rocking-horse gaint. Their feet remind me of Charlie Chaplin.

Now and then when Charlie Frechette works late at U. S. Trucking, Ginny and the babies come to Sea Bright, and this was one of those days. Aunt Gayle, who will be 16 this month, takes them to the village and buys presents for the girls.

She is clever at taking care of babies and knows by instinct which type of cry is make-believe and which is serious. She also understands the danger of complete silence when the youngsters are playing. Gayle and I look forward to the visits because, at the twins' age, they are forever learning new things and they are fun to watch.

If Ginny says: "Go love your sister", each of the babies, no matter how busy, will struggle to her feet and go toward the other. They clinch, put one arm around the other back, pat it lightly with fingers, and rub cheeks and say "Ahhhh."

Although they are identical, the girls have different personalities and this shows already. Pamela is serious. She is forever investigating a toy piano, an ashtray, or pointing at something she recognizes and letting out little high-pitched yips. Robin loves fun, loves to be swung high, laughs at anything you do three times in a row, and has a little mother instinct. If she hears JB cry, she drops her play and hurries to mother to tug at her skirt.

Don't let anyone tell you it makes a man feel old to be a grandfather. Tsk, tsk. Such talk.

Modern Diabetic Never Had It So Good

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The modern diabetic never had it so good. His life expectancy is not much different from that of the nondiabetic and the majority work and play without the slightest handicap or suggestion that the disease exists.

This is in sharp contrast to the preinsulin era when diabetics died from coma or other degenerative diseases within 5 to 10 years after the disease developed.

Some keep the condition under control with insulin. Approximately 20 per cent use Orinase or Diabinese pills. The diet is so varied, there is little they cannot eat, provided it is integrated with the rest of the menu.

The diabetic must test the urine at frequent intervals but this no longer is a chore. He dips a special piece of paper into the fluid and the color of the paper offers a rough index of the sugar content. Test tubes and bottles are not needed to make a chemical determination.

Management is not as simple as this for some diabetics, especially the young who are more likely to have a more serious form of the disease. In addition, diabetes is not exactly a handle-it-yourself type of ailment, because the penalty for mismanagement is too high. It is a lifelong disease and the diabetic should learn about the condition from his physician. A few weeks in the hospital is an excellent investment, provided the individual is taught all about the diet and how to care for the condition.

Should the disesae get out of control, certain warning signs appear, such as increasing weakness, weariness, dull headache, insatiable thirst, and vomiting.

There are said to be a million undiagnosed or untreated diabetics in the U. S. A. Neglect will cause some to go into coma; others, to undergo degeneration of the body, leading to premature aging and death. A urinalysis offers the best clew; it is inexpensive and worth having done. Make certain you are not walking about with undiagnosed diabetes.

Dr. Van Dellen will send a list of books on diabetes if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

DAUGHTERS DIFFER

A. B. writes: I have two young daughters. One is small and dainty and the other is large and chunky. What is the reason for such a difference?

REPLY

The combination of genes the youngster inherits plays an important role in the final height and body build. But don't evaluate your girls' physical appearance until they reach maturity. Growth is influenced by diet, health, sleep, and the emotional and glandular makeup. Small children may wind up as the tallest or vice versa.

GIDDY WOMAN

D. W. F. writes: Do you have any printed material on women who, after 30 years of married life, suddenly start chasing around with another man?

No, but the advice to the lovelorn columns often cover this subject.

FAVORITE FOODS

Mrs. P. V. writes: What is there about raw celery that tempts my palate? I can eat about five or six bunches a week.

REPLY

Everyone has cravings for this or that food. Mine is ice cream, but I wish it were celery, for the sake of the waistline.

INVESTIGATE DIARRHEA

T. Z. writes: Could a mental condition cause a person to have loose stools all the time?

REPLY

Not as a rule. Loose stools may occur in a highly nervous, emotionally disturbed individual. But X-rays and stool analyses should be done to rule out more common causes.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT —

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone nquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A stalwart gentleman with a stunning blonde gazing adoringly into his eyes drew attention at Sardi's East one evening. "He's a western industrialist," explained Vincent Sardi, "who is working on his second million. She's working on his first."

Accused by Critic Paul Nathan of being a ghoul, horror-story author Robert Bloch replied, "Not at all. I have the heart of a small boy. I keep it in a jar on my desk."

Max Lief, who refers to himself as a "Juvenal delinquent," submits this limerick:

"A fellow they called Aloysius
Of his wife and a gent got suspysius,
And as quick as a wink
Found the two by the sink—
But they only were doing the dysius.

You're Telling Me!

Freed from the tourists' embarrassing attentions the Buckingham guards now go about their business without their faces being as red as their scarlet jackets.

After firing 10,000 striking bank workers the Uruguayan government rehired 'em all. What's the matter — couldn't anybody else count?

The world now has two iron curtains. The second one—this is one of which we approve—is the metal picket fence around Buckingham palace behind which the palace guards now stand to be free of prank-playing tourists.

It's easy to see that a retiring Leamington, England, taxidermist has a problem. He's trying to sell off 30,000 animal glass eyes.

"Castro Called Economic Beatnik"—New York newspaper headline. We're not up on Fidel's economic policies—but he sure has the beard for it.

The island of Puerto Rico, according to Factographs, has an average of 360 days of sunshine a year. The other five days guesses the man at the next desk probably are spent at home planning picnics.

Onion Tip

Relishes Add Zest To Salads

Tossed salads can consist of almost any ingredients you like, as long as each is either crisp, cold or crunchy — or all three.

Only the freshest of greens should be used. Wash them thoroughly in icy water and dry them between paper toweling.

Some of the most appetizing salads, too, are those which contain tidbit foods like pickle wedges and salty peanuts.

If you have only a few olives left in a jar, don't hesitate to toss them with the greens. Highly flavored olives can lend exquisite taste to a crisp salad. The new garlic-dill flavored olives are excellent in salads. A whisk of salt and freshly ground pepper before adding a light coating of dressing are all you need.

Guests Like Surprise Tarts

Surprise Tarts definitely belong to a rollicking hour . . . whether the fun occasion is a guest occasion or solely a family affair.

That toasted meringue billowing on high keeps the secret well. But the fun begins when the fork goes through the sugar crispness to discover a scoop of ice cream perched on tangy cinnamon-nutmeg apple sauce. The tarts are apple pie, ice cream and confection all in one . . . apple fancies to serve in a merry mood, and that will be received with quick delight.

They're so easy to put together, too. Simply use your favorite brand of apple sauce, ice cream from you know where, a whirl of meringue . . . then into the oven the tarts go for the skimpy seconds it takes to golden the meringue. They're ready . . . a fun dessert if ever there was one!

Surprise Tarts

2 cups canned apple sauce
½ cup light brown sugar
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon allspice
6 baked individual pastry shells
1 pint vanilla ice cream
2 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar

Combine apple sauce, brown sugar, nutmeg, cinnamon and allspice; cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until mixture is rather thick. Chill. Just before serving, spoon an equal amount of chilled apple sauce into the six pastry shells. Beat egg whites stiff, gradually add sugar, beating constantly, until stiff. Put a spoonful of ice cream into the center of each tart, cover with meringue mixture, having meringue come to edges of the pastry to completely cover the ice cream. Bake in very hot oven, 450 degrees, several seconds to brown tops. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Olives, Wine Enliven Seafood

A luncheon or supper casserole for autumn dining can be given special airs with some of today's elegant tidbit foods. For instance, combine canned lobster or crab meat in a medium cream sauce.

Season judiciously with your favorite dry white wine and a handful of Spanish green olive pieces. Use onion, pimiento, or almond stuffed olives, depending upon the flavor you prefer. Slice the olives crosswise with a sharp paring knife into thin slivers.

Top with a generous sprinkling of grated process American cheese. Bake until heated through and lightly browned on top.

French Cassoulet

4 strips bacon
¾ cup chopped onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 cup white wine*
¼ cup ketchup
1 cup diced cooked meat
2 cans (1 pound) beans in tomato sauce
¼ cup soft bread crumbs (optional)

Heat oven to 350°F. (moderate). Partially cook bacon; remove from skillet. Brown onion, garlic and parsley in bacon fat. Add wine and ketchup; cook over medium heat 5 minutes. Combine with meat and beans in 1½ quart casserole or shallow baking dish. Top with bread crumbs and partially cooked bacon. Bake 45 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♦	1 ♠	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♦.

One of the severest sets ever administered to a reasonable overcall at the one level is presented today.

East opened the bidding with one diamond and South made the normal overcall of one spade. An immediate problem was posed to West. There seemed a fair chance that his side could score game if a satisfactory contract was available. But in this manner only 600 odd points could be earned. In the light of South's vulnerable status, West considered the likelihood of defeating the spade contract two tricks, which would yield the nearly equal compensation of a 500 point penalty. He engaged in some simple arithmetic. He could count, with reasonable dependability, on taking five tricks himself. The jack of spades, one heart trick, two clubs, and either another trick in hearts or clubs or an extra trump via two diamond ruffs. An opening bidder can normally be counted upon to develop three tricks in defense, which added up to eight tricks, or a two trick penalty. On the basis of this calculation he doubled for a certain profit and all hands passed.

The singleton diamond was led and taken by the ace. The nine of diamonds was returned. This was an unnecessarily high diamond and in ruffing situations this is a signal for partner to return the higher ranking suit. West trumped the king of diamonds, and led the eight of hearts. East won with the ace and did not make the mistake of giving his partner another diamond ruff at this time. He continued with the four of hearts and West cashed the jack and king. East discarding the eight of clubs. The ace and another club put East in and now a diamond was led. South ruffed with the ten and West overruffed with the jack. West then led a heart and East trumped with the ace and led another diamond. In this way West could not be prevented from taking a trick with the nine of spades. The penalty was 1,100 points.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1♦	1♠	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♦.

One of the severest sets ever administered to a reasonable overcall at the one level is presented today.

East opened the bidding with one diamond and South made the normal overcall of one spade. An immediate problem was posed to West. There seemed a fair chance that his side could score game if a satisfactory contract was available. But in this manner only 600 odd points could be earned. In the light of South's vulnerable status, West considered the likelihood of defeating the spade contract two tricks, which would yield the nearly equal compensation of a 500 point penalty. He engaged in some simple arithmetic. He could count, with reasonable dependability, on taking five tricks himself. The jack of spades, one heart trick, two clubs, and either another trick in hearts or clubs or an extra trump via two diamond ruffs. An opening bidder can normally be counted upon to develop three tricks in defense, which added up to eight tricks, or a two trick penalty. On the basis of this calculation he doubled for a certain profit and all hands passed.

The singleton diamond was led and taken by the ace. The nine of diamonds was returned. This was an unnecessarily high diamond and in ruffing situations this is a signal for partner to return the higher ranking suit. West trumped the king of diamonds, and led the eight of hearts. East won with the ace and did not make the mistake of giving his partner another diamond ruff at this time. He continued with the four of hearts and West cashed the jack and king. East discarding the eight of clubs. The ace and another club put East in and now a diamond was led. South ruffed with the ten and West overruffed with the jack. West then led a heart and East trumped with the ace and led another diamond. In this way West could not be prevented from taking a trick with the nine of spades. The penalty was 1,100 points.

Mushroom Rice Ring

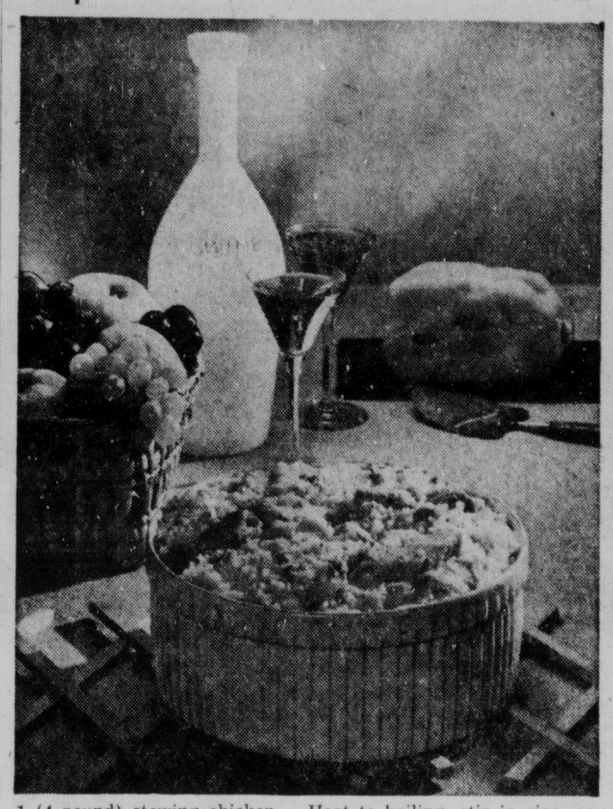
¼ cup minced onion
¾ cup butter or margarine
1 pound mushrooms, chopped
¾ cup ketchup
3 cups cooked rice
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon paprika

Saute onion in butter in skillet until tender. Add mushrooms; cook over medium heat 5 minutes. Add ketchup, rice, salt and paprika; heat thoroughly. Press mixture into buttered 1-quart ring mold. Unmold onto platter. Serve with cheese sauce in bowl in center of ring. Garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Quick Dip

A party dip for chips is made in seconds just by mashing a couple of tablespoons of blue cheese with the back of a fork and blending in a half pint of dairy sour cream. A drop of soy sauce and fleck of onion powder lend additional flavor.

Neptune Chicken N' Rice



1 (4 pound) stewing chicken
1 quart boiling water
2 teaspoons salt
1 (6-ounce) can minced clams
Salt to taste
¾ cup uncooked rice
¼ cup diced pimiento
¼ cup chopped parsley
⅓ cup California Sauterne or other white dinner wine
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 cup grated American cheese

Cut up chicken and place in large kettle. Add boiling water and 2 teaspoons salt, cover and simmer until meat is tender. Cool sufficiently to handle. Remove skin and bones, keeping meat in large pieces. Drain liquor from clams into measuring cup and add chicken broth to make 1½ cups liquid. Add salt to taste. Heat to boiling, stir in rice, cover and simmer 20 to 25 minutes, until rice is tender and liquid absorbed. Add drained clams, pimiento, parsley, wine, eggs and half of cheese, and mix lightly. Mix in chicken pieces. Turn into greased baking dish and top with remaining ½ cup cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 to 30 minutes. Makes about 6 servings.

MRS. M. V. FILBERT

MRS. FILBERT'S MARGARINE AND YOUR FAMILY'S HEALTH

If you use Mrs. Filbert's, you know its flavor secret . . . a sweet, fresh taste no other margarine can duplicate.

But Mrs. Filbert's offers more than delicious flavor. Today there are facts you should know about Mrs. Filbert's and your family's health.

Much is being written about fats in food. Some claim that saturated animal fats build up cholesterol in the blood, while unsaturated vegetable oils may help reduce cholesterol. Since evidence is still inconclusive, your doctor is the one to advise you about fats, cholesterol, and your diet.

However, you should know that Mrs. Filbert's Margarine is made from the finest domestic vegetable oils, which contain no cholesterol and are over 80% unsaturated. Mrs. Filbert's is enriched with vitamins A and D, is highly digestible, and is low in salt.

As a result, Mrs. Filbert's is a nutritious, healthful food . . . provides quick energy, helps your body utilize important proteins and carbohydrates. Your whole family can enjoy Mrs. Filbert's with confidence.

Use Mrs. Filbert's as a delicious tablespread . . . as a flavorful seasoning . . . as a digestible shortening in cooking, baking, frying. Taste why so many people prefer Mrs. Filbert's to any spread, regardless of price.

Scrambled Eggs With Oriental Flair

Add a cup of well-drained bean sprouts and a half cup of grated cheese to the eggs just before eggs are set. Cheese helps make this quick protein dish more substantial, while the bean sprouts lend pleasing texture.

The first wallpaper manufacturing factory in the United States was established by John Howell at Albany, N. Y., in 1790.

'Sweet' Surprise

When fresh fruit is the dessert for a school lunch, insert a little packet of After Dinner Butter Mints in the lunch kit, too. They make a sweet finale any child will enjoy.

Tasty Almonds

Nearly 22 million persons were admitted to hospitals in 1958, an average of 59,000 each day.

Golden Gate Chicken Makes Meal A Party

For autumn entertaining—after a football game or before a concert—nothing beats a buffet. The feeling of harvest plenty is underlined when the food is spread out on a long table. Too, it's an easy way to serve a crowd.

Golden Gate Chicken sets the theme for this buffet. Golden brown broiler-fryers stuffed with corn flake crumb dressing are served with hot California cling peach halves. The gold motif can be carried out in the table cloth and in the centerpiece—an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and gourds.

Golden Gate Chicken

- 1 2½ to 3-pound broiler-fryer chicken
- 5 cups corn flakes or
- 1¼ cups corn flake crumbs
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ½ cup finely diced celery
- ½ cup chopped Brazil nuts, walnuts or pecans
- ½ cup stock or water
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- ⅛ teaspoon each thyme and rosemary
- Heavy duty aluminum foil
- 8 canned cling peach halves

Prepare chicken for roasting. If corn flakes are used, roll into crumbs. Melt butter in medium-size saucepan. Add onion, celery and nuts; cook until tender, but not brown. Add stock, salt, poultry seasoning and herbs; bring to a boil. Remove from heat; add crumbs and toss lightly. Stuff and truss chicken. Place chicken in center of a 24-inch length of heavy duty aluminum foil. Brush chicken with additional melted butter. Bring ends of foil together over breast; make double fold. Make double fold at each end. Place in shallow roasting pan. Roast in a hot oven (450°F.), 20 minutes per pound. Open foil and flatten in pan. Place drained peaches, cut side up, on foil around chicken. Roast 20 minutes longer to brown chicken and heat peaches. Place chicken on heated platter; garnish with peach halves. Place maraschino cherry in center of each peach.

YIELD: 4 to 5 servings.

NOTE: For 8 to 10 servings, recipe may be doubled. Chicken may be wrapped separately and baked in same roasting pan.

Sounds Good

Rich Sauce Enhances Fresh Pears

When sweet Bartlett pears disappear from the market, choose equally sweet Seckels for a succulent dessert. Seckel pears are small and wonderful for eating out of hand during late summer and early fall.

Pears are conditioned, too, for versatility. And when you want a simple-to-prepare but glamorous treat for a meal finale, serve them with a rich butterscotch sauce topping.

Ingredients for the sauce are cooked to the soft ball stage, in the same manner as fudge. Then cream is stirred into the mixture. Use coffee cream, rather than the heavier whipping cream, so that the sauce will be of the right spooning consistency.

Pears With Butterscotch Sauce

Cut pears in halves. Core and pare, then stew gently in a thin sugar syrup until tender. Place two halves in each dessert dish.

To make sauce, cook 1½ cups brown sugar, ½ cup corn syrup, ¼ cup water and 3 tablespoons butter over low heat until sugar is dissolved, stirring constantly. Continue cooking to soft ball stage (238 degrees). Remove from heat, gradually stir in ½ cup coffe cream and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Serve warm over pears.

Scrambled Eggs With Oriental Flair

If shopping makes you tardy for lunch preparations, serve these hearty scrambled eggs.

Add a cup of well-drained bean sprouts and a half cup of grated cheese to the eggs just before eggs are set. Cheese helps make this quick protein dish more substantial, while the bean sprouts lend pleasing texture.

The first wallpaper manufacturing factory in the United States was established by John Howell at Albany, N. Y., in 1790.

'Sweet' Surprise

When fresh fruit is the dessert for a school lunch, insert a little packet of After Dinner Butter Mints in the lunch kit, too. They make a sweet finale any child will enjoy.

Tasty Almonds

Nearly 22 million persons were admitted to hospitals in 1958, an average of 59,000 each day.

Golden Gate Chicken Makes Meal A Party

For autumn entertaining—after a football game or before a concert—nothing beats a buffet. The feeling of harvest plenty is underlined when the food is spread out on a long table. Too, it's an easy way to serve a crowd.

Golden Gate Chicken sets the theme for this buffet. Golden brown broiler-fryers stuffed with corn flake crumb dressing are served with hot California cling peach halves. The gold motif can be carried out in the table cloth and in the centerpiece—an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and gourds.

Golden Gate Chicken

- 1 2½ to 3-pound broiler-fryer chicken
- 5 cups corn flakes or
- 1¼ cups corn flake crumbs
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ½ cup finely diced celery
- ½ cup chopped Brazil nuts, walnuts or pecans
- ½ cup stock or water
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- ⅛ teaspoon each thyme and rosemary
- Heavy duty aluminum foil
- 8 canned cling peach halves

Prepare chicken for roasting. If corn flakes are used, roll into crumbs. Melt butter in medium-size saucepan. Add onion, celery and nuts; cook until tender, but not brown. Add stock, salt, poultry seasoning and herbs; bring to a boil. Remove from heat; add crumbs and toss lightly. Stuff and truss chicken. Place chicken in center of a 24-inch length of heavy duty aluminum foil. Brush chicken with additional melted butter. Bring ends of foil together over breast; make double fold. Make double fold at each end. Place in shallow roasting pan. Roast in a hot oven (450°F.), 20 minutes per pound. Open foil and flatten in pan. Place drained peaches, cut side up, on foil around chicken. Roast 20 minutes longer to brown chicken and heat peaches. Place chicken on heated platter; garnish with peach halves. Place maraschino cherry in center of each peach.

YIELD: 4 to 5 servings.

NOTE: For 8 to 10 servings, recipe may be doubled. Chicken may be wrapped separately and baked in same roasting pan.

Sounds Good

Rich Sauce Enhances Fresh Pears

When sweet Bartlett pears disappear from the market, choose equally sweet Seckels for a succulent dessert. Seckel pears are small and wonderful for eating out of hand during late summer and early fall.

Pears are conditioned, too, for versatility. And when you want a simple-to-prepare but glamorous treat for a meal finale, serve them with a rich butterscotch sauce topping.

Ingredients for the sauce are cooked to the soft ball stage, in the same manner as fudge. Then cream is stirred into the mixture. Use coffee cream, rather than the heavier whipping cream, so that the sauce will be of the right spooning consistency.

Pears With Butterscotch Sauce

Cut pears in halves. Core and pare, then stew gently in a thin sugar syrup until tender. Place two halves in each dessert dish.

To make sauce, cook 1½ cups brown sugar, ½ cup corn syrup, ¼ cup water and 3 tablespoons butter over low heat until sugar is dissolved, stirring constantly. Continue cooking to soft ball stage (238 degrees). Remove from heat, gradually stir in ½ cup coffe cream and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Serve warm over pears.

Large Throng Views Program At Lonaconing

Petry Speaks On Veterans Day

LONACONING — A jet plane sounded over the town in salute as the Valley High School Band played the closing march "Minute Men," at Lonaconing's Veterans Day observance. A very large throng of veterans, youth and others assembled at the Soldiers Monument and Honor Roll, Main Street, for the program.

The placing of the wreaths, which has become a community tradition since the signing of the Armistice on November 11, 1918, was carried out by Central Elementary School; Auxiliary, and VFW; and the American Legion.

Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools, was principal speaker. He recalled events that happened to Americans since the veterans returned with "joy in their hearts and tears in their eyes," and concluded with an appropriate memorial verse.

Virgil Alexander, former mayor and master of ceremonies, spoke briefly and stated that he "considered it a privilege and honor" to be taking part in the Veterans Day program." He introduced Mr. Petry. Valley band played "Salutation" as the opening number and also "Star Spangled Banner."

Invocation and benediction were given by Rev. John McClain, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. A parade from the VFW home of veterans, color guard, firing squad, Boy Scouts, and Valley High School band, marched to the site of the program at 7:15 p. m. Traffic was halted from Main Street for the duration of the observance.

Onas D. Hanekamp was chairman of the Veterans Day activities.

Keyser Veterans Day Speaker Advocates Modernized Military Force To Help Preserve Peace In World

KEYSER—Col. Curtis Oakes, professor of Military Science and Tactics at Potomac State College, was principal speaker at the Veterans Day program sponsored by Boyce-Houser Post 41, American Legion, held Wednesday at the Memorial Plaque corner at Mineral and Center Streets. He said that when World War I ended it was hoped that was the last of war, but since that time there have been World War II and the Korean Conflict. He declared the United States must be on guard and prepared at all times to meet any threat. He said that veterans as civilians can keep the public informed.

Col. Oakes noted that while the army is modern, its weapons should be modernized so that it works as a team and all parts of its services would be able to suppress a small war before it became a large one.

Colonel Oakes was introduced by Joseph Blundon Jr. Donald C. Hott, prosecuting attorney for Mineral County, was master of ceremonies. Rev. Millard Floyd, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, gave the invocation.

At 11 o'clock a minute of silence was observed. Members of the firing squad of Potomac State College ROTC gave the salute.

The Keyser High School Band rendered a concert from 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. It also gave selections during the program, as did the Potomac College Band. Taps and echo were played by the college band.

The ROTC units with their sponsors were present.

Special guests included Congressman Harley O. Staggers, Delegate Joseph W. Kessel, Mayor Richard Romig, Paul Peters, Raymond Murray, Lester Oates, councilmen, and Mrs. Sallie Oates, gold star mother.

Six Join Lonaconing Lions Club

LONACONING—President Harry Bosley of Lonaconing Lions Club distributed his "By-Lions" newspaper to members of the club on Thursday.

The goal to obtain five new members was surpassed with six admitted to membership. They are Martin Eichhorn, James Rogers, Patrick McDonough, of Lonaconing; Eugene Eagan, Ivan Wilson and David Williams, of Midland.

Sgt. Bosley states, "Now we would like to do equally well on returns coming from Lonaconing Lions Club seals for the Sight Conservation Fund."

"As the Thanksgiving season is here, let's be thankful we can see," remarked President Bosley, who would appreciate all families who have received the envelope of seals to make their returns early. A return of $330 has been totalled for the project to date.

Gets Air Force Promotion

FROSTBURG — Staff Sergeant Laurence D. Robinson, son of Mrs. Lela Robinson, RFD 3, Frostburg, has recently been promoted from the grade of Airman First Class to his present rank in the Air Force.

Sgt. Robinson is assigned to the 4231st Organizational Maintenance Squadron at Hunter Air Force Base, Ga.

Hunter, headquarters for the Strategic Air Command's 38th Air Division, is the home of the 2nd Bomb Wing. This wing is equipped with SAC's stratojet medium bombers and the KC-97 aerial refueling tankers.

Sgt. Robinson entered the service in October 1951 and after a period in the Navy joined the Air Force. Prior to that time he attended Hancock High School, from which he was graduated in 1949. He is also a graduate of the non-commissioned Officers Preparatory School at Hunter.

Bank Sponsors CARE Crusade At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Ralph M. Race, executive director, announced that as a public service, the Fidelity Bank is cooperating with CARE by distributing CARE envelopes and urges people of this area to become goodwill ambassadors by sending CARE food crusade packages.

Race pointed out that through the CARE food crusade four million packages of life-giving food will be delivered to hungry people in 15 countries in Europe, Latin America, Southeast Asia and the Middle East. These packages contain United States government surplus food and $1.00 pays for packing, shipping and distribution of one of these packages. Each package, Race continued, carries the name and address of its American donor so it becomes not only a gift of food but a gift of hope and friendship as well.

These food packages are delivered to refugees, orphans, old people living on meager pensions, widows, starving families, school children, hospital patients and others in need.

Race also said that the United Nations reveals that two-thirds of the people of the world live at starvation level and the CARE food crusade gives an opportunity to share an abundance with neighbors in need in other countries.

County ASC Seeks Data On Wheat

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here is seeking information from 205 Allegany County farmers as to the number of acres of wheat they have planted in the wheat marketing quota program.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, office manager, said yesterday that double postal cards have been sent to the farmers who are requested to return them as soon as possible.

The ASC is attempting to determine if the farmers have wheat harvested as grain and the number of acres or the number of acres planted for hay, pasture, silage or cover crop.

Today a representative of the Maryland ASC office will be at the local office to instruct reporters who will visit the farms which have over 10 acres of wheat planted.

They will determine if the farmer should be penalized for planting more than his allotment or 15 acres which he is allowed to plant in wheat.

The farmers were notified of their allotments in July and have until June 20 next year to destroy excess wheat in the event they are penalized.

The ASC office is anxious to get the cards returned in order the reporters may go to the farms and measure the wheat before snow falls. Farms having less than 10 acres will not be visited.

Man Is Held In Connection With Theft

George Dever, 213 West Second Street, is being held in the City Jail for questioning in connection with the breaking and entering of King's Tackle Shop on Virginia Avenue early Wednesday morning.

Eight weapons and a small amount of cash were reported stolen from the store.

City Police arrested Dever and two other men early Thursday morning in South End after receiving a complaint that a man had brandished a gun in a restaurant. The other two men were questioned yesterday by police and then released.

Police report that Dever had in his possession when picked up one of the weapons that was taken from the Virginia Avenue store. Stolen were three 22 calibre revolvers, four .22 calibre automatic pistols and a 12-gauge shotgun.

The police had been on a lookout for Dever earlier in the evening after they had been informed he had a pistol in his possession.

The trio was questioned yesterday by Detective Lt. James E. Van. Dever is reported to have stated he found the pistol in an alley in back of the Virginia Avenue restaurant where he was arrested, and allegedly had no knowledge the weapon had been stolen.

The entry and robbery was discovered by Officer Frank Bohn shortly after the change of shifts. The store was entered by the front door, from which the glass had been broken, after an unsuccessful attempt had been made to enter through the rear of the building.

He told Chief Gaffney that three Negro men were arrested and held for investigation.

Assistant Chief Sherry advised, in his report, that the case should be investigated as several witnesses "said the officer was at fault."

Local Church Plans Mission

Dr. John W. Frye, national evangelist for the United Christian Missionary Society, will begin an eight-day preaching mission Sunday at First Christian Church on Bedford Street, according to Rev. Ralph Burnette, pastor.

Rev. Burnette said the services will begin each evening at 7:30 o'clock and a special night will be observed each day. The schedule for the mission is:

Sunday, Bible School night; Monday, men and women's classes; Tuesday, Adelphia Bible Class; Wednesday, Church Board; Friday; youth night.

Special music will be provided for the services by the Cumberland Choir, Grace Baptist Church Choir, Woodrow Christian Church Choir, Romney Christian Church Choir, Augusta Christian Church Choir, Allegany County Homemakers Chorus and Vernon Higgs.

Rev. Frye is a native of Virginia. He has been a minister for 35 years and became a national evangelist in 1951.

Sunday has been designated as Decision Sunday and several persons will become members of the church at the service at 10:40 a.m.

WMI Cage League Schedule Announced For 40th Year

Arbiters Are Selected For Thirty Games

James Eckard New Mentor; Campaign Will Open Jan. 8

The Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League will launch its fortieth season on Friday, January 8, and officials have been assigned to the thirty contests on the schedule, according to Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County public schools.

Eight officials have been appointed to handle the contests, namely, Enordo Arnone, John Diamond, Floyd S. Elliott, John Fox, Larry Patterson, James Roby, Joseph Stanislawczyk and Joseph Wolfe.

Allegany High School teams have won 22 championships, Fort Hill, six, Beall and Barton, three each, Valley and Penn Avenue, two each, and LaSalle and Central, one each, since the league started in 1921. Valley and Allegany shared the title in 1956-57.

James Eckard at Fort Hill High School is the only new coach for the 1960 season. Others holding over are Chester G. Payne, Allegany; Edward Finzel, Beall; Leonard Ritchie, Bruce; John Thomas, Mt. Savage, and John C. Meyers, Valley.

The 1960 schedule:

Tuesday, Jan. 12—Valley at Mt. Savage (Wolfe and J. Roby); Allegany at Beall (Stanislawczyk and Patterson); Bruce at Fort Hill (Elliott and Diamond).

Friday, Jan. 15—Valley at Allegany (Elliott and Arnone); Beall at Fort Hill (Wolfe and Diamond); Mt. Savage at Bruce (Stanislawczyk and Fox).

Tuesday, Jan. 19—Beall at Valley (Elliott and Stanislawczyk); Fort Hill at Mt. Savage (Wolfe and J. Roby); Allegany at Bruce (Diamond and Arnone).

Friday, Jan. 22—Bruce at Valley (Wolfe and Arnone); Mt. Savage at Beall (Elliott and Patterson); Fort Hill at Allegany (Stanislawczyk and Fox).

Tuesday, Feb .9—Mt. Savage at Valley (Wolfe and J. Roby); Beall at Allegany (Stanislawczyk and Patterson); Fort Hill at Bruce (Elliott and Diamond).

Friday, Feb. 12—Allegany at Valley (Elliott and Arnone); Fort Hill at Beall (Wolfe and Diamond); Bruce at Mt. Savage (Stanislawczyk and Fox).

Tuesday, Feb. 16—Valley at Beall (Elliott and Stanislawczyk); Mt. Savage at Fort Hill (Wolfe and J. Roby); Bruce at Allegany (Arnone and Diamond).

Friday, Feb. 19—Valley at Bruce (Wolfe and Arnone); Beall at Mt. Savage (Patterson and Elliott); Allegany at Fort Hill (Stanislawczyk and Fox).

Minoso Suffers Wrist Fracture

HAVANA (UPI) — Outfielder Minnie Minoso of the Cleveland Indians, who is playing winter ball with the Marianaos club of the Cuban Winter League, has suffered a small fracture of the left wrist and will be sidelined about two weeks.

A spokesman for the Marianaos club said Minoso suffered the injury when hit by a pitch thrown by Allan Jones, who pitched for San Diego of the Pacific Coast League this year.

Minoso batted .302, hit 21 homers and drove in 92 runs for the second-place Indians last season.

Johansson Subpenaed In Probe Of Boxing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson was subpenaed Thursday to appear at the State Attorney General's Office Friday for questioning in connection with the promotion of his June 26 fight with Floyd Patterson.

Martin L. Barron, assistant to Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, announced the subpena and explained that it was issued originally for an appearance Thursday but that Johansson was permitted to appear at the attorney general's office Friday instead.

This will be the champion's first appearance at any of the investigations that followed his winning the title.

Valley High School's seven-times champions earned four of the 13 places on the annual all-star team of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League selected by The Cumberland News.

Five halfbacks were named instead of the usual three.

All of the players selected are seniors except Milburn Spiker and James Duncan, juniors, of Beall High School. Duncan won the individual scoring championship for the 1959 season.

Valley players selected were James Getty, Robert Brown, who suffered a broken collarbone in the final game of the season, Larry McKenzie, and James Pollock.

Mt. Savage High School, runner-up in the championship race, landed three players on the all-star squad, namely, Goalie Fay Often, Leroy Robertson and Leroy Morris.

Bruce, Beall and Flintstone earned two places each on the squad.

Penn State Plays Final At Beaver Field Saturday

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—When the final gun is sounded in the Penn State - Holy Cross game here Saturday, Beaver Field will pass into history.

Next Tuesday workmen will begin dismantling the all-steel stadium where it had stood for 50 years and move it to a new location on the east campus.

Boston College will be the first team to meet the Nittany Lions when the new stadium with a 43,500 capacity is opened next season. Other home games will be played against Missouri, West Virginia and Maryland. The 1961 home schedule includes Army, Navy, Air Force, Rice, California, Oregon and UCLA

The Lions celebrated the opening of the Beaver Field stadium in 1909 with a 31-0 rout over Grove City, the first of 183, victories on that site. The varsity lost 35 games on the field and was tied twice.

Francona Chosen Man Of The Year

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Baseball Writers Thursday selected Indians slugger Tito Francona to receive their "Man of the Year" award.

Francona, who finished the season with a .363 batting average, beat out hurler Cal McLish 16 votes to 11. It was the second year in a row that McLish, a 19 game winner this year, finished second in the ballotting.

The sports scribes will honor Francona Jan. 25 at their annual "Ribs and Roasts" banquet.

Francona came to the Indians in a deal that sent Larry Doby to the Detroit Tigers. His heavy hitting kept the Tribe in contention into September when he fell off along with other Indian hitters.

Meeting Postponed

Due to the fact that only four of the nine clubs were represented, the annual meeting and election of officers of the Hot Stove League at the Moose Home last night was postponed and will be held in approximately three weeks.

Newspaper Editor Attacks State Racing Commission

Refused To Disclose Stockholder's Names In Maryland Tracks

SALISBURY (AP)—A Washington newspaper editor said Thursday night the State Racing Commission had refused to disclose the names of stockholders in Maryland race tracks.

J. Russell Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times-Herald, said this was an example of how the people's right to public information had been eroded by government officials and employes at all levels.

"The tracks do 150 million dollars a year business," Wiggins said in a speech to 125 ersons at the Salisbury Rotary Club, and some of this gets back to the stockholders. I don't say that any of them are using these funds to corrupt officers of the State or that any of the stockholders are also legislators."

"But how do you tell when it's all hidden by a veil of secrecy?" asked Wiggins.

He said the founding fathers of the nation believed they had built into its basic laws enough guarantees of "the people's right to know." But in the last 50 years more and more information about government operations has been concealed from the public under the pretense of national security, he added.

"The utmost publicity makes for more alert citizens, and it is an assurance against corruption," Wiggins said. "It also protects lawmakers against improper allegations."

James Eckard New Mentor; Campaign Will Open Jan. 8

The Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League will launch its fortieth season on Friday, January 8, and officials have been assigned to the thirty contests on the schedule, according to Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County public schools.

Eight officials have been appointed to handle the contests, namely, Enordo Arnone, John Diamond, Floyd S. Elliott, John Fox, Larry Patterson, James Roby, Joseph Stanislawczyk and Joseph Wolfe.

Allegany High School teams have won 22 championships, Fort Hill, six, Beall and Barton, three each, Valley and Penn Avenue, two each, and LaSalle and Central, one each, since the league started in 1921. Valley and Allegany shared the title in 1956-57.

James Eckard at Fort Hill High School is the only new coach for the 1960 season. Others holding over are Chester G. Payne, Allegany; Edward Finzel, Beall; Leonard Ritchie, Bruce; John Thomas, Mt. Savage, and John C. Meyers, Valley.

The 1960 schedule:

HONORABLE MENTION

Marshall Jones, Bruce, Dale Hott, Mt. Savage; Roy Humbertson, Flintstone; Gilbert Carter, Beall, and Wayne Johnson, Valley.

Valley High School's seven-times champions earned four of the 13 places on the annual all-star team of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League selected by The Cumberland News.

Five halfbacks were named instead of the usual three.

All of the players selected are seniors except Milburn Spiker and James Duncan, juniors, of Beall High School. Duncan won the individual scoring championship for the 1959 season.

Valley players selected were James Getty, Robert Brown, who suffered a broken collarbone in the final game of the season, Larry McKenzie, and James Pollock.

Mt. Savage High School, runner-up in the championship race, landed three players on the all-star squad, namely, Goalie Fay Often, Leroy Robertson and Leroy Morris.

Bruce, Beall and Flintstone earned two places each on the squad.

Penn State Plays Final At Beaver Field Saturday

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—When the final gun is sounded in the Penn State - Holy Cross game here Saturday, Beaver Field will pass into history.

Next Tuesday workmen will begin dismantling the all-steel stadium where it had stood for 50 years and move it to a new location on the east campus.

Boston College will be the first team to meet the Nittany Lions when the new stadium with a 43,500 capacity is opened next season. Other home games will be played against Missouri, West Virginia and Maryland. The 1961 home schedule includes Army, Navy, Air Force, Rice, California, Oregon and UCLA

The Lions celebrated the opening of the Beaver Field stadium in 1909 with a 31-0 rout over Grove City, the first of 183, victories on that site. The varsity lost 35 games on the field and was tied twice.

Minoso Suffers Wrist Fracture

HAVANA (UPI) — Outfielder Minnie Minoso of the Cleveland Indians, who is playing winter ball with the Marianaos club of the Cuban Winter League, has suffered a small fracture of the left wrist and will be sidelined about two weeks.

A spokesman for the Marianaos club said Minoso suffered the injury when hit by a pitch thrown by Allan Jones, who pitched for San Diego of the Pacific Coast League this year.

Johansson Subpenaed In Probe Of Boxing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson was subpenaed Thursday to appear at the State Attorney General's Office Friday for questioning in connection with the promotion of his June 26 fight with Floyd Patterson.

Martin L. Barron, assistant to Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, announced the subpena and explained that it was issued originally for an appearance Thursday but that Johansson was permitted to appear at the attorney general's office Friday instead.

This will be the champion's first appearance at any of the investigations that followed his winning the title.

Francona Chosen Man Of The Year

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Baseball Writers Thursday selected Indians slugger Tito Francona to receive their "Man of the Year" award.

Francona, who finished the season with a .363 batting average, beat out hurler Cal McLish 16 votes to 11. It was the second year in a row that McLish, a 19 game winner this year, finished second in the balloting.

The sports scribes will honor Francona Jan. 25 at their annual "Ribs and Roasts" banquet.

Francona came to the Indians in a deal that sent Larry Doby to the Detroit Tigers. His heavy hitting kept the Tribe in contention into September when he fell off along with other Indian hitters.

Meeting Postponed

Due to the fact that only four of the nine clubs were represented, the annual meeting and election of officers of the Hot Stove League at the Moose Home last night was postponed and will be held in approximately three weeks.

Newspaper Editor Attacks State Racing Commission

Refused To Disclose Stockholder's Names In Maryland Tracks

SALISBURY (AP)—A Washington newspaper editor said Thursday night the State Racing Commission had refused to disclose the names of stockholders in Maryland race tracks.

J. Russell Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times-Herald, said this was an example of how the people's right to public information had been eroded by government officials and employes at all levels.

"The tracks do 150 million dollars a year business," Wiggins said in a speech to 125 ersons at the Salisbury Rotary Club, and some of this gets back to the stockholders. I don't say that any of them are using these funds to corrupt officers of the State or that any of the stockholders are also legislators."

"But how do you tell when it's all hidden by a veil of secrecy?" asked Wiggins.

He said the founding fathers of the nation believed they had built into its basic laws enough guarantees of "the people's right to know." But in the last 50 years more and more information about government operations has been concealed from the public under the pretense of national security, he added.

"The utmost publicity makes for more alert citizens, and it is an assurance against corruption," Wiggins said. "It also protects lawmakers against improper allegations."

Won 1, Lost 7

LaSalle High School's football team makes its sixth and final appearance of the season at home tonight when it plays Coach Paul Bradley's Marauders of Altoona (Pa.) Catholic Higgh School at 8 o'clock at the stadium.

The Explorers of Don Harden have won only one out of eight games played to date and the team will windup with the worst record since 1950 if it doesn't win its last two games. The 1950 team won only two of 10 games. The final game of the current campaign is with Beall at Frostburg on Thanksgiving Day. Beall has won the last three holiday games from the Explorers.

ACHS Wins 7 Out Of 9

Altoona Catholic winds up its 10-game schedule here tonight. The Marauders dropped a 7-6 battle to LaSalle last year but lead in the series between the schools, seven games to five, with two other games being even-Stephen affairs.

The Blair Countians are having one of their best seasons, having won seven of nine games played to date.

Campers Play Saturday

The LaSalle-Altoona Catholic contest is the first of two here this weekend. Allegany hosts Romney High School here Saturday night, the Campers' final before the city championship tilt Thanksgiving Day with Fort Hill.

In a pair of Cumberland Valley Athletic League games on tap for tonight, Mel Henry's North Hagerstown Hubs will do battle with the Cadets at Frederick while Westminster's Owls, tied with Allegany for the runner-up spot, tackles South Hagerstown's Rebels at Westminster. All four teams will be lowering the curtain on their schedules tonight.

Mel Henry winds up his eleventh season as head coach at Hagerstown. Since taking over there in 1949 his teams have played 101 games, winning 50, losing 42 and playing nine ties. This record includes a 3-4-1 mark this season.

Four Games Saturday

In addition to the Allegany-Romney game Saturday, Beall and Moorefield play the final game of the Potomac Valley Conference season at 1:45 p. m., in Moorefield. Potomac State College battles Baltimore Junior College in a tri-State Junior College Conference contest at Baltimore and the Bedford High School Bisons wind up their season at Claysburg.

Patrick's Condition Is Reported Fair

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — Lester Patrick, the "Silver Fox" of hockey, was reported in fair condition in a hospital with pneumonia Thursday.

The 74-year-old member of the Hockey Hall of Fame entered the hospital more than a week ago.

He is a former manager of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League and former owner of the Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League.

Monzant Signs

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Pitcher Ramon Monzant, who was out of action this year with a sore arm, Thursday signed his 1960 contract with the San Francisco Giants and mailed it back to the club.

The pact reportedly called for an $11,000 salary. Monzant said he believes his current pitching in the Winter League will help him come back for "at least 12" victories for the Giants next year.

Flanagan Says Laurel Spill "Unavoidable"

Makes Observation After Viewing Films

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The two-horse spill in the Washington D.C. International at Laurel was "entirely unavoidable," Steward Joseph Flanagan said Thursday.

Flanagan made the observation after viewing films of the $100,000 turf race won Wednesday by Cain Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle, representing the United States and ridden by Manuel Ycaza.

Billy Camer, riding Australia's Vogel, and Gustavo Avila, aboard Venezuela's Pensilvania, were thrown to the ground in the accident on the clubhouse turn. Both jockeys escaped serious injury.

Flanagan said the films bore out earlier reports by the two riders that the spill was caused by Pensilvania's cutting sharply over in front of Vogel.

But the steward said the Venezuelan filly apparently was attempting to veer onto a section of the training track, which meets the main grass track at the point of the accident, as she had been required to do during her workouts.

"Horses are creatures of habit," explained Flanagan.

Except for the spill, there was little indication in the films that the race was as rough as many of the riders described it upon unsaddling Wednesday.

Eddie Arcaro, who finished fourth aboard France's Mi Carina, had called it "the roughest sonuvagun I've ever seen."

Nikolai Nasibov, who was forced to pull up because of the mishap on the clubhouse turn and still finished fifth with Russia's Garnir, described the mile and a half race as "more like a football game."

This is the 14th season for the National Basketball Assn.

Owens Voted Track Man Of The Age

Dempsey, Cobb Top Boxing, Baseball

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jesse Owens, the star sprinter of the '30s, led the balloting Thursday in being voted the track man of the age in a poll to determine the athletes to be honored at the first Bill Corum Memorial Dinner to be held Jan. 24, 1960.

Owens received a total of 615 points to lead all the winners in the voting for the best living athletes of the age.

The other winners were Jack Dempsey in boxing, Ty Cobb in baseball, Bob Cousy in basketball, Don Budge in tennis, Bobby Jones in golf, Red Grange in football, Maurice Richard in hockey and Eddie Arcaro in racing.

Glenn Cunningham, the miler, finished second to Owens. Joe Louis was runner-up to Dempsey, Joe DiMaggio to Cobb, George Mikan to Cousy, Jack Kramer to Budge, Ben Hogan to Jones, Bronko Nagurski to Grange, Eddie Shore to Richard, and Earl Sande to Arcaro. The closest race was in basketball where Cousy beat out Mikan, 428 points to 398.

Cubs Are Reported Obtaining Gernert

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — The Manchester Union - Leader Thursday said it has learned that Red Sox first baseman Dick Gernert would be traded to the Chicago Cubs.

The trade, the newspaper said, would bring right-handed pitcher Dave Hillman and left - handed first baseman Jim Marshall to the Boston club.

The Red Sox declined comment.

The Union-Leader said the official announcement of the trade would be withheld until after the beginning of the new inter-league trading period on Nov. 21.

Watson, Pittman Lead Tournament

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI)—Bob Watson and Jerry Pittman, a couple of part time touring pros, took the first round lead with 66's in the $15,000 Lafayette Open golf tournament Thursday.

A three putt 18th green cost Walker Inman Jr. of Elgin Air Force Base, Fla., a tie with the leaders and dropped him into a second place tie at 67 with Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.

Seven players had 69s, including Billy Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., one of the early favorites.

Dallas Rangers Shun Franchise In Continental

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The owner of the Dallas Rangers of the American Assn. Thursday said he is dropping out of consideration for a franchise in the proposed Continental Baseball League.

J.W. Bateson said he wrote William Shea, founder of the league which plans to be a third major circuit, that "in our opinion there isn't enough enthusiasm in the Dallas-Fort Worth area to insure the success of a baseball team entry into the Continental League."

The Dallas contractor said he had been in contact with the American League Expansion Committee.

"But not recently," he said, "and there's nothing in particular."

Fox Family's Emotions Varied As Nellie Receives MVP Award

Chisox Star Given 295 Points; Luis Aparicio Second

ST. THOMAS, Pa. (AP) — The Nellie Fox family took the news of the little second baseman's selection as the American League's most valuable player with varied emotions.

Fox, the Chicago White Sox pepper - pot, expressed surprise, and asserted matter-of-fact tone:

"It all adds up to the good breaks and luck. I've had my share of both."

Fox' wife, Jeanne, was excited. But Bonnie, their 11 - year - old daughter, was more excited over the family's new poodle.

Fox, who got his first tryout in organized baseball as the result of a letter from his mother to the late Connie Mack in 1944, summed up his success with a tribute to his teammate and closest competitor for most valuable designation.

"I've been fortunate to have had the best shortstops alongside me, Luis Aparicio for one."

The fast, sure-fielding, good-hitting keystone combination of Fox and Aparicio spearheaded the White Sox' drive to the 1959 American League pennant.

Fox, Aparicio and pitcher Early Wynn swept the first three places in the annual valuable player poll for their parts in leading the Sox to their first pennant in 40 years.

Fox, 31, received 295 points from the 24-man selection committee of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America. Aparicio polled 255 points and Wynn 123.

Other major vote receivers were Rocky Colavito and Tito Francona of Cleveland, Al Kaline of Detroit, Jim Landis of Chicago and Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers. Sherm Lollar of the White Sox and Jackie Jensen, Boston, last year's MVP, rounded out the top 10.

Fox, a consistent, line drive type hitter, was honored as much for his defensive play as for his ability to produce the clutch hit. He handled 827 chances with only 10 errors for a .988 fielding average. He belted 91 hits for a .306 average.

LaSalle High School's football team makes its sixth and final appearance of the season at home tonight when it plays Coach Paul Bradley's Marauders of Altoona (Pa.) Catholic Higgh School at 8 o'clock at the stadium.

The Explorers of Don Harden have won only one out of eight games played to date and the team will windup with the worst record since 1950 if it doesn't win its last two games. The 1950 team won only two of 10 games. The final game of the current campaign is with Beall at Frostburg on Thanksgiving Day. Beall has won the last three holiday games from the Explorers.

ACHS Wins 7 Out Of 9

Altoona Catholic winds up its 10-game schedule here tonight. The Marauders dropped a 7-6 battle to LaSalle last year but lead in the series between the schools, seven games to five, with two other games being even-Stephen affairs.

The Blair Countians are having one of their best seasons, having won seven of nine games played to date.

Campers Play Saturday

The LaSalle-Altoona Catholic contest is the first of two here this weekend. Allegany hosts Romney High School here Saturday night, the Campers' final before the city championship tilt Thanksgiving Day with Fort Hill.

In a pair of Cumberland Valley Athletic League games on tap for tonight, Mel Henry's North Hagerstown Hubs will do battle with the Cadets at Frederick while Westminster's Owls, tied with Allegany for the runner-up spot, tackles South Hagerstown's Rebels at Westminster. All four teams will be lowering the curtain on their schedules tonight.

Mel Henry winds up his eleventh season as head coach at Hagerstown. Since taking over there in 1949 his teams have played 101 games, winning 50, losing 42 and playing nine ties. This record includes a 3-4-1 mark this season.

Four Games Saturday

In addition to the Allegany-Romney game Saturday, Beall and Moorefield play the final game of the Potomac Valley Conference season at 1:45 p. m., in Moorefield. Potomac State College battles Baltimore Junior College in a tri-State Junior College Conference contest at Baltimore and the Bedford High School Bisons wind up their season at Claysburg.

Patrick's Condition Is Reported Fair

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — Lester Patrick, the "Silver Fox" of hockey, was reported in fair condition in a hospital with pneumonia Thursday.

The 74-year-old member of the Hockey Hall of Fame entered the hospital more than a week ago.

He is a former manager of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League and former owner of the Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League.

Monzant Signs

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Pitcher Ramon Monzant, who was out of action this year with a sore arm, Thursday signed his 1960 contract with the San Francisco Giants and mailed it back to the club.

The pact reportedly called for an $11,000 salary. Monzant said he believes his current pitching in the Winter League will help him come back for "at least 12" victories for the Giants next year.

Flanagan Says Laurel Spill "Unavoidable"

Makes Observation After Viewing Films

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The two-horse spill in the Washington D.C. International at Laurel was "entirely unavoidable," Steward Joseph Flanagan said Thursday.

Flanagan made the observation after viewing films of the $100,000 turf race won Wednesday by Cain Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle, representing the United States and ridden by Manuel Ycaza.

Billy Camer, riding Australia's Vogel, and Gustavo Avila, aboard Venezuela's Pensilvania, were thrown to the ground in the accident on the clubhouse turn. Both jockeys escaped serious injury.

Flanagan said the films bore out earlier reports by the two riders that the spill was caused by Pensilvania's cutting sharply over in front of Vogel.

But the steward said the Venezuelan filly apparently was attempting to veer onto a section of the training track, which meets the main grass track at the point of the accident, as she had been required to do during her workouts.

"Horses are creatures of habit," explained Flanagan.

Except for the spill, there was little indication in the films that the race was as rough as many of the riders described it upon unsaddling Wednesday.

Eddie Arcaro, who finished fourth aboard France's Mi Carina, had called it "the roughest sonuvagun I've ever seen."

Nikolai Nasibov, who was forced to pull up because of the mishap on the clubhouse turn and still finished fifth with Russia's Garnir, described the mile and a half race as "more like a football game."

This is the 14th season for the National Basketball Assn.

Owens Voted Track Man Of The Age

Dempsey, Cobb Top Boxing, Baseball

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jesse Owens, the star sprinter of the '30s, led the balloting Thursday in being voted the track man of the age in a poll to determine the athletes to be honored at the first Bill Corum Memorial Dinner to be held Jan. 24, 1960.

Owens received a total of 615 points to lead all the winners in the voting for the best living athletes of the age.

The other winners were Jack Dempsey in boxing, Ty Cobb in baseball, Bob Cousy in basketball, Don Budge in tennis, Bobby Jones in golf, Red Grange in football, Maurice Richard in hockey and Eddie Arcaro in racing.

Glenn Cunningham, the miler, finished second to Owens. Joe Louis was runner-up to Dempsey, Joe DiMaggio to Cobb, George Mikan to Cousy, Jack Kramer to Budge, Ben Hogan to Jones, Bronko Nagurski to Grange, Eddie Shore to Richard, and Earl Sande to Arcaro. The closest race was in basketball where Cousy beat out Mikan, 428 points to 398.

Cubs Are Reported Obtaining Gernert

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — The Manchester Union-Leader Thursday said it has learned that Red Sox first baseman Dick Gernert would be traded to the Chicago Cubs.

The trade, the newspaper said, would bring right-handed pitcher Dave Hillman and left-handed first baseman Jim Marshall to the Boston club.

The Red Sox declined comment.

The Union-Leader said the official announcement of the trade would be withheld until after the beginning of the new interleague trading period on Nov. 21.

Watson, Pittman Lead Tournament

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI)—Bob Watson and Jerry Pittman, a couple of part time touring pros, took the first round lead with 66's in the $15,000 Lafayette Open golf tournament Thursday.

A three putt 18th green cost Walker Inman Jr. of Elgin Air Force Base, Fla., a tie with the leaders and dropped him into a second place tie at 67 with Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.

Dallas Rangers Shun Franchise In Continental

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The owner of the Dallas Rangers of the American Assn. Thursday said he is dropping out of consideration for a franchise in the proposed Continental Baseball League.

J.W. Bateson said he wrote William Shea, founder of the league which plans to be a third major circuit, that "in our opinion there isn't enough enthusiasm in the Dallas-Fort Worth area to insure the success of a baseball team entry into the Continental League."

The Dallas contractor said he had been in contact with the American League Expansion Committee.

PVC Dinner Meeting Set For November 23

All-Conference football teams will be selected and other business transacted at the annual fall dinner meeting of the Potomac Valley Conference to be held Monday, November 23, at 6:30 p. m., at the Old Homestead Hotel Inn at Burlington, W. Va.

Announcement of the dinner meeting was made yesterday by James W. Goldsworthy, of Keyser, secretary of the conference, composed of West Virginia and Maryland schools.

Fox Family's Emotions Varied As Nellie Receives MVP Award

Chisox Star Given 295 Points; Luis Aparicio Second

ST. THOMAS, Pa. (AP) — The Nellie Fox family took the news of the little second baseman's selection as the American League's most valuable player with varied emotions.

Fox, who got his first tryout in organized baseball as the result of a letter from his mother to the late Connie Mack in 1944, summed up his success with a tribute to his teammate and closest competitor for most valuable designation.

Fox, 31, received 295 points from the 24-man selection committee of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America. Aparicio polled 255 points and Wynn 123.

Other major vote receivers were Rocky Colavito and Tito Francona of Cleveland, Al Kaline of Detroit, Jim Landis of Chicago and Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers. Sherm Lollar of the White Sox and Jackie Jensen, Boston, last year's MVP, rounded out the top 10.

Fox, a consistent, line drive type hitter, was honored as much for his defensive play as for his ability to produce the clutch hit. He handled 827 chances with only 10 errors for a .988 fielding average. He belted 91 hits for a .306 average.

Purple Prince 2nd, Grant Paces Riders

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 12 (AP) — Jockey Howard Grant completely outdistanced his rivals in the saddle contest during the 14-day Laurel Race Course meeting, which was concluded today.

But he failed to win the Towson Purse, feature of the program, when Chalk Eye, under Jimmy Nichols, "outphotoed" Grant and Purple Prince.

Grant, who rode 31 winners for the meeting when he won two of the program's earlier events, had Purple Prince, the favorite, in front 100 yards out, but Chalk Eye's closing bid was not to be denied.

Nichols' mount was up to win by a neck while Purple Prince was about three parts of a length in front of third finisher, Hill N'Dale Stable's Knight O'Erin.

Chalk Eye paid $17.80, $7.60 and $4.60, Purple Prince, $3 and $2.80, and Knight O'Erin, $3 and $2.80.

Grant, who had as many as five winners in a single day, tripled the score of runner-up Frankie Northcutt, who registered on ten mounts. Karl Korte was third with seven victories.

THIS IS THE END

MANHATTAN, Kans. (NEA)—John French was named to lead the Army Cadet Brigade as a brigadier-general, the first of that rank in Kansas State's ROTC history. He plays end in football.

Pike Will Coach New York Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — Alf Pike Thursday replaced Phil Watson as coach of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League. Pike, a former Ranger player, is being brought in from Winnipeg of the Western League where he coached the past three years. Watson is in a hospital where it is expected he will be operated on for an ulcer early next week.

Signs 5-Year Pact

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Head Football Coach Frank Broyles Thursday signed a new five-year contract with the University of Arkansas, putting an end to rumors that he would transfer to the University of Florida.

Purple Prince 2nd, Grant Paces Riders

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 12 (AP) — Jockey Howard Grant completely outdistanced his rivals in the saddle contest during the 14-day Laurel Race Course meeting, which was concluded today.

But he failed to win the Towson Purse, feature of the program, when Chalk Eye, under Jimmy Nichols, "outphotoed" Grant and Purple Prince.

Grant, who rode 31 winners for the meeting when he won two of the program's earlier events, had Purple Prince, the favorite, in front 100 yards out, but Chalk Eye's closing bid was not to be denied.

Nichols' mount was up to win by a neck while Purple Prince was about three parts of a length in front of third finisher, Hill N'Dale Stable's Knight O'Erin.

Chalk Eye paid $17.80, $7.60 and $4.60, Purple Prince, $3 and $2.80, and Knight O'Erin, $3 and $2.80.

Grant, who had as many as five winners in a single day, tripled the score of runner-up Frankie Northcutt, who registered on ten mounts. Karl Korte was third with seven victories.

THIS IS THE END

MANHATTAN, Kans. (NEA)— John French was named to lead the Army Cadet Brigade as a brigadier-general, the first of that rank in Kansas State's ROTC history. He plays end in football.

Pike Will Coach New York Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — Alf Pike Thursday replaced Phil Watson as coach of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League. Pike, a former Ranger player, is being brought in from Winnipeg of the Western League where he coached the past three years. Watson is in a hospital where it is expected he will be operated on for an ulcer early next week.

Signs 5-Year Pact

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)— Head Football Coach Frank Broyles Thursday signed a new five-year contract with the University of Arkansas, putting an end to rumors that he would transfer to the University of Florida.

IMPORTANT NEWS FOR OWNERS OF CARS THAT USE "REGULAR"

COSTS NO MORE THAN "REGULAR" GASOLINES

Any car that runs well on regular grade gasoline will run its very best on Blue Sunoco "200"—and at no extra cost. For even though Blue Sunoco "200" is priced with the "regulars", it is so high in octane that it meets industry accepted standards for premium octane quality!

If you use "regular-price" gasoline, fill up with Blue Sunoco "200". Then you'll know what it's like to have fuelpower to fit your car's horsepower.

CUSTOM-BLENDED BLUE SUNOCO

Creative New Program

Rod Serling, a terribly gifted and phenomenally many-faceted and wildly prolific writer, is both writer and executive producer on a new series called "Twilight Zone" (CBS-TV 10-10:30 p. m. Friday), one of the few really genuinely creative new programs of this season. It is my feeling that many writers are trying to get out of this world—into fantasy, into outer space, into science, and that "Twilight Zone" is part of a rather universal preoccupation.

Serling himself defines "Twilight Zone" with the words: "There is a sixth dimension beyond that which is known to man. It is a dimension as vast as space and as timeless as infinity. It is the middleground between light and shadow — between man's grasp and his reach; between science and superstition; between the pit of his fears and the sunlight of his knowledge. This is the dimension of his imagination. It is an area that might be called the twilight zone."

The first of these was a fascinating study of a guy wandering around a deserted town. He doesn't know who he is. He doesn't know what he's doing there. He finds lit cigarettes in the police station, jukeboxes going in the drugstore, coffee boiling on the stove of a home — but not a living soul. Eerie. I was thoroughly disappointed in the ending but it was a beautifully directed and produced and written and photographed story — and it still lives with me.

Speaking of his own series, Mr. Serling declares: "It's difficult to give a genetic classification, a single definition of the series. I guess you can say it's stories of imagination. They all tilt from center — unreal, told in terms of reality. No, they're not vehicles of social criticism. They're mature adult stories. One story 'Monsters Are Due on Main Street' is a strange oblique commentary on prejudice. The minorities always need a scapegoat to explain their own weaknesses."

What boggles my imagination is not so much the nature of the stories as the quantity of them. Of the first eighteen shows, Mr. Serling has written sixteen, nine originals and seven adaptations. "I've adapted Lucille Fletcher's 'The Hitchhiker' and we've changed the man to a woman because it's pertinent and it's dramatic to make it a woman."

This was a famous radio play about a man driving across the country who encounters the same hitchhiker in front of him wherever he goes. Panic-stricken he calls home and discovers he was killed in an auto accident his first night away from home. Back at his car he discovers the hitchhiker in the back seat. "Going my way, I suppose," says the hitchhiker.

"This is not science fiction; it's sheer fantasy we're doing. One of the real strengths of the show is that we've written the scripts with specific people in mind and most of the actors we've approached have accepted the roles." Serling is also executive producer of the series which he says is a "titular expression." "Any writer would like to walk

Aussie Post Filled

LONDON (UPI) — Speculation that Princess Margaret might be named governor - general of Australia ended Thursday when the government announced that the Viscount Dunrossil, former speaker of the House of Commons, would get the post. William S. Morrison, 65, will succeed Field Marshal William Slim. Princess Margaret had been mentioned as a possible candidate for the post.

Creative New Program

Rod Serling, a terribly gifted and phenomenally many-faceted and wildly prolific writer, is both writer and executive producer on a new series called "Twilight Zone" (CBS-TV 10-10:30 p. m. Friday), one of the few really genuinely creative new programs of this season. It is my feeling that many writers are trying to get out of this world—into fantasy, into outer space, into science, and that "Twilight Zone" is part of a rather universal preoccupation.

Serling himself defines "Twilight Zone" with the words: "There is a sixth dimension beyond that which is known to man. It is a dimension as vast as space and as timeless as infinity. It is the middleground between light and shadow — between man's grasp and his reach; between science and superstition; between the pit of his fears and the sunlight of his knowledge. This is the dimension of his imagination. It is an area that might be called the twilight zone."

The first of these was a fascinating study of a guy wandering around a deserted town. He doesn't know who he is. He doesn't know what he's doing there. He finds lit cigarettes in the police station, jukeboxes going in the drugstore, coffee boiling on the stove of a home — but not a living soul. Eerie. I was thoroughly disappointed in the ending but it was a beautifully directed and produced and written and photographed story — and it still lives with me.

Speaking of his own series, Mr. Serling declares: "It's difficult to give a genetic classification, a single definition of the series. I guess you can say it's stories of imagination. They all tilt from center — unreal, told in terms of reality. No, they're not vehicles of social criticism. They're mature adult stories. One story 'Monsters Are Due on Main Street' is a strange oblique commentary on prejudice. The minorities always need a scapegoat to explain their own weaknesses."

What boggles my imagination is not so much the nature of the stories as the quantity of them. Of the first eighteen shows, Mr. Serling has written sixteen, nine originals and seven adaptations. "I've adapted Lucille Fletcher's 'The Hitchhiker' and we've changed the man to a woman because it's pertinent and it's dramatic to make it a woman."

This was a famous radio play about a man driving across the country who encounters the same hitchhiker in front of him wherever he goes. Panic-stricken he calls home and discovers he was killed in an auto accident his first night away from home. Back at his car he discovers the hitchhiker in the back seat. "Going my way, I suppose," says the hitchhiker.

"This is not science fiction; it's sheer fantasy we're doing. One of the real strengths of the show is that we've written the scripts with specific people in mind and most of the actors we've approached have accepted the roles." Serling is also executive producer of the series which he says is a "titular expression." "Any writer would like to walk

LONDON (UPI) — Speculation that Princess Margaret might be named governor - general of Australia ended Thursday when the government announced that the Viscount Dunrossil, former speaker of the House of Commons, would get the post. William S. Morrison, 65, will succeed Field Marshal William Slim. Princess Margaret had been mentioned as a possible candidate for the post.

with a script until it's produced. Which is why I've become a quote executive producer unquote. I'm doing the casting and figuring out the budget and I'm the off camera narrator and I host the show."

Rod Serling's most famous television play was "Requiem for a Heavyweight," which was a "Playhouse 90" show and which won about a million prizes. Serling has redone it as a play and hopes to get it on next year. Of it, he says simply, "It'll be a good play." Lately he's been doing movies, a pastime which has brought him only money and grief.

"I've been unsuccessful as a screenwriter and I'm desperate to get out of it even though it's very lucrative. I have the questionable distinction of having every one of my films lose money and still they vant me. The people in the film business never change. The place changes but the same tasteless people operate it."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

ROY A. RODENAUSER, 554 National Highway, LaVale, Maryland, vs. HARRIETT LEE RODENHAUSER, Address Unknown. No. 25761 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Md.

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the Plaintiff from the Defendant.

The Bill states that the parties hereto were married on the 24th day of November, 1950, in Frostburg, Maryland; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that although his conduct towards the said defendant was always kind, affectionate and above reproach, yet the defendant without just or reason, deserted and abandoned him on the 2nd day of May, 1958, and declared her intention to live with him no longer; and that such desertion and abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this suit and is deliberate and final and without any reasonable nope of reconciliation; that your Orator is and has been a resident of Allegany County all his life and that he has no knowledge of the whereabouts of the defendant.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 4th day of November, 1959, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this Order to be published in some newspaper once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 5th day of December, 1959, giving notice to the absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit, and warning her to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 6th day of January, 1960, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

/s/ JOSEPH E. BODEN,
Clerk of the Circuit Court for

with a script until it's produced. Which is why I've become a quote executive producer unquote. I'm doing the casting and figuring out the budget and I'm the off camera narrator and I host the show."

Rod Serling's most famous television play was "Requiem for a Heavyweight," which was a "Playhouse 90" show and which won about a million prizes. Serling has redone it as a play and hopes to get it on next year. Of it, he says simply, "It'll be a good play." Lately he's been doing movies, a pastime which has brought him only money and grief.

"I've been unsuccessful as a screenwriter and I'm desperate to get out of it even though it's very lucrative. I have the questionable distinction of having every one of my films lose money and still they vant me. The people in the film business never change. ORDER OF PUBLICATION

ROY A. RODERNAUSER, 554 National Highway, LaVale, Maryland, vs. HARRIETT LEE RODENHAUSER, Address Unknown. No. 25761 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Md.

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the Plaintiff from the Defendant.

The Bill states that the parties hereto were married on the 24th day of November, 1950, in Frostburg, Maryland; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that although his conduct towards the said defendant was always kind, affectionate and above reproach, yet the defendant without just or reason, deserted and abandoned him on the 2nd day of May, 1958, and declared her intention to live with him no longer; and that such desertion and abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this suit and is deliberate and final and without any reasonable nope of reconciliation; that your Orator is and has been a resident of Allegany County all his life and that he has no knowledge of the whereabouts of the defendant.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 4th day of November, 1959, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this Order to be published in some newspaper once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 5th day of December, 1959, giving notice to the absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit, and warning her to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 6th day of January, 1960, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

/s/ JOSEPH E. BODEN,
Clerk of the Circuit Court for
Allegany County, Maryland

Space Age Stocks' Rally Falters; Market Declines

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market declined when late profit-taking hit some of the recently strong electronics and brought other issues down from their best levels of the day.

Brokers believe that the prevailing sentiment of hesitancy that now appears to be dominating the thinking of many investors will not change until the steel problem has been thoroughly resolved.

Steels continued to drop despite reports that production is resuming more rapidly than had been expected. Youngstown fell more than a point, and Lukens, Bethlehem and U.S. Steel gave up fractions.

Some of the more recently popular electronics to come under pressure were Motorola, Zenith and Varian. Motorola skidded 5½ to 139 after a 9½-point run-up the day before. Zenith and Varian both finished under their tops—Zenith tacking on a point, and Varian a half.

Among the electronics to finish on higher ground were Ampex up 4¾, Raytheon up 3⅛ and General Time up 2¼.

Trading expanded to 3,600,000 shares from 2,820,000 shares the day before. The market broadened to 1,197 issues, against 1,144 on Wednesday, and of these 75 declined, 421 advanced and 201 held unchanged. There were an equal number of new highs and lows—34.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Liquor Board Cites Tavern Owner

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners yesterday cited Samuel A. House, who operates a beer establishment at 417 Henderson Avenue, to appear for a hearing November 17 at 10 a. m.

House was fined $500 in Circuit Court recently when he pleaded guilty to selling a quantity of beer to a youth. The Liquor Board hearing will decide whether or not House's license will be suspended or revoked.

P.O. Building Boom

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said Thursday the Post Office Department is signing contracts for new post offices across the country at the rate of six a day. He said the rate will increase to 10 contracts daily by 1960, toward the department's goal of putting 12,000 new or modernized post offices into operation by 1965.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Snowy weather brought buying into grains Thursday, and most futures closed higher on the Chicago Board of Trade. Oats were lower.

At the closing bell, wheat was up ⅛ to ⅝; corn off ⅛ to up 1; oats off ½ to up ⅜; rye up ⅝ to ⅝; and soybeans up ⅛ to ¾.

The wheat trade was quiet and firm. No export trade was reported, although early buying was based on hopes foreign sales would soon pick up. Commission houses sold March early.

Corn was mostly strong. Hedge selling was extensive. March encountered heavy buying, while brokers with cash connections sold December. Commission house trade was mixed in the deferred futures. Receipts were larger.

Oats eased under liquidating pressure and selling by commission houses and local longs. Stop loss orders were revealed on the decline. Demand was only fair.

Rye was firm, but the Winnipeg prices were steady.

Soybean prices took wide swings Thursday but closed mostly firm. Longs continued to liquidate. Stop loss buying was scattered. Demand was sloed by the recent crop estimate. Unfavorable weather was a supporting factor in an otherwise downward trend.

Export cirlces said the United Kingdom purchased 400,000 bushels of corn, while Japan took 200,000 bushels of soybeans.

Outside markets were mixed.

Space Age Stocks' Rally Falters; Market Declines

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market declined when late profit-taking hit some of the recently strong electronics and brought other issues down from their best levels of the day.

Brokers believe that the prevailing sentiment of hesitancy that now appears to be dominating the thinking of many investors will not change until the steel problem has been thoroughly resolved.

Steels continued to drop despite reports that production is resuming more rapidly than had been expected. Youngstown fell more than a point, and Lukens, Bethlehem and U.S. Steel gave up fractions.

Some of the more recently popular electronics to come under pressure were Motorola, Zenith and Varian. Motorola skidded 5½ to 139 after a 9½-point run-up the day before. Zenith and Varian both finished under their tops—Zenith tacking on a point, and Varian a half.

Among the electronics to finish on higher ground were Ampex up 4¾, Raytheon up 3⅛ and General Time up 2¼.

Trading expanded to 3,600,000 shares from 2,820,000 shares the day before. The market broadened to 1,197 issues, against 1,144 on Wednesday, and of these 75 declined, 421 advanced and 201 held unchanged. There were an equal number of new highs and lows—34.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Snowy weather brought buying into grains Thursday, and most futures closed higher on the Chicago Board of Trade. Oats were lower.

At the closing bell, wheat was up ⅛ to ⅝; corn off ⅛ to up 1; oats off ½ to up ⅜; rye up ⅝ to ¾; and soybeans up ⅛ to ¾.

The wheat trade was quiet and firm. No export trade was reported, although early buying was based on hopes foreign sales would soon pick up. Commission houses sold March early.

Corn was mostly strong. Hedge selling was extensive. March encountered heavy buying, while brokers with cash connections sold December. Commission house trade was mixed in the deferred futures. Receipts were larger.

Oats eased under liquidating pressure and selling by commission houses and local longs. Stop loss orders were revealed on the decline. Demand was only fair.

Rye was firm, but the Winnipeg prices were steady.

Soybean prices took wide swings Thursday but closed mostly firm. Longs continued to liquidate. Stop loss buying was scattered. Demand was sloed by the recent crop estimate. Unfavorable weather was a supporting factor in an otherwise downward trend.

Export cirlces said the United Kingdom purchased 400,000 bushels of corn, while Japan took 200,000 bushels of soybeans.

Outside markets were mixed.

City Officer Is Suspended After Incident

Kenneth Henry, 34, Has Fractured Skull

The Cumberland Police Department yesterday suspended for alleged misconduct a city patrolman who was involved in an argument with three men on North Mechanic Street while off duty late Wednesday night.

The officer, Kenneth Lee Henry, 34, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital, where he is undergoing treatment for a fractured skull suffered in the incident which occurred shortly before midnight at the Hudson Service Station.

He was reported in "fair" condition last night. Police officials were told he suffered a compressed fracture of the skull and that it will be necessary to operate to relieve the pressure.

The suspension notice, issued by Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney and approved by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming, will be delivered, officials said, when the attending physician says the officer is capable of accepting it.

Cites Argument

The official notice informed the patrolman "you have been suspended from your position as patrolman with the Cumberland Police Department effective . . . November 12 . . . for "Misconduct" and "Conduct Unbecoming An Employee of the City."

"This suspension," the notice said, "will remain in effect until such time as a proper investigation has been made of the circumstances surrounding an incident on North Mechanic Street at the Hudson Service Station, on or about midnight November 11, in which you were engaged in an argument and "brawl" with three men, namely, Merrill Redman, 217 Carroll Street; Louis Redman, 217 Carroll Street, and James Courtney, 330 Estella Street, to the detriment of the Police Department."

Officer Henry has been on the force two years.

The three men were taken to the State's Attorney's office yesterday morning for questioning by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney.

Probe To Go On

Assistant Chief Sherry reported that Police Headquarters re-

Cities Are Told To Take Lead In Slum Clearance

League Heads Hear Money Saving Ideas

FREDERICK (AP)—Rep. Foley (D-Md) said Thursday there is a great need to get rid of slums and he added that what is most needed to carry out the program is local leadership.

The Sixth District congressman spoke at opening day sessions of the 12th annual convention of the Maryland Municipal League.

"For some 25 years," he said, "we as a nation have been nibbling at the edges of a critical housing problem without once and for all ridding ourselves of the major illness, the spread of slums.

Cities Must Act

Foley said massive rehabilitation seemed the most practical way of putting good housing units within the reach of low and middle income families. He added that neither federal nor State legislation was the only answer, but that local leadership in such programs is most needed.

Another speaker was Wilbur Smith, assistant director of the American Municipal Assn. He told the municipal officials about various ways of saving money in these days of pinched budgets.

Do Both Jobs

Smith said that in some small towns, firemen and policemen are training in each other's jobs and actually serving in both categories.

The speaker noted that many automotive firms have curbed the practice of giving government units discounts on new cars. Consequently, said Smith, some municipalities are looking into the foreign-car market.

The AMA official also stressed that thorough inspection of homes by municipal agencies is required to cut down on fire losses.

Local Women Knit Socks For Servicemen In Europe

Servicemen confined to hospitals in Europe will soon feel the warmth of toe socks or walking cast socks patiently knitted by women who belong to the production group of the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross.

This week, some of the members of the group headed by Miss Mabel Piper, city, sewed Red Cross labels on the socks prior to shipment overseas to European hospitals.

Some of the socks were taken home, where the women completed the project. Next week the socks will be sent directly from the Cumberland office to the servicemen through the American Red Cross European Area Headquarters, APO 154, New York, N.Y.

Miss George Legge, executive secretary of the county chapter, said that in the past the group has knitted sweaters for members of the Army and Navy.

Miss Pearl Piper, Mrs. William L. Geppert, Mrs. Thomas May, Mrs. Duard Little, Mrs. Ethel Patton, Mrs. Dudley Brown, Mrs. Sydney Green, Mrs. Elmer Minnicks, Mrs. John Bestwick, Mrs. Leviah Ramsey, Mrs. Lloyd Meyers, Mrs. Raymond Kolb and Mrs. Robert Hockaday.

Frostburg members include Miss Margaret Howatt and Miss Anna Gray; Lonaconing, Mrs. Ethel Grove and Mrs. James Getty; Westernport, Mrs. Harley Dixon, Mrs. Donald Mellor, Mrs. Gordon Green, Mrs. Raymond Hudson, Mrs. Richard Kenny and Mrs. Bruce Dunn.

A request for the socks was received from the Eastern Area RD office, Alexandria, Va., Mrs. Legge said.

Judge Declares Mistrial In Keyser Court

Paper Mill Worker Seated On Jury

Judge Ernest A. See yesterday ordered a mistrial in a $100,000 damage suit which was being heard in Mineral County Circuit Court in Keyser.

Mrs. Mildred Becker, 40, of New Creek, brought the suit against Roy Walker of Piedmont, and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company as a result of injuries she sustained in a two-car accident April 1 last year.

Yesterday afternoon shortly after the trial resumed Judge See learned that one of the members of the petit jury is an employe of the Luke mill of the company. Mr. Walker is assistant superintendent of the pulp mill at Luke.

After disqualifying the employe, John Lupis, of Piedmont, Judge See said the trial would continue with 11 jurors if it was agreeable with the counsel for the plaintiff and defendants.

However the plaintiff's attorneys asked that a new trial be held. The court set the trial for February 15.

B&O To Resume Work On Huge Freight Yard

Cost Of Project Is $3,000,000

Foster F. Schilt, Cumberland Division engineer, said the current project will involve the completion of the five-mile long westbound yards.

The company estimates it will cost $3,000,000 to complete this section which runs from near North Branch to Virginia Lane in South End.

The yard was started in 1957, and portions were undertaken from time to time. Work on the westbound yard was halted January 31, 1958.

Upon the finish of the westbound receiving and classification facilities, the eastbound yard which runs from the B&O depot to Virginia Lane, will be started.

When the construction of the marshalling yards was undertaken several years ago, it was estimated the overall project would entail the expenditure of $13,000,000.

So far, in the westbound yards, 40 per cent of the track work has been completed, the 100-foot long arched bridge over the Evitts Creek has been constructed.

The grading was a major job, with thousands of cubic yards of earth being moved in the area along Route 50 from Mexico Farms into Cumberland.

Mr. Schilt said that during the current phase of the overall project a building will be erected to house the automatic retarder system and the yard office.

This structure and several other small buildings will be erected by private contractors while the track work will be handled by B&O crews.

The division engineer estimated from 85 to 90 maintenance and engineering department employes will be needed to handle the track laying.

The westbound yard, including the receiving and classification sections, will be finished by January 1, 1961.

The railroad announced when it started the big job that Cumberland would have the most modern marshalling yards in the nation upon completion of the work.

In addition to the yards, the B&O said at that time that it intended to construct a new terminal. This was not amplified,

95 Per Cent Of County's Taxes Are Paid

$3,284,323 Collected In Five Months

More than 95 per cent of the anticipated $3,446,400 from Allegany County real estate and personal property taxes has been collected by Tax Collector William B. Orndorff and his assistants in the five months since the bills went out in late May.

October collections of $46,574.85 brought the five-month total to $3,284,323.09, which is 95.3 per cent of the yield anticipated by the county commissioners when they set the levy in April.

Included in the October money turned over to Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, the county auditor, was $31,370.30 in real estate and personal property taxes, $1,407.94 in collections from semi-annual bills; $161.10 from house trailers, $40 in arrival taxes for house trailers and $14,481.87 in corporation taxes.

Mr. Orndorff also collected $351.61 for the four sanitary districts in the county. Included were $179.15 for LaVale, $120.88 for Cresaptown, $23.19 for Potomac Park and $28.39 for Mt. Savage.

The monthly totals for tax collections are as follows:

Mr. Orndorff reported yesterday that he and his staff early this month checked through the list of unpaid taxes and figured that some 3,435 taxpayers had not paid their 1959 taxes. That is about 10 per cent of those bills but most of this property is of comparatively little value. District 6 in the West Side of Cumberland has the largest number of unpaid tax bills, 311.

District 1, Little Orleans, 32; District 3, Oldtown, 104; District 3, Flintstone, 109; District 4, South Cumberland, 280; District 5, North Cumberland, 296; District 7, Cresaptown - Rawlings, 205; District 8, Westernport-Luke, 22; District 9, Barton, 67; District 10, Lonaconing, 42; District 11, Frostburg, 29; District 12, Frostburg, 59; District 13, Mt. Savage, 185; District 14, this city, 36; District 15, Lonaconing, 85; District 16, North Branch, 120; District 17, Vale Summit, 24; District 18, Midland, 57; District 19, Shaft, 40; District 20, Corriganville-Ellerslie, 93; District 21, Gross, 60; District 22, East Cumberland, 145; District 23, East Cumberland, 113; District 24, Eckhart, 68; District 25, Pekin, 48; District 26, Frostburg, 81; District 27, Gilmore, 27; District 28, Frostburg, 31; District 29, LaVale, 283; District 30, Zihlman, 42; District 31, McCoole, 91; District 32, East Frostburg, 18, and District 33, Kifer, 22.

Interest on unpaid state and county taxes goes up one-half of one per cent each month. Mr. Orndorff cautioned that property on which 1959 taxes have not been paid will be considered delinquent as of January 1 and will be sold for the unpaid taxes.

New Bus Is Tried Out Here

20-Seat Vehicle Is Being Tested

Queen City Bus Lines drivers yesterday began a three-day trial of a small bus which was placed on the U.S. market recently.

Lawrence L. Grim, president of the driver-owner firm, said the 20-passenger bus is being tested to see if it is suitable for the terrain here.

He said that if the vehicle comes up to expectations, the firm contemplates getting several, chiefly for off-peak traffic.

The bus was tested yesterday on the Shriver Avenue run and today will go on Bedford Road-Mapleside and tomorrow will be tried out on Maryland Avenue and possibly the Cresaptown schedule.

The new bus, he said, makes an attractive appearance and is painted blue with dark blue trim. It attracted considerable comment yesterday, Mr. Grim reported.

One woman, he said, was surprised when the bus stopped at the curb and commented she "thought it was a mail truck" and another passenger said she "didn't know the ice cream man started his rounds this early."

Mr. Grim said drivers believe the smaller bus might pay for itself easily. He said it might be operated for about half the gasoline used by present big buses (about four and one-half miles to the gallon) and that there would be a saving of $44 a year on license fees, as the firm pays on the basis of $4 a seat.

The bus being tried out here is the 23rd off the line of the newly formed Divco-Wayne firm, he said.

Young Boy From Romney Dies Of Polio

Lawrence Smith Jr. Ill Several Hours

A two-year-old Romney, W. Va. boy died Wednesday evening of bulbar poliomyelitis several hours after having been admitted to Hampshire Memorial Hospital in Romney.

The youngster, Lawrence Russell Smith Jr., son of Lawrence R. and Goldie E. (Taylor) Smith, was taken to the hospital at 10 a.m. Wednesday and died about 5 p.m.

Dr. J. D. Brown, Hampshire County health officer, said the youngster's death was the first caused by polio in that county in 1959. Dr. Brown added that the boy had not received any of the Salk polio vaccine shots.

Surviving, besides his parents, are three brothers and two sisters, William, Richard, Joseph, Sue and Sandra Smith, all at home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor, Romney, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Helen Denmark, also of Romney.

Services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. at Mt. Pisgah Methodist Church by Rev. Howard Brooks. Burial will be in Romney Cemetery.

Cresaptown Playground Danger Cited

Franklin H. Young To Head Committee

The Cresaptown Parent-Teacher Association last night appointed a committee charged with protecting children using the elementary playground from Winchester Road traffic.

The action was taken after Mr. and Mrs. Franklin H. Young, Pinto, submitted an open letter expressing their concern over the lack of a fence or other suitable protection for the children.

It urged the PTA to seek action from the Board of Education or the Board of Allegany County Commissioners toward protecting elementary children from hazards posed by the heavily traveled highway.

Mrs. Thomas Beachy, president, appointed Mr. Young as chairman of the committee which will include Mrs. Young and Glenn Hanna, a member of the faculty. Additional members will be named to the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Young's letter pointed out there is no fence or guard rail to prevent runaway cars or trucks from crippling or killing children playing in the school yard.

It also reported that on several occasions, children have been seen trying to crawl into the open drainage culvert under Winchester Road at that point.

The playground, the letter said, is located below a sharp curve on the road and if a vehicle went out of control, there is nothing to stop it before it reaches the playground area.

It was suggested that the County Commissioners put up a guard rail and that the school board, which in recent years secured and installed a surplus fence on the rear yard used by older children, provide similar protection for the elementary children.

Gephart PTA Plans Father-Son Dinner

Gephart School Parent Teacher Association will hold its annual father-son dinner in the school cafeteria at 6 p. m. Saturday. All fathers and sons of the school are urged and invited to attend.

A program has been arranged by Winfield Adam, chairman, and will include as a special attraction, William Lawyer, local magician. The musical portion of the entertainment is being arranged by Mrs. Cletus Hartsock, with group singing led by Arthur Friedland.

Mrs. Fred Hutchison is publicity chairman of the PTA.

Injured Girl Seen On Road To Recovery

Miss Barbara Himes 17 of 5 Miltenberger Place, who was seriously injured in a two-car collision on Dingle Hill October 25 is reported to be on the "road to recovery" in University Hospital, Baltimore, where she has regained consciousness.

Her sister, Miss Patricia Himes, said the family was informed yesterday that Barbara is fully conscious and is able to recognize people and hold a conversation. She plans to go to Baltimore tomorrow morning to visit with her sister.

Barbara was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital in an unconscious condition and remained in the same condition when she was transferred to the Baltimore hospital October 28.

She sustained head and internal injuries when she was apparently thrown through the rear window of a car being driven by her uncle, Roger H. Norris, 37, of 520 Dryer Avenue when the vehicle collided with a car driven by George S. Evans, 37, of Star Route 1, Keyser.

Farm Census Will Start Tomorrow

Farm census takers for the local area have been appointed, according to Urner Wigfield, crew leader, and began an intensive training course this week in preparation for the field canvass which gets underway tomorrow. The training was conducted in the Post Office building here.

Mr. Wigfield, who conducted the course, recently returned from a five-day census training course. The study covered the use of the census questionnaire, census definitions, interviewing and map reading. Emphasis is placed on the importance of locating every farm and obtaining complete and accurate information. The census takers will conduct some actual interviews as part of the training.

Those participating in the study and the work here include, Mrs. Marie Lewis, Mrs. Susan Kamauf, Mrs. Marshall Logsdon, Virginia Irons, Stanley Robinette and Floyd Buser for Allegany County and Mrs. Kenneth Hill, Mrs. Jesse Hull, Kenneth Long, Robert May and Harry Reed for the western part of Washington County. These census takers will work under the supervision of field assistant, John A. Derr of Frederick.

Stiffer Penalty For Conviction Of Drunk Driving

BALTIMORE (AP) — Commissioner of Motor Vehicles John R. Jewell said Thursday Maryland motorists convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol will lose their licenses for at least six months, or double the present minimum.

Jewell said the tougher department policy, which he purposely issued in advance of the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday seasons, will "put teeth in Gov. Tawes' traffic safety program."

The commissioner indicated it was useless to have drunkometer tests and a new point system for motorists unless the department followed through with stiff penalties.

Fleming Is Named To Law And Order Unit Of Legion

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming has been appointed as a general member of the Law and Order committee of the American Legion.

The appointment was made by Martin B. McKneally, national commander, upon the recommendation of Department of Maryland officers and with the approval of the National Executive committee.

The appointment, Mr. Fleming was told, will run until the close of the 1960 fall meeting of the National Executive committee.

Appeals Court Considers Case From This County

The Maryland Court of Appeals yesterday took under advisement a case in which the Allegany County Circuit Court ruled that an illegitimate child could not inherit from his half brother.

The illegitimate child had appealed the ruling that he could not inherit from his half-brother, who was the legitimate son of the common mother. Defendant in the case was a brother of the legitimate son.

St. Luke's Men To Plan Lecture

The men of St. Luke's Lutheran Church are invited to attend a meeting of the Brotherhood November 16, at 7:30 at the church.

Joseph Bedinger will preside at the meeting when plans are to be formulated for a dinner lecture, December 8 and Christmas decorations will be discussed.

Blaney To Address Bruce IMPA Unit

Franklin J. Blaney, assistant city engineer—sanitary, will be the speaker at an Institute of Maryland Public Affairs in Bruce High School, Westernport, Monday at 7 p. m.

He will discuss the sewage treatment program in the Cumberland area.

Broader Physical Fitness Program In Schools Seen

Further plans for developing a broader physical fitness program in Allegany County public schools were made Wednesday afternoon at the Board of Education office here when a number of committees were appointed.

Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education in county schools, met with the male physical education teachers in junior and senior high schools, who are are in the process of developing resources and teaching units.

The sequential physical education program will become more intense year by year according to Mr. Pence who announces the following committees:

Touch football, Walter Bowers, Allegany, chairman; assisted by Charles Lattimer, Fort Hill; Chester Payne, Allegany, and Beryl Plummer, Pennsylvania Avenue.

Soccer, Glenn Hanna, Cresaptown Junior High, chairman, assisted by John Myers, Valley, Leonard Ritchie, Bruce, and Orville Jackson, Flintstone.

A selection group will determine whether to add speed ball, field hockey, lacrosse or cross country to the physical fitness program in addition to touch football and soccer.

They are Edward Finzel, Beall; John J. Cavanaugh, Fort Hill; Ronald Kellough, Oldtown, and William McCall of Beall Elementary.

John Thomas, Mt. Savage, and Barney Langan, Pennsylvania Avenue, were named to the committee on low organized games including relays and dodge ball.

It was decided to begin an extramural basketball program this year when eighth grade basketball intramural champions will compete with teams of other schools to determine the county champion.

The addition or stressing of wrestling and gymnastics following the basketball season was also discussed and it was decided that cross country would be added next fall in the physical education classes.

The committees named this week will be working toward the broader program for next year, according to Mr. Pence, who said those in attendance went over physical fitness test given in each school this year.

Form are set up for each child in accordance with his age, height and weight. Similar tests are being given across the nation in connection with the President's physical fitness program.

At the request of the President's Committee, the American Association for Health and Physical Education and Recreation was created by the National Education Association, according to Mr. Pence who said each state asked the counties to write up a program and develop a broader scope of physical fitness in the schools.

Conducts Sale For Back Taxes

J. Wallace Close, left, former tax collector for Allegany County's District 1, yesterday sold some eight unimproved properties for unpaid 1958 county taxes. He is shown on the steps of the Court House with James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, and W. Carl Richards, local attorney. Five other properties, including several with improvements, are scheduled for sale starting at 10 o'clock this morning for unpaid 1958 taxes. Although Mr. Close is no longer an active collector at the Court House, his term has been continued to give him the opportunity to clear up all unpaid taxes for the years when he served as collector.

City Officer Is Suspended After Incident

Kenneth Henry, 34, Has Fractured Skull

The Cumberland Police Department yesterday suspended for alleged misconduct a city patrolman who was involved in an argument with three men on North Mechanic Street while off duty late Wednesday night.

The officer, Kenneth Lee Henry, 34, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital, where he is undergoing treatment for a fractured skull suffered in the incident which occurred shortly before midnight at the Hudson Service Station.

He was reported in "fair" condition last night. Police officials were told he suffered a compressed fracture of the skull and that it will be necessary to operate to relieve the pressure.

The suspension notice, issued by Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney and approved by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming, will be delivered, officials said, when the attending physician says the officer is capable of accepting it.

Cites Argument

The official notice informed the patrolman "you have been suspended from your position as patrolman with the Cumberland Police Department effective . . . November 12 . . . for "Misconduct" and "Conduct Unbecoming An Employee of the City."

"This suspension," the notice said, "will remain in effect until such time as a proper investigation has been made of the circumstances surrounding an incident on North Mechanic Street at the Hudson Service Station, on or about midnight November 11, in which you were engaged in an argument and "brawl" with three men, namely, Merrill Redman, 217 Carroll Street; Louis Redman, 217 Carroll Street, and James Courtney, 330 Estella Street, to the detriment of the Police Department."

The suspended officer was also notified of his right to file an appeal with the Civil Service Board.

Officer Henry has been on the force two years.

The three men were taken to the State's Attorney's office yesterday morning for questioning by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney.

Probe To Go On

Mr. Mason said no charges have been placed pending the completion of the investigation.

Cities Are Told To Take Lead In Slum Clearance

League Heads Hear Money Saving Ideas

FREDERICK (AP)—Rep. Foley (D-Md) said Thursday there is a great need to get rid of slums and he added that what is most needed to carry out the program is local leadership.

The Sixth District congressman spoke at opening day sessions of the 12th annual convention of the Maryland Municipal League.

"For some 25 years," he said, "we as a nation have been nibbling at the edges of a critical housing problem without once and for all ridding ourselves of the major illness, the spread of slums.

Cities Must Act

"The spreading blight is suffocating our cities and the flight to the suburbs of the solid citizens is taking away valuable tax dollars."

Foley said massive rehabilitation seemed the most practical way of putting good housing units within the reach of low and middle income families. He added that neither federal nor State legislation was the only answer, but that local leadership in such programs is most needed.

Another speaker was Wilbur Smith, assistant director of the American Municipal Assn. He told the municipal officials about various ways of saving money in these days of pinched budgets.

Do Both Jobs

Smith said that in some small towns, firemen and policemen are training in each other's jobs and actually serving in both categories.

The speaker noted that many automotive firms have curbed the practice of giving government units discounts on new cars. Consequently, said Smith, some municipalities are looking into the foreign-car market.

The AMA official also stressed that thorough inspection of homes by municipal agencies is required to cut down on fire losses.

Local Women Knit Socks For Servicemen In Europe

Servicemen confined to hospitals in Europe will soon feel the warmth of toe socks or walking cast socks patiently knitted by women who belong to the production group of the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross.

This week, some of the members of the group headed by Miss Mabel Piper, city, sewed Red Cross labels on the socks prior to shipment overseas to European hospitals.

Some of the socks were taken home, where the women completed the project. Next week the socks will be sent directly from the Cumberland office to the servicemen through the American Red Cross European Area Headquarters, APO 154, New York, N.Y.

Miss George Legge, executive secretary of the county chapter, said that in the past the group has knitted sweaters for members of the Army and Navy.

Miss Pearl Piper, Mrs. William L. Geppert, Mrs. Thomas May, Mrs. Duard Little, Mrs. Ethel Patton, Mrs. Dudley Brown, Mrs. Sydney Green, Mrs. Elmer Minnicks, Mrs. John Bestwick, Mrs. Leviah Ramsey, Mrs. Lloyd Meyers, Mrs. Raymond Kolb and Mrs. Robert Hockaday.

Frostburg members include Miss Margaret Howatt and Miss Anna Gray; Lonaconing, Mrs. Ethel Grove and Mrs. James Getty; Westernport, Mrs. Harley Dixon, Mrs. Donald Mellor, Mrs. Gordon Green, Mrs. Raymond Hudson, Mrs. Richard Kenny and Mrs. Bruce Dunn.

A request for the socks was received from the Eastern Area RD office, Alexandria, Va., Mrs. Legge said.

Judge Declares Mistrial In Keyser Court

Paper Mill Worker Seated On Jury

Judge Ernest A. See yesterday ordered a mistrial in a $100,000 damage suit which was being heard in Mineral County Circuit Court in Keyser.

Mrs. Mildred Becker, 40, of New Creek, brought the suit against Roy Walker of Piedmont, and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company as a result of injuries she sustained in a two-car accident April 1 last year.

Yesterday afternoon shortly after the trial resumed Judge See learned that one of the members of the petit jury is an employe of the Luke mill of the company. Mr. Walker is assistant superintendent of the pulp mill at Luke.

After disqualifying the employe, John Lupis, of Piedmont, Judge See said the trial would continue with 11 jurors if it was agreeable with the counsel for the plaintiff and defendants.

However the plaintiff's attorneys asked that a new trial be held. The court set the trial for February 15.

B&O To Resume Work On Huge Freight Yard

Cost Of Project Is $3,000,000

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will resume work Tuesday, December 1, on the construction of its huge marshalling yards here.

Foster F. Schilt, Cumberland Division engineer, said the current project will involve the completion of the five-mile long westbound yards.

The company estimates it will cost $3,000,000 to complete this section which runs from near North Branch to Virginia Lane in South End.

The yard was started in 1957, and portions were undertaken from time to time. Work on the westbound yard was halted January 31, 1958.

Upon the finish of the westbound receiving and classification facilities, the eastbound yard which runs from the B&O depot to Virginia Lane, will be started.

When the construction of the marshalling yards was undertaken several years ago, it was estimated the overall project would entail the expenditure of $13,000,000.

So far, in the westbound yards, 40 per cent of the track work has been completed, the 100-foot long arched bridge over the Evitts Creek has been constructed.

The grading was a major job, with thousands of cubic yards of earth being moved in the area along Route 50 from Mexico Farms into Cumberland.

Mr. Schilt said that during the current phase of the overall project a building will be erected to house the automatic retarder system and the yard office.

This structure and several other small buildings will be erected by private contractors while the track work will be handled by B&O crews.

The division engineer estimated from 85 to 90 maintenance and engineering department employes will be needed to handle the track laying.

The westbound yard, including the receiving and classification sections, will be finished by January 1, 1961.

The railroad announced when it started the big job that Cumberland would have the most modern marshalling yards in the nation upon completion of the work.

95 Per Cent Of County's Taxes Are Paid

$3,284,323 Collected In Five Months

More than 95 per cent of the anticipated $3,446,400 from Allegany County real estate and personal property taxes has been collected by Tax Collector William B. Orndorff and his assistants in the five months since the bills went out in late May.

October collections of $46,574.85 brought the five-month total to $3,284,323.09, which is 95.3 per cent of the yield anticipated by the county commissioners when they set the levy in April.

Included in the October money turned over to Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, the county auditor, was $31,370.30 in real estate and personal property taxes, $1,407.94 in collections from semi-annual bills; $161.10 from house trailers, $40 in arrival taxes for house trailers and $14,481.87 in corporation taxes.

Mr. Orndorff also collected $351.61 for the four sanitary districts in the county. Included were $179.15 for LaVale, $120.88 for Cresaptown, $23.19 for Potomac Park and $28.39 for Mt. Savage.

The monthly totals for tax collections are as follows:

June — $2,901,604.63; July — $153,768.58; August — $139,351.10; September—$43,023.93, and October—$46,574.85.

Mr. Orndorff reported yesterday that he and his staff early this month checked through the list of unpaid taxes and figured that some 3,435 taxpayers had not paid their 1959 taxes. That is about 10 per cent of those bills but most of this property is of comparatively little value. District 6 in the West Side of Cumberland has the largest number of unpaid tax bills, 311.

The other totals by election districts:

Broader Physical Fitness Program In Schools Seen

Further plans for developing a broader physical fitness program in Allegany County public schools were made Wednesday afternoon at the Board of Education office here when a number of committees were appointed.

Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education in county schools, met with the male physical education teachers in junior and senior high schools, who are are in the process of developing resources and teaching units.

The sequential physical education program will become more intense year by year according to Mr. Pence who announces the following committees:

Touch football, Walter Bowers, Allegany, chairman; assisted by Charles Lattimer, Fort Hill; Chester Payne, Allegany, and Beryl Plummer, Pennsylvania Avenue.

Soccer, Glenn Hanna, Cresaptown Junior High, chairman, assisted by John Myers, Valley, Leonard Ritchie, Bruce, and Orville Jackson, Flintstone.

A selection group will determine whether to add speed ball, field hockey, lacrosse or cross country to the physical fitness program in addition to touch football and soccer.

They are Edward Finzel, Beall; John J. Cavanaugh, Fort Hill; Ronald Kellough, Oldtown, and William McCall of Beall Elementary.

John Thomas, Mt. Savage, and Barney Langan, Pennsylvania Avenue, were named to the committee on low organized games including relays and dodge ball.

It was decided to begin an extramural basketball program this year when eighth grade basketball intramural champions will compete with teams of other schools to determine the county champion.

The addition or stressing of wrestling and gymnastics following the basketball season was also discussed and it was decided that cross country would be added next fall in the physical education classes.

The committees named this week will be working toward the broader program for next year, according to Mr. Pence, who said those in attendance went over physical fitness tests given in each school this year.

Form are set up for each child in accordance with his age, height and weight. Similar tests are being given across the nation in connection with the President's physical fitness program.

At the request of the President's Committee, the American Association for Health and Physical Education and Recreation was created by the National Education Association, according to Mr. Pence who said each state asked the counties to write up a program and develop a broader scope of physical fitness in the schools.

Injured Girl Seen On Road To Recovery

Miss Barbara Himes 17 of 5 Miltenberger Place, who was seriously injured in a two-car collision on Dingle Hill October 25 is reported to be on the "road to recovery" in University Hospital, Baltimore, where she has regained consciousness.

Her sister, Miss Patricia Himes, said the family was informed yesterday that Barbara is fully conscious and is able to recognize people and hold a conversation. She plans to go to Baltimore tomorrow morning to visit with her sister.

Barbara was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital in an unconscious condition and remained in the same condition when she was transferred to the Baltimore hospital October 28.

She sustained head and internal injuries when she was apparently thrown through the rear window of a car being driven by her uncle, Roger H. Norris, 37, of 520 Dryer Avenue when the vehicle collided with a car driven by George S. Evans, 37, of Star Route 1, Keyser.

Farm Census Will Start Tomorrow

Farm census takers for the local area have been appointed, according to Urner Wigfield, crew leader, and began an intensive training course this week in preparation for the field canvass which gets underway tomorrow. The training was conducted in the Post Office building here.

Mr. Wigfield, who conducted the course, recently returned from a five-day census training course. The study covered the use of the census questionnaire, census definitions, interviewing and map reading. Emphasis is placed on the importance of locating every farm and obtaining complete and accurate information. The census takers will conduct some actual interviews as part of the training.

Those participating in the study and the work here include, Mrs. Marie Lewis, Mrs. Susan Kamauf, Mrs. Marshall Logsdon, Virginia Irons, Stanley Robinette and Floyd Buser for Allegany County and Mrs. Kenneth Hill, Mrs. Jesse Hull, Kenneth Long, Robert May and Harry Reed for the western part of Washington County. These census takers will work under the supervision of field assistant, John A. Derr of Frederick.

Stiffer Penalty For Conviction Of Drunk Driving

BALTIMORE (AP) — Commissioner of Motor Vehicles John R. Jewell said Thursday Maryland motorists convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol will lose their licenses for at least six months, or double the present minimum.

Jewell said the tougher department policy, which he purposely issued in advance of the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday seasons, will "put teeth in Gov. Tawes' traffic safety program."

The commissioner indicated it was useless to have drunkometer tests and a new point system for motorists unless the department followed through with stiff penalties.

Conducts Sale For Back Taxes

J. Wallace Close, left, former tax collector for Allegany County's District 1, yesterday sold some eight unimproved properties for unpaid 1958 county taxes. He is shown on the steps of the Court House with James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, and W. Carl Richards, local attorney. Five other properties, including several with improvements, are scheduled for sale starting at 10 o'clock this morning for unpaid 1958 taxes. Although Mr. Close is no longer an active collector at the Court House, his term has been continued to give him the opportunity to clear up all unpaid taxes for the years when he served as collector.
